

LANE COUNTY 4-H WINNERS TO SHOW EXHIBITS AT SALEM

The first five winning exhibits at the Lane county Four-H club fair last week will be taken to the state fair at Salem beginning Monday, Sept. 4, it was announced Monday by R. H. Kuehner, county club leader. Judging teams from this county will also take part in the different contests to be held there during the week and a large number of club members aside from these teams are planning to attend.

The attendance at the fair last week was very satisfactory and fully up to that of the one last year, Mr. Kuehner said. Last year by actual count more than 4000 persons viewed the various exhibits and while no count was made this year the crowds appeared to be as large.

Ralph Hone, Elmer Gray and Leonard Fredon of Norton will represent the county in the crops judging contest at the Salem fair on Monday and the home economics judging team from Lane will consist of LeVern Tracer and Elsie Robitaille, both of Junction City. This contest will take place at 10 a. m. Monday. The livestock judging contest will be held at 2 p. m. Monday and a team of three from the Blachly club will be sent. The three will be selected from a group consisting of Stacy Downing, Walter Robinson, Francis Parker and Nicky Smith.

The rabbit judging contest will take place Tuesday, Sept. 5, and Palmer Saunders and Clarence Rutherford of Norton and Melba Andrews of Bethel will represent the county. Poultry judging will take place Monday and the Lane county team will consist of Joe Stevens and Eunice and Lucy Edwards, all of McKenzie Bridge. A cooking demonstration will be put on at 2:30 p. m. Friday, Sept. 8, by Georgia Baker and Jeanne Robitaille of Santa Clara and a sewing demonstration Friday at 3:30 p. m. by Melba Andrews of Bethel and Evelyn Bjerke of Spencer Creek. Myrna Laird of Pleasant Hill and Elizabeth Holcomb of Trent will put on a home-making demonstration Friday forenoon.

Judging of Four-H club dairy cattle will take place Monday, poultry, beef cattle and rabbits Tuesday and sheep, goats and hogs Wednesday. A showmanship contest will be held Thursday and a style show Friday. A carload of Lane county Four-H livestock entries will be sent from here, Mr. Kuehner said.

to speak over the radio, before civic clubs and churches during the entire week regarding the workings of the NRA.

"Various interpretations have been given to the letters of NRA," declared Father Lelpis at the Kiwanis club, "but reduced to simple language it means 'For every man—a job'. Linked with the thought of giving the unemployed work we must bear in mind that the job must mean a living wage to the men and women employed."

Cost Held Justified

Father Lelpis maintained that America is at the crossroads of a great economic crisis. The NRA does not necessarily mean that it will be a panacea for all our ills, but nevertheless it will mean the greatest good for the majority.

The speaker insisted that while there may be criticism in certain quarters over the expenditures of money yet if we are willing to spend billions in times of war, we have a perfect right to spend billions to preserve peace in times of peace.

George H. McMorran, general of the NRA campaign, closed the Kiwanis meeting with a short address appealing to every Kiwanis member to co-operate to the fullest with the

Many Talks Set

Other speakers Monday are E. O. Immel and E. G. Harlan. Mr. Immel was to talk over KORE at 8:30 o'clock Monday evening and Mr. Harlan will appear on the McDonald theater stage at 9 o'clock for a brief talk. On Tuesday Dr. Victor P. Morris will address the Rotary club at noon and Rev. Milton S. Weber will speak over KORE at 6:30 o'clock. Mr. Harlan will again appear at the McDonald theater at 9 o'clock.

The general directorate of the NRA was to meet Monday afternoon for the campaign here.

The Lane County Automotive Trade association was to meet at the chamber of commerce Monday night to perfect their NRA code. Electrical contractors and shoe repairmen also meet at the chamber Monday night to perfect their NRA regulations.

A new grocers' code, prepared by General George McMorran and his aides, will be submitted to grocers of the county at a meeting at the chamber Monday night in the hope of bringing together the varied interests of the grocers as manifested in previous meetings. So far, the grocers have been unable to agree on a code, but it is hoped they will accept the new code to be offered Monday.

The code fixes hours of labor, hours of business, wages to be paid and terms of competition.

each week of the momentous changes taking place in our American life. There is also the need of a vehicle for the expression of those ideas and proposals that will tend to direct these forces along planned and progressive channels. To supply such a medium, dedicated to truly American ideas, we shall do our utmost."

The departure of Moley from official service follows an interesting series of events. Moley was the lone man who accompanied Roosevelt to the White House last winter when President Hoover asked for a conference on war debts.

When Mr. Roosevelt took office, he was made assistant secretary of state. He consulted frequently at the White House. The London economic conference came along. Secretary Hull headed the American delegation. Moley went over as a special messenger for the president. Something happened over there that brought the differences of opinion between Hull and Moley to a climax.

The president, of course, stood by his secretary of state. Upon his return Moley was transferred to a special assignment to study kidnaping and racketeering. He has been on that study for three weeks and separated from the state department.

THIEVES GET LOOT IN WEEK-END JOBS

A week-end outbreak of laundry giving police officers a busy day Monday seeking the men responsible for a Eugene service station robbery, an attempt to rob the Heilig theater and the stealing of a safe belonging to J. C. Ponsler of Florence.

Eugene police were investigating the service station and theater jobs while deputy sheriffs and state police were probing the Florence safe theft.

