— what it means

— to blend and cross-blend mild ripe tobaccos

to "weld" them together

THERE are a great many different kinds of tobacco grown in this country and abroad. No two kinds are quite alike.

Every variety has a different taste and other different qualities all its own.

Some have more natural sweetness than others—some add a rare spice and a rich aroma—some burn more freely than others.

To get Chesterfield's milder better taste we take the right amounts of the right kinds of home-grown tobaccos, then add aromatic Turkish.

When these tobaccos are blended and cross-blended the Chesterfield way—balanced—each kind of tobacco helps to bring out the best smoking qualities of the others.

That's what blending and cross-blending means to Chesterfield—milder better taste. And that's why They Satisfy.
