MAKE THIS SIMPLE QUILT IN SCRAPS SUGGESTS LAURA WHEELER

In this quilt, Summer Fancy, the quiltmaker will find a design that will indeed suit her fancy in the warm weather. An easy block to sew, the work is made more interesting and easier by the gay patch pieces that can be joined on, hit or miss. The quilt is very colorful, the joined blocks forming an effective pattern over the entire quilt.

Pattern 768 comes to you with complete, simple instructions for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single and double bed size, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

Send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) for this pattern to Register-Guard, Needlecraft Dept.

Girl Scouts

AN exciting treasure hunt was held last Wednesday evening immediately after supper. The trail, which was laid by Tommy Reid, Jean Taylor, Jean MacLaren and Bob-White (Miss Spurgin), went through many unknown trails around camp.

The clues, based on nature, were original poetry written by some of the girls, such as:

"Wander down toward the lake
Where an older tree in the wind
Doth shake."

The girls were divided into four groups, according to birthdays and it was a great race to see who would first find the treasure.

Those that took part in the hunt were: Martha Jane Switzer, Margaret Brooke, Margaret DeCou, Marian Palmer, Ann Thompson, Elizabeth Edmunds, Florence Jackson, Peggy Wright, Serena Platt, Wilma Crane, Phoebe Smith, Mary Ann Fox, Abbie Jane White, Ann Wright, Yvonne Umphlette, Phoebe Breyman, Jean Taylor, Jean MacLaren, Winifred Scroggie, Deloris Gustafson, Tommy Reid, Margaret Ohler, Nancy Dowd, Sally Ray, Ruby Jackson, Teddy Wright, Mary Wilhelm, Elvira Miller, June Elliott, Marjorie Buck, Jean Crites, Eileen Washburne, Bobbie MacLaren, Virginia Hammond, Kathleen Dillard, Lola Herman, Ann Walker, Evelyn Erickson, Louise Pursley, Mildred Ross, Catherine Ross, and the staff, Louise Howard, Wilma MacKenzie, Margaret Hurley, Ella Redkey, Elva Wilkinson, Marian Smith, Eunice Gerber and Alice Spurgin.

There was only a small number of scouts that took the trip to the ocean Thursday morning but it was a very pleasant journey in a warm sun with little wind. The ocean was unusually beautiful, being dark blue with white breakers and many ships at sea. The group that returned was tired and sunburned, but yet happy. The hikers were: Alice Spurgin, Louise Howard, Wilma MacKenzie, Ella Redkey, Tommy Reid, Jean MacLaren, Phoebe Smith, Serena Platt, Mary Ann Fox, Deloris Gustafson, Elizabeth Edmunds, Ruby Jackson, Florence Jackson, Margaret Brooke, Yvonne Umphlette, Nancy Dowd, Ann Wright, and Margaret DeCou.

Living up to their names the pioneer unit of Glenwood camp, camped as a separate unit after taking an overnight hike to Robinson's landing on Washakie lake. Upon arriving at their destination the pioneers enjoyed a swim in the lake and then made their supper over a campfire. The girls were surprised during the night by a rain storm and since they were under no shelter they moved their beds and finished the night in a grove of pine trees. After having cooked their breakfast, girls returned across the lake to camp, tired but happy. Those who went were Phoebe Breyman, Margaret Ohler, Teddy Wright, Mary Wilhelm, Elvira Miller, Eileen Washburne and Mildred Ross and the counselors of the pioneers, Ella Redkey and Margaret Hurley.

Saturday was Christmas day at Girl Scout camp. At camp fire several evenings before the girls drew names. For each of these girls presents were made from materials at camp. Among the presents on the tree were napkins, rings, tooth brushes and clothes hangers carved out of wood; pine cone, shell, and vegetable dolls; the dried and yarn projects. Also during the day were skits and other Christmas proceedings. At sunset an Indian dance to the Setting Sun was given. Those in it were Louise Pursley, Evelyn Erickson, Winifred Scroggie, Ann Thompson, Serena Platt, Peggy Wright, and Ruby Jackson.

Miss Ella Redkey, craft instructor, has been teaching the Girl Scouts for the past few days at camp to make puppets. Most of the girls have chosen Mickey Mouse and Minnie Mouse as the characters they wish to portray. Others have chosen Winnie-the-Pooh, from A. A. Milne's stories.
