

HOLT ON CANNERY POLLUTION GROUP MEETING AT SALEM

SALEM, Aug. 11.—(AP)—A committee of five cannery officials were named here today to meet with Dean H. S. Rogers of the Oregon State college and E. L. Crockett, assistant supervisor of the state game commission, this afternoon to formulate preliminary plans for remedying pollution of the Willamette river as it affects canneries.

The committee named included J. O. Holt of Eugene, Dean Ray of Woodburn, George Esler of Portland, William Crapo, Portland, and Ray Yokum of Salem. It was expected their report will be completed by night and will conform closely to the report adopted at the meeting yesterday relative to pulp mill pollution of streams.

The meeting of leading canners in the Willamette valley was held at the state house to discuss stream pollution and to suggest remedies, called by the board of consulting engineers on sewage disposal named by Governor Julius L. Meier at the request of the reconstruction advisory board.

The committee on pulp waste disposal yesterday named a group of experts to obtain the information to be used as a basis for expenditure of $5,000,000 federal funds to free Willamette river of pollution. This same procedure was expected to be followed by the cannery committee here.

unemployment figures and the number of Blue Eagles on the windows there did not seem to be in conformity but that the recovery administration's advisers there had expressed satisfaction the problem was working out all right.

The administrator repeated it was not intended to set up a police organization within the recovery administration. He said one of the reasons the federal trade commission had failed to accomplish the objectives set for it by its proponents was that it had become a "policeman."

Violations of permanent codes where they are not cleared up after conciliatory action by the administration, will be referred to the federal trade commission and then to the department of justice if necessary, the administrator explained, but said:

"We are going to assume good faith until we see something different."

Code Modified

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Operation of four industries under modified presidential re-employment agreements—boot and shoe, drug, cheese, and cotton batting—were authorized today by Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator.

These codes thus will be in effect pending hearings, after which final stipulations are drafted for promulgation by the president.

For the cheese industry the maximum work-week for plant and factory employees is fixed at 88 hours, and for accounting, clerical or office employees at 40 hours, the latter averaged over a 60-day period.

In cities of more than 500,000 salaried employees shall not be paid less than $15 per week in communities between 250,000 and 500,000 population not less than $14.50 per week, and in communities of 250,000 to 250,000 not less than $14 per week. In towns of less than 250,000 population wages are to be increased not less than 20 per cent, provided this shall not require wages in excess of $12 per week.

OIL REGULATION SEEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—(AP)—An intimation the federal government would provide for rigid control over all production in the petroleum trade practices plan now nearing completion came today from Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial administrator, whose aides are writing it.

Pending completion of the revised code, which is a successor to a tentative draft submitted to the oil industry about two weeks ago, and until the new draft has been seen by them, Johnson would not comment on details.

BARBERS READY

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(AP)—A code for barbers was forwarded to Washington today by officers of the Journeymen Barbers' International Union of America.

If the code is approved, the minimum cost of a hair cut will be 50 cents and for a shave 25 cents.

Publishers' Code As Presented Not Liked By Johnson

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial administrator, today said there were "proposals which are unsatisfactory" in the proposed code of hours and wages submitted by the American Newspaper Publishers' association.

Johnson declined at a press conference to intimate what section he considered objectionable, but said the publishers' representatives were due at his office some time today to talk over the program.

Informed of the acceptance by a number of newspapers of the provisions of A. N. P. A. program, Johnson said "there can not be a code until it is approved after a hearing."

Those who sign the blanket re-employment agreement will be the only ones immediately entitled to the blue eagle signifying adherence to the recovery program.

It has been intimated in sources close to Johnson he feels there are too many reservations in the new newspaper code and that he objects to its failure to specify short hours for reporters and copy editors.

It was a mean trick to play on all of them. But 8-year-old Catherine Kearns (left) seems to be taking it more good-humoredly than the two infant girls whom an unidentified woman left in her care "for a few minutes"—on the promise of a dime reward. Catherine waited patiently for five hours, until police came and took her two charges to the New York Foundling hospital, where they're pictured here.

Cavalry Gallops to Front
A company of cavalry galloped down the Prado, Havana's famous thoroughfare, in front of the national capitol.

The house of representatives was called into session this afternoon and it was expected a similar call would be issued for the senate to convene.

Considerable significance was attached to the meeting of congress in view of the fact the legislators would have to pass on any request from President Machado for a leave of absence which would pave the way for him to relinquish his office permanently.

Liberals Reverse Policy
The action of the Liberals in part reversed their decision yesterday when they held Ambassador Welles was guilty of "intermeddling" and that his mediation activities were prejudicial to the sovereignty of Cuba.

Ramon Delson and a number of members of the liberal executive committee gave confirmation the counterproposal had been submitted.

Ambassador Welles, attacked and defended for his efforts, meanwhile became the storm center of the Cuban political tumult, which entered the stage of a passive revolution with the spread of a general strike.

