

FLORENCE FOLKS TAKE TO TRAVEL

FLORENCE, June 28.—(Special)—Two couples, one of whom will be new-comers to this community, are about to embark upon life in other abodes than the conventional residence. Mrs. John Nabb has sold the boat North Star which she has owned to Mr. and Mrs. W. Barnhill of San Francisco. The boat, which has figured in the fishing industry on the Siuslaw river for many a past season, is large enough to provide for living quarters for its new owners. The craft is taking on a fresh coat of paint and will otherwise be put into shape for duty on the high seas again. Accordingly Mr. and Mrs. Barnhill will enjoy life while they engage in the fishing game.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Neispor, who have been residents of Glendale, will take up life motoring about the country in an up-to-date trailer fastened onto an automobile which is being built for them by Leonard Grimshaw, local contractor. The trailer home is to have all modern conveniences down to a refrigerator. Mr. and Mrs. Neispor plan to cover several western states in their home on wheels, during which he will give attention to a position he holds as inspector on electric plants.

The first coating of oil has been laid down on the section of the Coast highway from Gardiner to the Glendale ferry landing, which is sufficient to at least diminish the presence of dust. Two crews are now at work on the stretch of 19 miles and the entire oiling work is expected to be completed in about three weeks' time.

Miss Edith Morgan returned to her home here Sunday evening after spending the past six weeks with her sister, Miss Genevieve, at Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hirsch, who had been residents of Portland, returned to Glendale to reside recently. Mr. Hirsch taking over the Colter service station. Since his arrival here Hirsch has gone into the sign painting game as a side-line. He was for years connected with one of Portland's front rank sign companies.

Mrs. A. W. Chandler and son Albert, Mrs. C. J. Morgan and baby and the five younger Chandler children went to Broadmead Saturday to attend a reunion Sunday of the DeSart-Murphy families, pioneers of the Salem vicinity. About 60 of the clan were in the pleasant gathering. The Chandlers returned home Sunday evening but Mrs. Morgan remained for a longer visit.

Miss Grace Stanton went to Portland Sunday evening where she may take up a course in nurse's training. N. B. Parr, local business man is at present engaged in some more rebuilding. He is making over the old Percy Peel store building which adjoins his grocery store on the west. When the work is completed the structure will be a cozy little four-room dwelling with bath.
