

DeNeffes To Meet Yearling Hoopsters Tonight Eugene Markets Quiet; Stocks Firm Tuesday

INDEPENDENT CLUB TO OFFER FROSH TOUGH OPPOSITION

Gene Shields' Oregon Ducklings, fresh from victories over Eugene and Astoria high, will run into their toughest opposition of the season tonight when they tangle with DeNeffe's strong independent quint at McArthur court. The game has been set for 8 o'clock.

The Clothiers will boast a strong lineup of ex-college stars, with Jean Eberhart, Winsor Calkins and Max Rubenstein heading the list. Sam Lubowitz, star frosh forward, will be the spearhead of the Duckling attack.

DeNeffe's Beats Supers

DeNeffe's defeated the Webfoot super-varsity 53 to 46 in a practice encounter played Monday night at the Igloo, winning in an overtime period after the score was tied at 46 all.

Rubenstein collected 20 points for the independents.

The Frosh scored victories last week over Eugene and Astoria. Lubowitz starred in both tilts, and in the Astoria battle the Ducklings proved themselves good checkers, holding Leon Canessa, sensation of the state tournament last season, to one point.

Frosh Season Good

Williamson, Hardisty and Helmskin are other yearling basketeers who have been outstanding this year. The freshmen have had a very successful season so far, winning most of their games, including a victory over the Oregon State Rocks. The latter group had a one point decision to the Baby Beavers.

The starting lineups have not been announced for the freshmen, but DeNeffe's will probably open with Rubenstein, Calkins, Houghton, D. Siegmund and Jean Eberhart, with Bill Eberhart and Pud Graham on hand for reserve duty.

Admission will be free.

HIGHCLIMBER Takes pm over

By RICHARD JOHNSTON

Eugene basketball fans may be treated to an unusual court offering late this month, or early in March, if plans of Frank (Plunk) Reinhart, manager of DeNeffe's, go through. Reinhart has been in communication for some time with the Harlem Globetrotters, New York colored basketball team, and if an open date can be secured the local independents will probably meet the easterners.

The Globetrotters are all negroes, and all are basketballers. At present they are in Montana, playing a series of tilts with outstanding teams, and in their long trek across the country they are being expertly managed by Reinhart, who is an excellent basketball player, and put on a show comparable to the baseball exhibits of the House of David and the Colored Union Giants.

Reinhart received the following telegram from the Globetrotters Tuesday:

STATERS SUBMERGE VANDALS, 40 TO 14

CORVALLIS, Ore., Feb. 13.—(AP)—The Oregon State College basketball team today counted its fourth consecutive comelack victory in the Coast conference north division race and hoped for another win here tonight from University of Idaho.

The Beavers gained an all-important notch by defeating the Vandals 40 to 14 here last night. Another victory is vital tonight if the Beavers remain in the running for the conference championship which University of Washington has all but salted away.

Looking more and more like a well-oiled machine, the Beavers pulled out of an early five to five tie and led 21 to 8 at half-time. The play was fast and clean in the first half, but the substitutes went at it in rougher manner the second quarter.

The Oreganians, defending coast champions, boosted their score to the 40-mark for the first time this season in conference play. The bewildered Vandals were unable to guard them effectively or make any serious scoring threat of their own.

McDonald and O'Connell led the Beaver scoring with nine points each. Greater scored half his team's points.

World Safe For Referees Portland Goal

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 13.—(AP)—The Portland boxing commission has moved to take the profit out of illegal wrestling and make the referee's job a bit more pleasant.

Yesterday it fined Ted Cox, Lodi, Cal., heavyweight, $100 for taping sheet metal to his hand in a wrestling exhibition here last week against Howard Cantonwine, Des Moines, Ia. Half of the fine was imposed because Cox struck Referee Verne Harrington.

One member wanted to suspend Cox for a year, but others considered that too drastic because it would have meant similar suspension in a number of states.

Curtiss, Grey To Meet In Special

Wildcat Grey, Tacoma grappler, who, with Mickey McGuire, almost stole the show Monday night on Herb Owen's Portland card, will meet Jack "Prettyboy" Curtiss in the second bout of Thursday's mat program at the armory. Grey proved a rough, wild and woolly wrestler, and he gave McGuire the greatest battle the West Salem flash has had in some time.

