officials and his NRA insignia will be turned over to the administrator. The local group launched something unusual in the state when it drew up a local code.

Price Change Waits The code includes a fair practice clause, doing away with price cutting and other unfair activities; asks that every meat shop have the code posted up in its place of business; designates definite terms to be used in classifying meats; agrees that fish will not be sold in meat markets but in fish markets; agrees that smoked meats unbranded shall be sold as unbranded types; requires that poultry be sold only according to the public sanitary stipulations of the state law, such clause among other things specifying that poultry will not be drawn before being sold.

ers to bring about a standardization of prices, thus preventing price cutting and doing away with false advertising. Further information will be given out on the code and its operation upon the return of Mr. Allen and Mr. Harlan from Portland. Another meeting of the group is to be called the first of the week. Ben Perlich is president.

Meal Price Rise Lurks Setting of minimum prices was the main item before the restaurant group. A general meeting for all cafe and restaurant people was held Monday afternoon. The meeting was in two sections, one for the larger operators, the other for the smaller

BAKERS ASK FOR 3-C CAMP PRICE

Protesting that the governmental officials ask for higher wages, shorter hours, and other improvements and then turn about and put on competitive basis the matter of supplying the adjacent 3-C camps with bread, milk, and other such items by calling for bids, the Lane County Bakers' association in meeting with representatives from Corvallis, Roseburg, and other points Monday evening here made out a resolution to be sent officials asking a minimum price be set on bread.

The resolution goes to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Congressman James W. Mott of this district, and Senator Charles McNary of Oregon. The bakers pointed out that bakers in Eugene, Roseburg and other cities went without the business due them the past month when the bids of Portland firms were accepted to supply the nearby 3-C camps with bread.

Following is the resolution: "We (the Lane County Bakers' association) would like to have a minimum price named for the purchase of bakery goods for the C. C. C. camps and soldiers homes. Due to the government's past policy of competitive bidding, the price is bid down so low that the bakery that gets the business home are unable to make any profit from this business and many times sustain a loss. Now that the new NRA code has gone into effect this tends to fix our labor costs and gives us no protection as to price.

"We would like to see a fair minimum price put on these bakery products that would at least show a fair profit and not a loss."

Representatives were here from Albany, Corvallis, Roseburg, and Lebanon. The matter of election of directors for the state board of government in the Oregon Bakers' club camp up, Harry Korn is the director from Lane, the other groups to name theirs. The local group meets again next Monday.

NOTED GEOLOGISTS GOING THROUGH HERE

Some of the most eminent geologists of Europe and other foreign countries will be in the group of some 50 geologists who will pass through Eugene Saturday morning on their way for an excursion across Oregon.

Dr. Edwin T. Hodge and Dr. Warren D. Smith, both of the university and college geology faculties, and possibly Dr. E. L. Packard of the faculty, will go with the group across Oregon.

The group is in the transcontinental geological excursion which is part of the International Geological congress which just concluded its sessions in Boston.

Starting from here at 8 a. m. Saturday, the group will go over the McKenzie pass towards eastern Oregon. Dr. Ralph Chaney of the University of California is in charge of the party. Dr. Hodge and Dr. Smith will accompany the group across Oregon to explain the geological features of the state.

The group will have lunch Saturday in Bend, then will go to Pilot Butte and to visit the Crooked river, then to Terrebonne to see the diatomaceous earth deposits. They will spend the night at Prineville and the next day will go to Arlington and into the John Day country.

C. C. C. Worker Is Killed in Camp

Ernest Nauert, one of the C. C. C. men employed out of the Grass Valley camp on the Alesia river, was killed Monday afternoon by a falling limb, according to word received by R. B. Shelley, supervisor of the Situla national forest. He was falling a tree when a "widow maker," as the falling limbs are called, struck him on the head.

His home is in Chicago and his relatives have been notified.

Junior Chamber Changes Meeting

The Junior chamber of commerce meeting has been changed from Wednesday to Thursday evening and will be at the Lee Duke cafe at 6 o'clock. Plans will be taken up for the group's part in the Lane county day at the state fair.

THEATRES

TUESDAY PROGRAMS McDONALD—"When Ladies Meet," starring Bob Montgomery and Ann Harding. Last day. HEILIG—"Ann Carver's Profession," with Fay Wray and Gene Raymond. Closes Wednesday. COLONIAL—"Gold Diggers of 1933," with all-star cast and 200 beauties. Closes Saturday. STATE—"Crimes of the Century," with Jean Hersholt, Stuart Erwin and Wynne Gibson. Ends Thursday. REX—"The Girl in 419," featuring James Dunn, Gloria Stuart, and Gene Raymond. Last time Wednesday.

Fay Wray as Ann Carver in "Ann Carver's Profession," the Columbia picture showing Tuesday and Wednesday at the Heilig, comes to the conclusion that "Love tolerates no rivals—not even success." As a successful woman lawyer, whose very success spells disaster for her marriage, Fay Wray has one of the most dramatic roles of her career.

Supporting her in the film is the role of leading man in platinum-blond Gene Raymond, young player who has appeared in countless brilliant roles. Beautiful Claire Dodd is cast in an important supporting part. Others in the cast are Arthur Pearson, Claude Gillingwater, Frank Conroy and Jessie Ralph.

If you still have a laugh gland left, don't miss "When Ladies Meet," closing Tuesday at the McDonald theater. This sparkling new film opened Sunday and has kept local audiences in a roar of laughter at every showing. Robert Montgomery and Ann Harding are co-starred in the picture, one of the most unusual seen here in many months. Myrna Loy is lovelier than ever as the girl in the case and Albee Brady returns to films to win a new triumph in the comedy role of the merry widow hostess of a weekend party that winds up in fireworks. Frank Morgan is the husband and the cast includes Martin Burton and Luis Alberni.

