

HOLIDAY AT MID-WEEK BRINGS LULL FOR SOCIAL ACTIVITIES; PAGEANT EVENTS OF INTEREST

Many Leaving On Vacations And Visits

By MARIAN LOWRY
 WITH the Fourth of July coming at the mid-week, social events will be fewer during the next few days. As the first of the month, too, many more are off to vacations.

With pioneer dress "all the rage" even the most informal of entertaining is giving way to sewing as needles are busily applied to make the old-time costume.

DANCE TUESDAY

The weekly summer session dance scheduled for the past Friday was postponed due to the princesses welcoming ball down town and is to be held Tuesday evening at nine o'clock at Gerlinger hall on the campus.

PICNIC SUNDAY

Members of the H. F. Brogdon and Frank Eberhart families are having a picnic today up the McKenzie. Mr. and Mrs. Jean Eberhart, who have been spending the week at Albany, are to attend the event and they will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lowe.

LAURA WHEELER HELPS YOU USE UP

SCRAPS ON THESE PILLOWS
 PATCHWORK PILLOWS PATTERN 578
 Patchwork, that ever popular handwork, comes forward in these charming pillows that are made to the greatest part of scraps of material. Here is your chance to make the home comfortable for summer and yet be most economical. The pillow, if made of the same design, might be done in entirely different color arrangements and still be harmonious. Or, if you prefer, you could make a collection of pillows of different designs but similar in color. Any of the blocks would make lovely quilts. The little fan is just the thing to use for a crib cover for a child's bed making it to match the Friendship Fan pattern 460; the basket block also makes a handsome bag.

Pattern 578 comes to you with a block and pattern pieces of each of the designs shown with directions for making a variety of articles from them.

Send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) for this pattern to Register-Guard, Needlecraft Dept.
