Chicago Clears Way Debris Of Fire To Start Rebuilding Watchman Is Found In Ruins

CHICAGO, May 21.—(AP)—The charred body of a man was found in the ruins of Chicago's stockyards today as crews of workers groped through the debris of Saturday's $8,000,000 fire preparing the way for rebuilders.

Through acres of hot ashes, into heaps of bricks, skeletons of old landmarks and twisted steel girders the explorers dug, hunting valued documents and property that might have survived the holocaust, and hoping the loss of human life would not grow.

The one known victim was Isaac Means, 60 year old watchman who discovered the first flames in the cattle pens near the Forty Third street viaduct. The charred body was found less than two blocks from the point where Means shouted to other workers: "It's a fire." So quickly did the blaze spread on the wings of a brisk southwest wind, that Means was overtaken and burned to death before he could make his way out of the labyrinth of livestock corrals.

Other deaths were attributed indirectly to the disaster, that of Walter Burnfield, 33, who dropped dead of excitement as he watched the flames.

The great packing plant of Swift, Armour, Morris, Wilson were never endangered as the hot breeze fanned the fire eastward and away from the big processing houses, flanking the acres of open pens on the west.

These packers, little affected by the blaze, were operating today and even the banks that were reduced to ruins announced business as usual in temporary quarters.

Trading on the country's leading livestock exchange started a little late, but the morning's few sales were only slightly fewer than was anticipated in Saturday's official estimates. The estimated receipts of hogs, put at 29,000 in advance, were reduced to 26,000; cattle receipts dropped from an estimate of 15,000 to 12,000 and sheep—their pens untouched by fire—dropped from 14,000 to 5,000.

The Red Cross said it had treated 1,100 persons for injuries during the fire, but less than a dozen were hurt seriously.

Chief sufferers were the cluster of buildings at the Halsted street entrance to the yards, including the Old Livestock Inn, the Exchange building, the great exposition hall where annual livestock shows have attracted thousands, the Devereaux Daily Journal building, the two banks and a number of shops, homes and tenement houses lying on the fringe just east of Halsted street.

The cause of the blaze was undetermined. Some investigators, including O. T. Henkle, general manager of the stock yards, said they were convinced the conflagration had its origin in a carelessly tossed cigarette.

Henkle said he did not believe there was any truth in reports that the holocaust was the outgrowth of labor troubles.

PWA To Give More Money For Bridges

SALEM, Ore., May 21.—(AP)—The public works administration has agreed to loan additional funds to complete construction of the five Coast highway bridges and will approve contracts for the Coos Bay and Yaquina Bay bridges next Thursday.

Joseph Devers, highway commissioner, was notified today. The telegram was sent by C. G. Hockley, regional engineer for the PWA, from Washington, D. C. It read:

"PWA will approve contracts two bridges Thursday. Have secured tentative approval additional funds, confirmation later."

A loan of $5,102,000 was granted originally by the PWA to construct the bridges, the sum, 80 per cent as an outright grant and 20 as a long time loan, was based on material costs as of last September.

Mounting material prices have increased the cost to a point where it is expected another $400,000 will be necessary to complete construction, Devers said.

PWA officials have taken cognizance of rising costs. They informed Hockley, according to the wire, that the Oregon highway commission could proceed with the advertising of remaining bids and that sufficient funds "would be forthcoming."

'CLOSED SHOP' TURNED DOWN BY EMPLOYERS

SHIPS QUIT HARBOR

Truckers Battle Police Trying to Move Foodstuffs

PORTLAND, Ore., May 21.—(AP)—R. — Kaskett, spokesman of employees in the general longshoremen's strike negotiations at San Francisco, was today advised by Portland waterfront employers that they have agreed to four major points in the attempt to settle the waterfront strike.

The employers rejected the union's proposal that "closed shop" operation be established, and opposed assignment of workers by the union. They agreed to collective bargaining with representatives of the longshoremen and to arbitration on wages and hours.

Shipping men here generally believed the stand taken locally would be rejected by officials of the International Longshoremen's association at the San Francisco conference.

Two ships left the port over the week-end, neither having loaded any cargo since the strike started, 13 days ago.

In reply to information from the Yakima, Wash., chamber of commerce that fruit growers there will suffer "an irreparable loss" because of inability to get shipments of fruit spray off the steamer Charles R. McCormick, here, the J. L. A. telegraphed that it would make efforts to get the spray unloaded and shipped to Yakima today.

TRUCKERS, POLICE BATTLE MINNEAPOLIS

Striking truck drivers fought police in a desperate hand-to-hand battle today for control of the city's markets. More than 25 policemen and strikers were wounded.

Police succeeded in repulsing the drivers, who withdrew to await the arrival of reinforcements. The strikers sought to stop the movement of trucks containing perishable foods.

An appeal by the truck drivers for assistance from other unions brought a vote of 35,000 building trade union members to strike at 5 p. m. today. A general cessation of business activity was feared.

Representatives of other unions called meetings for later today to discuss plans for a general strike. Truck drivers who attempted to run the blockade with farm produce were beaten and their produce dumped.

MUSIC TEACHERS GATHER FOR MEET

Concert by Orchestra and Chorus Monday Night Open to Public

Music teachers from all sections of the state gathered at the school of music Monday for the opening sessions of the nineteenth annual convention of the Oregon Music Teachers' Association. Business sessions, concerts, symposiums and study classes will make up a busy program for Monday and Tuesday. Over 100 teachers attended the noon luncheon Monday, and another group was expected to arrive during the afternoon.