Machado Still Stubborn
Welles said he was acting with President Roosevelt's support. Machado himself has said he will not give up his office—that he has lived in this republic and that he intends to die here.

The food shortage meanwhile became more stringent. Soldiers helped distribute certain commodities to hospitals. The interior department announced it would feed the hungry at four stations. Prices of food skyrocketed. A check of groceries showed that only rice and white beans were still in stock, and that bread, butter, milk, and other staples were nearly non-existent.

Dave Oliver, American photographer for a news reel company in New York, was jailed for four hours for attempting to take a picture in a restricted area here. He was released, he said, after other newspapermen had communicated with Washington and Ambassador Welles. Leo J. Reiser, Havana correspondent for a New York newspaper (The Herald Tribune), was arrested with Oliver, but was released shortly afterward.

In the town of Regla, across the bay from Havana, Capt. Marcelino Yanes, military supervisor, arrested the entire force of 30 policemen and imprisoned them on charges of insubordination. The police had resigned in protest against the non-payment of back salaries. Soldiers subsequently patrolled the town.

Engineer Must Be Named in Oregon For Public Works

PORTLAND, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Before any further action can be taken on the proposed expenditure of nearly $20,000,000 of federal public works money for projects in Oregon, a supervising engineer must be appointed for this state by the national administration, it was said today by Marshall N. Dana, regional adviser for the National Recovery Administration.

The state advisory board Wednesday night submitted to the Oregon recovery board a list of projects the cost of which would near the $20,000,000 total.

These individual projects must, to be carried out, receive the approval of the state recovery advisory board, of Dana, as regional adviser, and of the national advisory board. Social as well as economic factors will be considered in analyzing the projects. Quick employment and permanent values will be outstanding measurements.

GUARDS ORDERED HOME

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Governor Pinchot today notified his office from his home in Milford he had ordered the removal of 325 national guardsmen from the Fayette county coal strike field.

C. E. GROUP ASKS RELICS OF SOCIETY

The state, Lane county, and the local society of the Christian Endeavor have all launched a program to find society relics, including convention badges, secretary books, newspaper clippings, or other items to be used in telling the history of the organization. Miss Elinor Henry is in charge of the work here and those having any items are asked to get in touch with her. Miss Henry, Lane union publicity superintendent, is to help make up a display to be sent to the Christian Endeavor summer conference to be held at Turner August 21-27.

Next year's state C. E. convention will be the Golden Jubilee of Christian Endeavor in Oregon, as the first society was organized in Forest Grove in 1884. It is for this reason the state union officers are endeavoring to have a large historical exhibit made up.

Anyone who has a souvenir to offer or interesting reminiscences to tell is urged to call Miss Henry immediately, since the display must be made ready within the coming week. Her address is 1387 Onyx, and her telephone number is 1005-J.

Because of the summer conference at Turner, the date of the regular monthly meeting of the Lane C. E. union executive committee has been set ahead one week to August 13. Representatives from Cottage Grove, Marcola, Springfield, and other Lane county C. E. groups are expected to attend the session, which will be in the chapel of the Central Presbyterian church at 3 p. m.

and we will try to work out a solution."

Maintaining Credit Problem

Outstanding Obligations
Warrant debt . . . $183,758.41
Bonds . . . . . 380,000.00

met on schedule and giving no serious trouble, but in warrants for operating expense the school board had nearly reached the end of its credit.

Banks May Make Limits
"The banks," said Mr. Bailey, "agreed to carry us through the last school year and to cash all warrants as presented, but it is doubtful if they will be willing or able to do this in the coming year due to the high starting point of accumulated warrants."

Although several payments of warrants have been made since June 30, according to Mrs. Lundy, school clerk, the total at the end of August will still be close to $157,000. This would mean that unless tax payments flooded in during the coming year outstanding warrants would reach a point where they could not be cashed.

Relief Plan Suggested
Notwithstanding the difficulty in the cash situation, Mr. Bailey said that the finances of the schools are essentially sound and he would favor a plan which would enable the school to hire the normal number of teachers at present pay scales without further cuts either in pay rates or by part-time arrangements.

One plan discussed last year involves paying the teachers in part in cashable warrants and asking them to accept non-cashable school board notes for the remainder till the difficulties clear up.

"It is a difficult situation," said Mr. Bailey, "but I believe our policies must be in line with employment policies generally and furthermore we must maintain the standards of the Eugene schools at all cost."

ASTORIA CHOSEN

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore.—(AP)—Delegates to the American Legion convention voted this morning to hold the 1934 convention at Astoria. The La Grande withdrew when the vote came up for the lower Columbia city.

Fred E. Kiddle of La Grande, president of the state wide legionnaires his city would host the convention again in 1934.

Congressman James W. Wadsworth, urged the reversal of a campaign to educate the legion against the national convention which he said cut short numerous sessions.

The La Grande legion defeated last night won the 1934 national cup for the best drum in the annual convention parade the first night parade in the history of the legion in Oregon.
