

LAZARUS IV, STILL LIVES!

April 13, Dr. Robert E. Cornish, young California scientist, put "Lazarus IV" to death, then restored the canine to life. And the dog still is alive, barks, eats and jumps. Other scientists declare its mind is dead, it is indifferent to feeling—a canine robot. "If they'll let my dog bite them, I can prove they're wrong," says Cornish, shown with the dog.

AAU FIGHTS ENDED THURSDAY EVENING

PORTLAND, Ore., July 13.—(AP)—Amateur boxers from California today were on their way home with a lion's share of the 1934 Pacific coast A. A. U. boxing crowns in their possession.

Four of the nine coast amateur champions were from California. 105-pounds: Julius Fleck, Portland, Ore. 112-pounds: Johnny Martin, Phoenix, Ariz. 118-pounds: George Cirinelli, San Francisco, Cal. 126-pounds: George Riddle, Spokane, Wash. 135-pounds: Earl Booker, San Jose, Cal. 147-pounds: Biff Spillers, Seattle, Wash. 160-pounds: Fred Graham, San Francisco, Cal. 175-pounds: Earl Baumgardner, Sacramento, Cal. Heavyweight: Roy Babich, Butte, Mont.

titles—118-pounds, 135-pounds, 160-pounds and 175-pounds—were held by fighters from the south at the finish of the nine final and 12 semi-final bouts held last night at Multnomah stadium.

Two fighters from Washington won titles, while boxers from Oregon, Arizona, and Montana won one each.

The best bout last night was the toe-to-toe punching melee between Biff Spillers of Seattle, and Eddie Booker, San Jose negro, for the 147-pound title. The decision was awarded to Spillers by a 2 to 1 vote of the judges.

For the full limit of 5 two-minute rounds the two welterweights faced each other and fired away, with first one fighter and then the other being cheered on by the excited crowd. The judges' decision was popular with the crowd.

Johnny Martin, 112-pound champion from the United States Indian school at Phoenix, Ariz., ran his knockout string to 19 straight in winning the 1934 title with a second-round knockout over James Camrillo of Los Angeles.

An estimated crowd of 6000 persons saw the final round matches.

At one time, paper wheels were used on railroad cars. They were invented by Richard Allen, in 1869, and were first tested on the Central Vermont railroad. They were made of many sheets of paper, coated with flour paste, and compressed under enormous pressure.

ANGELS CRACK AS STARS TAKE TWO

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seattle's rude reception of Los Angeles last week seems to have shattered the fielding precision the Angels displayed in running away with the first half Coast league crown.

Hollywood took its second game of the week from the champions last night 7-6 as the Angel bobbles let in three runs. Holding a 5-3 lead going into the eighth, the Lelivelt men mis-handled the ball enough to give the Stars the game.

The defeat dropped the Angels into a third place tie with the Missions and Seattle. The Reds upset San Francisco 5-1 behind Wayne Osborne's

7-hit pitching, while the Indians stopped Portland 8-5 as Bob Fitzke, rookie hurler from the University of Idaho, won his first game of the year. He was touched for ten blows.

Bill Henderson, starting Portland pitcher, was taken to a hospital for examination after being hit by one of Fitzke's pitched balls in the seventh. Osborne's victory was his third in six days.

Two veteran righthanders provided the real mound thrills of the day as Lou McEvoy of Oakland bested Lou Koupal of Sacramento 1-0. McEvoy gave six hits, Koupal only five. Neither pitcher issued a base on balls. Ernie Kelly's double in the first inning, the game's only extra base hit, led to the Oakland run.

Van Winkle Upholds State Racing Laws

SALEM, July 13.—(AP)—The Oregon racing commission act does not violate any provisions of the Oregon constitution prohibiting lotteries and the sale of lottery tickets, Attorney General I. H. Van Winkle held in an opinion handed down today.

The opinion held further that the legislature may adopt any kind of policy and the legislature had seen fit to enact the law expressly authorizing mutual betting and wagering in connection with horse and dog racing. The opinion was requested by Lotus L. Langley, district attorney of Multnomah county.

1,000 LAID OFF IN LUMBER MILLS AS STRIKE DRAGS

SEATTLE, July 13.—(AP)—Twenty thousand men have been thrown out of work in Oregon and Washington logging camps and lumber mills, and production has fallen far below average because of the longshoremen's strike, the West Coast Lumbermen's association reported here today.

Closing down of mills and logging camps since the strike has reduced the number of employees from 51,000 to 31,000, the association declared.

The decrease is due primarily to the effect of the strike but in part to a seasonal reduction in production which usually occurs at this time of the year, the regular report of the association said.

Fifty-eight large tidewater mills closed during the week ending July 7, and 42 per cent of the cut reduced by a total of 594 mills, and operating during the week ending July 13, and are still down. These mills are more than half of their output in the markets requiring water due to the strike, and are awaiting the time when it becomes possible to move this lumber, resumption of production will be slowed until space becomes available.

Two
Schilling
Coffees

Your grocer has two Schilling Coffees, identical in flavor, but each is specially prepared for its purpose—each one different in blend, roast and grind.

Would you use cube sugar
to mix a cake?

There are several types of sugar (granulated, powdered, cube). Each is prepared to serve a different purpose. So it is with coffee. There are two vitally different methods of making it—percolator and drip. Each demands a different coffee.

In a Drip Coffee Maker, boiling water drips only once through a coffee specially prepared to yield its flavor quickly. While in a Percolator, the water continues to pass many times through a coffee prepared to yield its flavor slowly. The same coffee can be used for both methods, but like a "jack-of-all-trades" it is "master of none"—neither drip nor percolator. In one or the other, little things happen. It's a little weak, or a little strong, or a little cloudy, or it has a little less flavor. It's these little things that make or mar good coffee. Be sure to use the correct coffee for each method.