The General Petroleum station at Seventeenth and Willamette was entered and $50.37 obtained sometime Saturday night. An attempted robbery of the Heilig theater was frustrated by the theater caretaker after he had fired two shots at an intruder.

At the service station, entry was gained by sawing off a padlock on the rear door. Officers believe someone familiar with the station routine was responsible for the job as the money was kept in a unique hiding place.

The loot, consisting of checks and cash, was contained in a sack which was lowered in a tank of oil and fastened to the lid with a string.

The robbery of the theater was attempted at 5:15 Sunday morning. Howard Johnson, who sleeps in the basement, heard a noise and went to investigate. As he climbed the stairs leading to the balcony, the intruder met him with a blow in the mouth which knocked him down the steps. Johnson fired two shots at the burglar who ran across the balcony and escaped through the door on the west side of the theater.

The safe of the theater contained Saturday's receipts, police said. A safe weighing several hundred pounds was stolen from the office of J. C. Ponsler, automobile dealer at Florence, some time Sunday night and hauled away on a truck. A deputy sheriff and a state police officer left here Monday morning for the coast city to make an investigation.

Mr. Ponsler said that the thieves broke the lock of the door of his office and lifted the safe bodily into a truck which they backed up to the door. Four or five men must have been implicated, he said, as it would seem impossible for a lesser number to have lifted it. The safe contained about $80 in cash, all of Mr. Ponsler's books and accounts and other valuable papers.

It is believed by the officers that the thieves drove the truck to some out of the way place and blew the safe open with dynamite. A strange truck was seen in Florence earlier Sunday night.

Elmer Pynes reported the theft of his car while it was parked near the O'Brien apartments sometime between 6:30 and 10:15 o'clock Saturday night.

western part of the state and a large force of other fire fighters are under the direct supervision of R. S. Shelley of Eugene, supervisor of the Siuslaw national forest. His headquarters are at Hebo, which is the site of a large ranger station, and he directs all operations from there.

The Willamette forest C. C. C. men were completely outfitted with mess kits, tools and other equipment and rations for several days' stay in the fire zone, according to P. A. Thompson, supervisor of this forest. They left camp early Monday morning.

No bad fires have occurred this season in the forests embraced in the territory of the Western Lane county Fire Patrol association, according to Carl V. Oglesby, supervising warden of the association, who was in from his headquarters at Walton Monday.

Several small blazes have been discovered but all have been well taken care of and did not spread, he said. Monday morning a report was received of one from the section south of Lorane apparently in the Chambers or Addison timber holdings and men will be dispatched to control it. The extent of the blaze was unknown.

Another fire is reported on the Siuslaw five miles above Swissmoor but it is not bad as far as the warden was unable to learn.

The fire on the Booth-Kelly logged off lands in the vicinity of Mt. Nebo is entirely under control but the C. C. C. men who had been drafted to fight it were still on the job Monday, according to Judd Skinner, fire warden. The cloudy weather Sunday had much to do with preventing the spread of the fire as the air was full of humidity. At no time has this blaze spread to green timber.

were made of twill satin with lace trimming.

The renovated dress which is part of Elizabeth's year's work is a combination of two dresses. She took the green blouse from one, reversed it and sewed several square buttons down the back, and put it on the skirt of a black silk dress, the blouse of which had worn out. The cuffs of the black silk and lace jacket she lined with green matching the blouse. The renovated dress cost exactly 15 cents, which covered thread and fasteners.

The two-piece child's outfit is of figured green soisette, with narrow pleats down the middle and a green organdie collar which ties on one side. Bloomer go with the dress. This outfit was made for 40 cents.

Elizabeth comes by sewing naturally, for her mother, Mrs. Del Holcomb, long has made the clothes for herself and her two younger sisters, Jeanne, 12, and Ann, 7. Mrs. Holcomb even makes coats for her children. She is leader of the Happy Homemakers Four-H club at the Pleasant Hill high school, which this past year undertook both home-making and sewing projects. The club captured four places in the sewing divisions at the fair: Elizabeth winning first place, Myrna Laird winning second place with her cotton school dress, while Cleona Aubrey placed in division two with a cotton school dress and Ava Sanders with an informal party dress.

Elizabeth always has liked sewing, and makes most of her own clothes. But she is accomplished in the kitchen also, as is shown by the fact that she won first prize in cooking division three, and second prize in division two at the Four-H fair last week.

For these she entered two jars of fruit, two jars of vegetables, one each of meat, jelly, and pickles. It was no wonder that she won prizes with them, for they were beautiful just to look at.

And in the home-making division Elizabeth carried off still another prize—the second. For this project she was required to iron a garment and a flat piece, and she chose a boy's shirt and a towel. In addition she had to draw a plan of the kitchen in her own home, and then a revised plan showing how it could be remodeled to make it a more convenient place to work in.

Athletics is Elizabeth's great interest at high school. There she will be a junior next year. She plays basketball and baseball. Last year she was a member of the girls' H League championship basketball team, coached by Mrs. Jean Eberhart.

Elizabeth plans now to go to Oregon State college and major in home economics. She likes sewing and canning best in this line, but she plans herself for dress designing and modeling dresses there, and probably will study that line of work when she goes to college.

In the meantime, she is perfecting her workmanship by designing and making dresses and underwear which would put many a college girl or housewife to shame.