A return to the older, more staid types of music, particularly folk music, and the development of the child's imagination rather than appealing to sentiment was urged by Dr. C. V. Boyer, president of the University of Oregon, in his address of welcome. Modern "jazz" tunes, which are "popular" for a couple of weeks, then disappear or give way to another such "popular" tune, were cited by Dr. Boyer as a much inferior type of music. Children will respond to the better type if it is explained to them, he declared, and if an attempt is made to arouse the child's appreciation.

The attitude of people in rural and small communities toward music is amazing, it was declared by Mrs. Anne Lansbury Beck, of the university school of music, who talked on "Developments in Public School Music." Not only is a keen appreciation easily aroused, but these people will willingly take part in music, and will show a great deal of genuine talent. An example of this cited was...

Bomb Intended For Balkans Explodes In U. S. Postoffice

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(AP)—A bomb which inspectors say was destined for the Balkans exploded in the postoffice dead letter office today, shattering a clerk's hand and slightly injuring a negro messenger.

It was concealed in a hollowed-out book, and went off when the volume was opened by Myrton L. Genung.

Genung was in too critical a condition afterwards to tell what happened.

It specialized in improperly wrapped or addressed parcels addressed to foreign countries from Maryland, Delaware, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina and the District of Columbia.

W. H. Jackson, the messenger, cut by flying glass from Genung's table top, said he was bending over another table when the explosion occurred. He looked up to see Genung, dazed, stumbling about with blood streaming from his hand.

COMBINED SCHOOLS HERE ANOTHER YEAR

Northwest Christian College Name of Unified Institutions

Northwest Christian college has been selected as the name for the merged Eugene Bible college and Spokane university, which have operated here together the past year under the name of the Eugene Bible college.

The school will continue in Eugene another year. It is announced from the office of Linden G. Leavitt, acting chancellor, the permanent location having not been settled as yet. The two have been incorporated under the new name, the Northwest Christian college.

In announcing the program for the school, the board in charge makes the following statement regarding the policies of the institution:

"It is a college committed to the one great task of training young people for the work of pastors, evangelists, missionaries, directors of religious education and other types of Christian service. This college will not sponsor any organization or auxiliary within the church. It is, however, in sympathy with the work of the entire brotherhood.

"The faculty personnel selected must consist of those who believe in the inspiration of the sacred scriptures, the deity of Christ, the divine origin of the church, and the obligation resting upon us to carry out the spirit of the great commission. The faculty personnel selected must be in sympathy with the policy of Northwest Christian college and if any adjustment is necessary to harmonize the two, it will be made."

Pests Swell Crop Damage Done By Midwest Drought

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Drought, aided by grasshoppers and chinch bugs, spread further destruction through the grain belt today, increasing crop losses to as high as 85 per cent in some sections.

Many farmers prayed yesterday in churches for rain. Some rains came, but they were too light to bring much relief. More liberal showers were forecast.

Even ideal weather, said agricultural experts, could not now afford any material relief in much of the Midwest.

Nebraska farmers reported all crops in the central part of the state, including oats, hay, and other small grains, have been cut to 40 per cent. The strawberry crop has been severely damaged and chinch bug damage is the worst in the region's farming history.

Indiana's hay crop is cut 50 per cent and wheat and oats are severely damaged. Corn is germinating slowly. Dust storms have blown away large parts of the onion and mint crops. The fruit crop in the southwestern region is periled. Timber and grass is dying, and small insects and timber fires are adding to the damage.

ANSWERS BY CHIEFS ATTACKED

Johnson and Richberg Are Held Responsible for Criticism

SECOND REPORT DUB

Government Support Of Monopoly Shown, Says Darrow

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(AP)—The national recovery review board in a three page statement today assailed the criticism in its report made by NRA officials, promised a second report before the end of the week and challenged the NRA to answer that one.

The second report, the board headed by Clarence Darrow said, covered industries "in which conditions are even worse than in those that severed Mr. Richberg's vision."

The reference was to Donald R. Richberg, general NRA counsel, who charged Darrow's unit with abuse of public confidence in having so conducted itself as to develop only evidence in support of already fixed views.

End Thought Near

Meanwhile, it was indicated at the White House that President Roosevelt well expected the Darrow board to wind up its work soon. Nothing was said as to how the president looked upon Hugh S. Johnson's recommendation that the board be abolished at once.

There had been no hint of a supplemental statement such as given out by the Darrow board today.

It read in part: "The monopolists and profiteers that were uncovered by the review board's report had their incomes today and with their attorneys' paid and unpaid, filled the air with their clamors.

REAGANS BOUND OVER ON MONDAY

Pat and Clifford Reagan, local professional wrestlers, who were arrested a few days ago on a charge of assault and battery upon Gerald Scherer of the Scherer Motor company, waived examination in the justice court Monday and were both bound over by Judge Dan Johnston. Pat Reagan is out on $1500 bail, but Clifford was still in jail Monday afternoon having been unable to furnish a bond.

The Reagan brothers beat Scherer severely on the street, the trouble arising over a bit alleged due to the motor company. Scherer is still confined to the Pacific hospital with an injury to his head, but is reported to be improving steadily.

The grand jury has been called to meet Monday, May 28, to consider these cases and a number of others and Circuit Judge Skipworth will set case for trial June 4. It was announced Monday.

The case of Nancy Towers against Charles LeRoy Towers, a contested divorce suit, was tried before Judge Skipworth Monday and the testimony was expected to be finished some time in the afternoon.

EASTERN OREGON HIT

PENDLETON, Ore., May 21.—(AP)—A fifty per cent wheat crop for eastern Oregon unless weather conditions change is predicted by J. W. Maloney, collector of internal revenue and former wheat farmer of Pendleton. The present condition was ascribed to the fact that wheat went through the winter without the usual moisture.

A below normal crop was seen for Umatilla county and unless conditions change soon, the yield was expected to be around four million bushels.