MACHADO REFUSES STORY

dozens of army reserves were held ready in their barracks today for any emergency. The A B C opposition society had broadcast a report that the president had agreed to withdraw, whereupon thousands rushed into the streets in an hilarious mood. Thousands gathered at the capitol. Fifty uniformed policemen hurried to the scene, to be joined by mounted officers.

Police Open Fire In a blaze of rifle, pistol and sub-machine gun fire, scores fell, dead and wounded. Similar scenes occurred in other parts of Havana, and demonstrations in which several were killed took place in nearby towns.

Almost immediately Machado appealed to the nation to "defend the republic's independence at all costs" and declared his government had always been well disposed toward laborers, thousands of whom now are on a strike, called in some circles a passive revolution against the government.

His secretary, Ramiro Guerra, later gave out a statement which said Machado had not resigned, and that "it is equally untrue that the liberal, popular, and conservative parties have agreed that President Machado's resignation is the only way to settle the Cuban political difficulties."

Meanwhile, the strike that started nearly two weeks ago with a small walkout of omnibus drivers and since has gained adherents in nearly every trade, developed further today with the announcement that employees in the public instruction and treasury departments were prepared to strike. The former ask eight concessions, including wages overdue the last nine months.

Johnson and his agents in the capital concentrated on these aspects of their problem today while a traveling mediator, Edward F. McGrady, assistant administrator for labor, went into Pennsylvania to ask recalcitrant miners to go back to work under the terms of the strike treaty Johnson obtained. From Pennsylvania, McGrady will fly to Massachusetts for discussions with differing employers and workers in the boot and shoe industry.

Conciliation Board Meets The national conciliation board at the same time was considering its problems. Its first meeting, informal, found the chairman, Senator Wagner, of New York, absent. He is in Europe. But Dr. Leo Wolman, chairman of the recovery administration's labor advisory board, presided.

Dr. Wolman said that among other things, the board, named by President Roosevelt, likely would select soon sub-committees to take up the Pennsylvania forestry and Hollywood motion picture strikes.

five or department for more than 40 hours in any one week, except as provided in existing contracts and agreements.

Not to employ any factory, or mechanical worker or artisan more than 40 hours per week, except as provided in existing contracts and agreements; but with the right to work a maximum week of 44 hours for any six weeks within any six months period during the term of this agreement.

That the maximum hours fixed above shall not apply to professional persons employed in their profession; nor to employees employed in a managerial, executive, or supervisory capacity who receive more than $35 per week; nor to special cases where restrictions of hours of highly skilled workers on continuous processes would avoidably reduce production; but, in any such special cases, at least time and one-third shall be paid for hours worked in excess of the maximum, except as provided in existing contracts and agreements.

However, when necessary, because of an emergency, overtime and extra shifts above the limitations herein set forth shall be permitted, provided that no employee, other than one engaged on emergency maintenance or repair work, shall be permitted to work more than 48 hours in any one week.

Under the code, it was also agreed: Not to pay any full time accounting, clerical, office, service or sales employees, excepting outside employees in any office or department, less than $15 per week in any city of over 300,000 population or in the immediate trade area of such city; nor less than $14 a week in cities of between 250,000 and 300,000 population or less than $12 per week in towns of less than 250,000 population.

The proposed code was submitted in behalf of daily newspapers of the United States—members of the American Newspaper Publishers association, the Inland Press association, the Southern Newspaper Publishers association, the New England Publishers association, and other organizations of publishers.

In a letter accompanying the code signed by Howard Davis, president of the American Newspaper Publishers association, he stated that the board of that association, its federal laws committee, and representatives of the other organizations have been in almost continuous session on the problem for more than two weeks past.

GROCERS' CODE STORY

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) but the previous hours shall not be reduced. These maximum hours do not apply to employees in establishments employing not more than two persons in towns of less than 2,500 population, nor to employees in executive or managerial jobs who now receive more than $35 a week. Outside salesman or delivery men, employees on emergency maintenance and repair work, and special cases where reduction of hours would unavoidably reduce production also are excepted. But in such cases at least time and one third shall be paid for hours worked in excess of the maximum.

The minimum wage for all classes of employees is as follows: Not less than $15 per week in any city of over 500,000 population. Not less than $14.50 per week in any city between 250,000 and 500,000 population. Not less than $14 per week in any city between 2,500 and 250,000 population.

Employees with less than six months experience in the grocery trade may be paid $1 a week less than wages prescribed above. In towns of less than 2,500 population all wages shall be increased by not less than 20 per cent provided that this shall not require wages in excess of $12 per week. The NRA officials have warned retail grocers against making joint agreements to shorten store hours. Here is what is expected of other retail establishments subscribing to the code:

No individual or organization shall work any employee for more than 40 hours a week, excepting at Christmas, inventory, and other peak periods when employees may work 48 hours a week for a maximum of not more than three weeks in each six months.

General Hours Set Exceptions, however, are made for executives whose salaries exceed $35 per week, registered pharmacists or other professional persons employed in their profession, outside salesman, and except outside deliverymen and maintenance employees, who may be employed 48 hours weekly or more, if paid time and one third for all hours over 48 hours weekly.

Retailers are not to reduce the hours of any store or service operation to below 52 hours in any one week unless such hours were less than 52 a week before July 1, 1933, and in the latter case not to reduce such hours at all.

The maximum hours shall not apply to employees in establishments employing not more than two persons in towns of less than 2,500 population. Minimum weekly rates of wages for the retail trade are set as follows: Within cities of over 500,000 population at the rate of $14 per week. Within cities of from 100,000 to
