

UNIVERSITY, OSC, EXPECT 4700 TO REGISTER IN FALL

A total enrollment of approximately 4700 or 5000 students is anticipated at the University and the Oregon State college, estimates made by officials of the two schools Tuesday indicated.

About 2500 are expected to be registered at the University, Clifford Constance, statistician, told the Register-Guard. An unusually large number of applications has come into the registrar's office in the past few days, he added. Many would-be students were unable to send in their credentials until they were assured of summer jobs, and this is thought to account for the sudden increase in applications being received at this time, it is said.

At Oregon State college the registration figures are expected to be approximately what they were last year, E. B. Lemon, registrar, stated Tuesday. The 1932 fall term enrollment figure was 2263 at Corvallis, according to Mr. Lemon.

"Students have been indefinite, as have all classes of people, about the future," Mr. Lemon continued, "and many have not been able to decide until the past week or two about coming to college." He added that the correspondence being received at his office is good, and that the number of applications for admission have picked up unexpectedly in the past few days.

Neither the Eugene or Corvallis office was prepared to give the number of credentials which has been received from students wishing to go to school this fall.

up the program into one of the best on record in Eugene and further announcements of features will be made as they are arranged.

Meanwhile the speaking program is continuing, familiarizing people with the aims and methods of the great recovery campaign at the same time as Colonel Bayard Welch and his co-workers are getting under way the work of covering the residence district of Eugene with consumers' Blue Eagles.

At a meeting almost entirely devoid of expected fireworks, the Lane County Retail Grocers association adopted a new code, specifying a 48-hour week and wage minimums, at the Chamber of Commerce Monday night. The vote for adoption of the code was 17 to 8, with many suburban grocers dissenting because of the 8-hour Sunday opening limit.

The resignation of George C. Stanley

NRA SPEECHES

Wednesday
10 a. m.—Rev. Bryant Wilson, over KORE.
6:30 p. m.—Rev. Milton S. Weber over KORE.
Noon.—Dr. Victor Morris, before Lions club, Eugene hotel.
7:15 p. m.—Mrs. Ella Edmondson over KORE (young Democratic Women's program).
9 p. m.—E. G. Harlan, Rex theater; L. L. Ray, State theater.

by from the group was accepted. In his letter Mr. Stanley assigned no reason for his withdrawal, although he had published his opposition to the business hours fixed by the code. Considerable discussion was held regarding the Sunday closing hours, and General George McMorran pointed out that the present code was not related to the national code, and that a suburban grocer might fall to sign the local agreement, but still possess the right to fly the Blue Eagle.

The same ruling is believed to apply to anybody dissenting from the local code but meeting the president's general terms.

Stanley States Stand

Mr. Stanley said Tuesday his two stores would continue to operate under the code drafted by him and which provided for the same wage scale as included in the code adopted by the grocers' association. The Stanley stores will deviate from the code in the matter of opening hours, Stanley refusing to subscribe to the hours of 8 to 6 on weekdays and 8 to 9:30 on Saturdays.

"The Stanley store No. 1 will be open from 7 until 11 as long as it pays and store No. 2 will be open from 7 to 7 on weekdays and 7 until 10:30 on Saturdays," he stated. "Under our code, no article can be sold at less than five per cent above the cost or replacement cost. We object to the agreement of the other grocers in which they favor selling at not less than five per cent above replacement cost. This makes no provision for such things as spoilage in grocery products."

Drafters of the code adopted by the grocers association stated Tuesday that the code made no provision as to the selling prices, that being a matter of a separate agreement in no wise connected with the code itself.

Provisions of the new code include a 63-hour minimum for downtown stores to remain open, with a 48-hour working week. Minimum wages are $20 weekly for experienced male help, $15 for experienced female help and $13 for inexperienced workers, regardless of sex. Business hours include week days from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. for downtown stores with neighborhood and suburban stores 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., and Saturdays 8 to 9:30 for downtown stores and 7 to 10:30 for suburban establishments. Suburban stores will remain open 3 hours on Sundays, with no provision for Sunday openings listed for downtown stores. The question of price setting was not discussed.

Col. Welch Presses Action

The investigation committee under Bayard Welch met Monday evening

IRENE IN MOTHER ROLE!