In Curtiss he'll meet one of the smoothest men in this section. The New Mexico mat artist has an impressive record in past bouts here, and his pet hold, the octopus, has yet to be broken.

Grey mixes rough stuff with a thorough knowledge of the game while Curtiss can dish it out if necessary. The opener will be announced Wednesday.

The main event features Art Perkins, brilliant Detroit grappler, and Walter Sneeze Achiu, Chinese flash. Achiu has lost only one match since his return here, that to Robin Reed, and will be, in first class shape. Perkins, too, is training hard for the bout, and expects to exhibit his full repertoire of holds, said to be the most extensive of any grappler in the northwest.

Large Crowd Sees Oakridge Benefit Smoker Saturday

OAKRIDGE, Feb. 13.—(Special).—Four snappy bouts of boxing and one wrestling match were on the program for the American Legion benefit smoker held at the Legion hall Saturday evening. A capacity house witnessed the events. Jimmy Paddock and Harvey John McFarland, local "feaweight" boxers, put on an interesting bout, with the judges deciding on a draw.

Ernest Jones, 145 pounds, won the decision over Clyde Kimball, 145. Larson, 137, and Sticwalt, 157, from the local CCC camp, put on a good fight, and Larson was knocked out in the second round.

The main event was between Danny Lucas, 128, and E. Ugard, 118. After four rounds Ugard was given the decision.

Walt Wright, 148, and Tex Hager, 148, of Croswell, put on the first wrestling bout that has been on the legion smoker card this winter. Hager won with two straight falls.

Jack Archer served as timekeeper; Waters of the 3-C camp was announcer; Bill Holt, referee; L. R. E. Landholm and Carl Johnson were the judges; and L. S. A. Carnazza, camp physician at the 3-C camp was attending physician.

SCHMELING, HAMAS TO MEET TUESDAY

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Max Schmeling, former world's heavyweight champion, crashes into the first barrier on his comeback trail tonight.

Steve Hamas, youthful Jerseyan who first gained athletic fame at the Pennsylvania State college, is that barrier, and the promoters expect 15,000 enthusiasts to witness the clash.

It is Philadelphia's most important boxing bout since 1928, the year that Gene Tunney, late of the U. S. marines, knocked the heavyweight crown from the head of the Manassa Mauler, Jack Dempsey.

Little advantage in weight is expected. Schmeling probably weighing in around 190 and Hamas 182. The ceremony is to be at 2 o'clock.

The new date probably will be Feb. 26, 27, or 28.

Review Touches Varied Problems

Liquor control, realignment of Oregon counties, local colleges as educational opportunities, the "social review" and a new department on local government feature the January issue of the Commonwealth Review, a journal of public policy and practice which came off the press here this week. It is published by the college of social science and other schools and departments of the University of Oregon.

The liquor situation and state legislation are reviewed by William M. Briggs, municipal field consultant for the League of Oregon Cities. A new plan for counties in Oregon is outlined by Dr. Warren D. Smith and Alfred Lomax, both faculty members of the University. Wallace J. Campbell, graduate assistant in sociology, describes a cooperative movement of the unemployed in the Los Angeles district in California.

The local government notes section is edited by officials of the League of Oregon Cities, and it contains a great deal of interesting material for those interested in citizenship.

The piling will be used in the construction of terminals at Vancouver for the Northern Pacific railroad company.

Portland Butter Market Is Steady

PORTLAND, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Being a semi-holiday there was no change during the week's initial session for butter on the produce exchange. The market appeared fully steady even though undertone was not quite as good as it was a week ago.

Butterfat buying prices were held mostly at the high point locally with country prices still erratic.

There was again a lack of general change in the egg market price and situation for the day. Storage operations were slowly getting under way but the general movement was not due to start until next week.

Shortage of chickens continued pronounced in the local trade with 45 prices held firm with an occasional fractional premium suggested as paid by operators who were short.

There was still a good shipping call for dressed turkeys out of the Pacific northwest with southern California now the leading seeker for supplies. Prices were firm but unchanged.

All country meats showed well sustained prices for the day with a continued acute shortage suggested in lamb mutton and lamb. No spring lambs have been reported.

With former buyers more or less determined to clean up and take their loss on speculation, the market for onions was practically stagnant at Oregon primary points. Local jobbing grade was slow.

Prices were being fairly well held for potatoes here, but little activity was suggested at Oregon, Idaho and Washington sources, although rela-
