Birthday Party Is On Thursday

Jim Gaylord, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Gaylord, celebrated his eighth birthday anniversary Thursday and a group of eight neighborhood boys were invited to observe the day with him. Animal cookies with each child's name in icing were used for placecards. The afternoon was given over to music and games.

Guests included Junior Paine, Mike Collins, Carl Nasholm, David Evans, Jim Donahue, Douglas Williamson, Roddy Woodworth, Jim and Gerry Gaylord.

Mrs. Gaylord was assisted by Miss Agnes Ledahl at the party.

Music Group

PATRONESSES of Mu Phi Epsilon, women's national music honorary society, have launched a new move for the cultural interests of the city, and in meeting Friday morning launched a study group known as the John J. Landsbury Music Study club.

The club is to meet once a month, the first gathering being arranged for the coming Friday morning at ten o'clock in the Osburn hotel. Mr. Landsbury, head of the campus music department, will give the address for the meeting.

For each meeting a talk will be given by either Mr. Landsbury or some other faculty member from the university.

The patronesses will form the original group, associate members and others being invited to attend.

For the coming Friday's meeting, all interested are invited. Twenty-five were out for the meeting Friday to plan for the new study group.

The patronesses of Mu Phi Epsilon recently sponsored Mrs. Rose McGraw in a series of lectures on opera and have done other things to build up the art education interests in the city. Mrs. W. E. Robertson is president of the patronesses.

Golf Day