Here's a new picture of Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin, famous dancer of several years ago, and her daughter, Barbara, who seems to have inherited her mother's beauty. also, with about 50 present. Arrangements were made for the house to house canvass, and the hope was expressed by Colonel Welch that the workers would be met with courtesy and assistance given them. The areas they are to cover were also assigned, with Major Vera Todd Crow handling the section south of Eleventh street, Adjutant Henry Beistel covering Eleventh north and Willamette west, Major Sexsmith east of Willamette and south of Fifteenth, and Major Frank Reid east of Willamette and north of Fifteenth. Each major has two captains and 10 volunteers, and active work will begin Tuesday noon. Colonel Welch expects to have the city completely canvassed by Friday noon.

The Lane Automotive Industries group also met, and rules, by-laws and organization details were cleared up from the last meeting. The large body was divided into smaller groups, each charged as to its particular field, which will meet to draw up individual codes during the week. The next general meeting is Friday evening. Officers elected include W. H. Adrian, president; Mahlon Sweet, vice-president; and Thomas Ohlsen, secretary-treasurer.

The Bakers association also met, with a report of the Portland meeting held recently featuring the gathering. The modified code was reviewed, and the local division decided to await action of the state group in accepting it.

The shoe-repair men decided to join the Pacific Coast Shoe Repair association, and will not endeavor to work out a code until organization is completed.

The Home Barbers elected officers with George W. Blair getting the presidency, A. W. Bramwell, vice-president, and L. Wood, secretary-treasurer. A committee was named to investigate prices, and working hours were announced. They are from 9 to 5:30 five days a week, and from 9 to 8:30 Saturdays.

NRA speeches Tuesday included a talk by Mrs. Ella Edmondson over KORE at 10 a. m. and a talk by Dr. Victor P. Morris before the Rotary luncheon club at noon. In the evening, Rev. Milton S. Weber was to talk over KORE at 6:30 o'clock and E. G. Harlan was to make his second appearance on the stage of the McDonald theater.

On Wednesday Rev. Mr. Weber will again talk over KORE at 6:30 o'clock and at 7:15 o'clock Mrs. Edmondson will talk on "Women in the NRA," during the Young Democrat hour on KORE, starting at 7:15 o'clock.

"The call has gone forth throughout the entire nation for loyal support to the president's program for industrial recovery," Dr. Norris said at Rotary Tuesday. "Any efforts at recovery which produce even a measure of success will be well worth whatever they may cost us. The losses incident to the continuation of the depression are so great and tragic, the dangers to our fundamental institutions, and to law and order, from more winters of such disastrous unemployment are so great, as to warrant every possible effort to make this attempt at recovery successful."

Psychology Improves
"We may not believe that psychology has been the only factor at work in the depression, but we must concede it an important place. Here in the NRA program we have a nationwide effort to greatly improve our general temper. That decided results can be obtained, the simple fact that some concerted efforts at improvement are being attempted is enough to give some measure of reassurance to the public and to improve the state of feelings."

"With the development of better psychology on the part of the public and improvement in the purchasing power of the consumers prices will undoubtedly be somewhat advanced. Each moderate advance in the prices of basic commodities tends to improve had a prohibition rebellion on its hands which defied every method of attack.

As a result of this breakdown, popular resentment against federal prohibition grew until it blazed across the country and took on political force which stunned the dregs.

Now they are gathering forces to go back to their original tactics of fighting inside of state lines. More will be heard about this shortly. For the movement dry leaders who realize the imminence of repeal are not admitting it in order to protect dregs who are making fights in several specific states to prevent a unanimous ratification.

But after Maine votes on Sept. 11 dry leaders expect to recognize publicly the imminence of repeal and to open their fight for retention of prohibition in individual states and liquor units. There is a sentimental reason for waiting on Maine because it was the first dry state.

of the administration to allow him to distribute patronage in Louisiana.

"They can take their patronage and go to hell with it," he said. "I'm going to wait until Roosevelt gets back on the right track, the one he got on when he talked about redistribution of wealth. At the Chicago convention I held the delegates in line for Roosevelt and he knows it. He told me so."

NO GANGSTERS
NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Edward P. Mulrooney, former police commissioner and recent head of the New York state alcoholic beverage control board, said today he saw no reason for waiting on Roosevelt and he knows it. He told me so.

"They all seemed ladies and gentlemen," Mulrooney said.

Senator Long has said in a statement he was set upon by gangsters.
