

COLLEGE CREST'S BID FOR SERVICE GOES BEFORE NRA

A report of estimates with maps of the proposed $37,000 water district for College Crest was sent to the federal administrator of public works in Portland Monday with a view of borrowing funds to finance the project under the National Industrial Recovery act. The application was sent through the office of J. W. McArthur, superintendent of the water board.

A committee of College Crest residents has worked on the proposal with members of the local board and a petition, signed by more than 80 prospective patrons, was circulated. An estimate for building the mains and taking the service to the meters was made and an increase of about $5,000 over the original estimate was necessitated due to the rise in prices of construction costs and labor in the next few months and the extension of plans for the project.

The report was sent to C. C. Hockley, U. S. courthouse building, Broadway and Main, Portland, state engineer for the public works program, who is working with the three commissioners of the Oregon state advisory board directly under Marshall Dana, regional administrator. James G. Gilbert, Eugene, Bert Haney and Robert N. Stanfield, are the commissioners. The request for the loan will be considered by Hockley and the commissioners and if approved by them will go to Mr. Dana and then to Washington, D. C., if it receives the recommendation of the regional administrator.

ODD FELLOWS HOLD PICNIC ON COAST

USHMAN, Aug. 21.—(Special)—Odd Fellows picnic held at Hegets Beach camp grounds Sunday was attended by about 220 members and friends. The day was ideal for an outdoor gathering and members from many different parts of the state attended. The old-fashioned picnic dinner, with visiting and short talks and songs by Pool's male quartet of Eugene all tended to make this one of the happy days we love to recall.

Al Taylor of Mapleton was in town Saturday.

E. Simmons of Eugene was here Sunday.

Mr. Suttle and party of Noti caught two fine Chinook salmon while trolling here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nute of South Slough were in town Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Kleeman and daughter Margaret of Portland visited last week at the Curt Sweet home.

Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin of Alabama stopped Saturday and trolled a few hours.

Mrs. Paul Tromlitz and daughters of Salem are visiting old friends here this week. Mr. Tromlitz was for many years first operator on the S. P. draw bridge, moving to Salem several years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Dibble and children Darr and Margie arrived here from Portland Tuesday for some troling and a visit with the G. R. Mills family, leaving for home Friday by way of the Metolius where they will camp a few days.

Mollie Risley came up from San Luis Obispo, Cal., last week for a visit with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ramos of Belmont, Cal., spent several days last week with relatives here, leaving for home Thursday. Mrs. Ramos is a niece of Mrs. G. R. Mills.

The fill for the highway through town is finished and the first coat of gravel is going on rapidly.

Mrs. Howard Irwin visited here on Wednesday.

S. A. Weeks and Richard Boyles from Winchester Bay were in town Monday.

Alford Funk of Glendale was in town last week.

Charlie Anderson, a rancher near Point Terrace, was a business visitor here Monday.

8 Sheep Killed By Dogs Near Junction

Eight sheep on the farm of Robert Harper near Junction City were killed by two dogs Thursday night. It was reported by William L. Wheeler, county dog control officer, Saturday.

Mr. Harper succeeded in killing one of the dogs while it was still with the sheep, but the other one, a very small one, made its escape.

MOFFETT GRANDCHILDREN INHERIT TRADITION!

Their grandfather was the late Admiral William A. Moffett, who died a seaman's death in the Akron disaster. Their father, Lieut. Comm. E. M. Moore, served aboard the U. S. S. Arkansas, whose bulk may be seen in the background. Admiral Moffett once commanded the Arkansas, too. So Mac, Juanita and Bill Moore had reason to be proud of the navy outfits they wore as they waited for their father to take them aboard the Arkansas at Catalina Island.

OREGON BOY IS HALF-MILE CHAMP

Loren Phinney, from the all-Oregon camp at Steamboat, came through Sunday to win the half-mile run and wrest most of the honors away from the Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri boys who have been cleaning up in the C. C. C. track meets.

Phinney's time for the 880 was 2:15.5. Edgar Gerhardt, of Eugene, who is stationed at the Mapleton camp was second and Kenneth Curry, of Cape Creek, was third.

James Smith of Tye placed first in the discus with a throw of 120 feet 11 inches. Noel Teegarden of Belknap was second and John Pyne of Loon Lake was third.

Smith also won the shot put with a throw of 48 feet 3-4 inches. Teegarden again was second and Norval Dehns of Melrose was third.

Three men were fined by Justice of the Peace Dan Johnston Monday on charges of violating the traffic laws. Walter A. Brown and Paul H. Zachary were each assessed $25 for reckless driving and Louis Andrus $4 for having four persons in the driver's seat of his car.

Brown is alleged to have taken the right of way at a street intersection and Zachary with speeding in heavy traffic on Willamette street.

GARDINER MAY GET WEST LANE PUPILS

Plans whereby the Gardiner union high school district in Douglas county will transport the high school students of Westlake and vicinity in Lane county to its school are being worked out. It was announced Saturday by Lawrence C. Moffitt, county school superintendent who has returned from a trip to that section. Arrangements are not yet completed but the superintendent thought that the plan would be carried out.

The distance from Westlake to Gardiner is 15 miles, but the students would be transported over the Oregon Coast highway and the trip each way would be made in less than half an hour.

Superintendent Moffitt visited the clerks and directors of a number of school districts in western Lane county including Ten Mile, Cape Creek, Florence, Glenada and Westlake. He was accompanied on his trip by his sisters, Mrs. Mildred Bishop and Miss Elsie Moffitt, and brother, Arnold Moffitt.

"EUGENE CITY" ON STAGECOACH LINE OLD POSTER SHOWS

"Overland Mail Route to Oregon. Through in Six Days to Portland!" So read an advertising placard tacked up on a stagecoach depot in Sacramento on July 20, 1866. It explained in detail how connections could be made with daily stages "too all the interior mining towns in northern California and southern Oregon" and how passengers could be "ticked through from Sacramento, through Marysville, over the railroad to Oroville, connecting there with the Oregon line of Stage Coaches to Chico, Tehama, Red Bluff, Shasta, Trinity Centre, Yreka and in Oregon—Jacksonville, Canyonville, Roseburg, Winchester, Oakland, Eugene City, Corvallis, Albany, Salem, Oregon City, to Portland."

Continuing, the placard advised travelers to "Avoid Risk of Ocean Travel."

"Pass through the heart of Oregon

—the valleys of Rogue river, Coos and Willamette." It read. "This is the most beautiful and attractive, picturesque scenery on the coast." (Mr. Hood, Mt. Shasta and other deepest ravines and most beautiful valleys.)

Concluding, the placard listed through fare of $50. To complete word description, the advertising placard was adorned with a wood cut of six leaping horses drawing a stagecoach with clouds of dust rising on either side and with the passengers apparently quite comfortable and well-turbed despite the jolting they have received.

There was the message—sent from Sacramento to Portland, Ore. for $50! That was in 1866.

United Air Lines, which has guaranteed the world's fastest service along the Pacific coast, pointed out that the entire coast, from San Diego, to San Francisco, to Portland, in a little over six hours.

The 1866 travel placard was unearthed in Portland recently, in an old trunk. Eugene was still "Eugene City" in those days, and it is mentioned on the placard.
