

PRIMARY RACES IN THREE STATES ARE HOTLY CONTESTED

(By the Associated Press) The last laps in three spirited primary races were run today...

Nominations for two seats in the United States senate—both now held by republicans—are at stake...

Candidates also are being nominated for 20 seats in the house of representatives...

Nine candidates are elbowing their way in a free-for-all for the democratic senatorial nomination in West Virginia...

The winner probably will oppose Senator Harry D. Hatfield in November. While all the democratic aspirants have pledged control to the Roosevelt administration...

There is a six-cornered race for the democratic nomination for governor in Kansas, but only one man has challenged the incumbent, Gov. Alf M. Landon, on the republican track.

reaching paid final tribute to the old field marshal who called his party to power.

Services Very Impressive The sober green and black decorations outlined against the dim mahogany walls of the Kroll auditorium were relieved only by dead-white masses of lilies and asters which formed the setting for a ceremony which in simplicity reflected the life of the "grand old man" in whose memory it was held.

Service uniforms were scattered in the audience—some of them from the old imperial army which Hindenburg commanded. The diplomatic corps was present in full force. The former crown prince was present.

"Hells" Are Omitted Through Hitler's speech to the closing music of Siegfried's funeral march from Wagner's "Gotterdammerung" the somber mood was not once broken. At the conclusion, Hitler shook hands with the Hindenburgs while the entire audience stood in a silent salute.

"Had our political administration in the world was done been equal to military leadership," said Hitler. "The nation would have been saved from disaster."

There was nothing of politics in his speech, and it was not one of the ringing Hitler speeches which took him from the beer cellars of Munich to absolute rulership over Germany's 65,000,000 people.

His voice was quiet and it shook with emotion as he mentioned the nation's veneration and love for the field marshal-president.

Man of the Centuries Hindenburg, he said, was one of those men who appear only once every few centuries.

The whole nation, he said, soon learned of Hindenburg's name as it read the report of the battle of Tannenberg, when he turned back the Russian army in East Prussia.

"The greatest struggle in history is forever linked with that name of Tannenberg," he said. It was at this point that he said political leadership equal to the country's military leadership would have averted disaster.

Hitler recalled the 1925 election, in which Hindenburg was elected President, and then, referring to his own appointment as chancellor Jan. 30, 1933, he said:

"I expressed the gratitude of the whole nation to the president for concluding an alliance between venerable tradition and forces working for the future."

"Ever since I was allowed to take my oath of office to him I have been grateful to fate for the opportunity of serving such a master."

"He who served the nation with such faithfulness," said Hitler, "never will lack faithful remembrance."

"Deputies and German people! I ask every one at this moment to look to the future."

"President Hindenburg is not dead. He is forever with us, surrounded by the great heroes of the past."

FUNERAL NEAR NEUDECK, EAST PRUSSIA, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Field Marshal-President Paul von Hindenburg's body passed its last day above the grave today, awaiting, at his Neudeck chateau, its burial tomorrow at Tannenberg, where 20 years ago he won one of the greatest victories of the world war.

The funeral will be one fitting a man mourned by millions who served his country with distinction in peace and war.

Hindenburg lay today in a casket in his study, clad in the white mantle of the Johanniter Order of Medieval Knighthood, his long knight's sword beside him.

Tonight there will be a brief, simple...

absolutely private service for members of the family, close friends and Neudeck servants. Then at midnight, the casket will be taken outside by officers flanked by standard bearers with the colors of the 2d, 9th and 16th reichwehr regiments...

Outside two battalions of infantry, two squadrons of cavalry, an artillery battery and infantry and cavalry bands will be drawn up. Taps will be sounded and the bands together will play the hymn, "I Pray for the Power of Life."

As the procession starts, huge fires will be lighted at each of the eight towers on the Tannenberg memorial, 50 miles away. They will be kept burning for two weeks, attended by 96 firemen working in shifts.

One battalion of infantry, commanded by General Niebschuhz, will escort the casket, its path lighted by torch bearers, for several miles. Then the casket will be transferred to a caisson of a motorized artillery battery, and, escorted by cavalry, will be taken at an increased pace until 4 a. m. when infantry will join the cortege again.

All along the way from Neudeck to Tannenberg will be stationed storm troops, S. S. bodyguards and Hitler youths with torches to light the procession.

The procession will halt for two minutes at the field marshal's knoll near the village of Froeganz, where in August, 1914, Hindenburg directed in the field the battle of Tannenberg against a supposedly unbeatable Russian army. This was arranged as a last reunion of the field marshal with the comrades who died on the field of battle.

At 5 a. m. the procession is due at the great Tannenberg memorial where the body will be lowered into the grave.

Eugene Remains in Class 5 in Insurance Rating

In a readjustment in the fire insurance rating of a number of Oregon cities, announced by the Oregon insurance rating bureau Monday, Eugene remains in class 5, where it has been for a number of years past, and there will be no change in insurance rates, according to local fire insurance agents.

Cottage Grove remains in class 6. The ratings of Springfield and other Lane county towns are not given. Pendleton and The Dalles are advanced from class 6 to class 5.

The grading for classifications is based on efficiency of the water systems, fire departments, fire alarm systems, building laws, hazards and structural conditions, and is rated from class 3, which is in effect in the best protected districts, to class 10, representing no protection. The city of Portland was rated under classification 3 to 5, and Astoria under 4.

Under classification 3 appeared Albany, Ashland, Baker, Bend, Corvallis, Eugene, Grants Pass, Hood River, La Grande, McMinnville, Medford, Oregon City, Pendleton and The Dalles.

Rated under number 6 was Cottage Grove, Dallas, Forest Grove, Klamath Falls, Marshfield, Roseburg, Salem, Silverton, Tillamook and Woodburn.

COMMENTS GIVEN ON CONDITION IN MID-WEST SECTION

Miscellaneous comments and observations on a trip to the midwest recently were given by Orlando Hollis for the program at the weekly Kiwanis club luncheon, Monday noon, at the Osburn hotel.

The plan to move people out of the sections that have suffered so from the drought meets hostility since the people are very loyal, Mr. Hollis said. He observed the weather is no joke, but a serious matter, he said, adding that at no time on the trip did the party find the maximum below 105. The water shortage is serious, not only throughout the midwest, but in the Rockies section and even farther west, he said.

If the present climatic conditions prevail another year or two, certain big belts in the midwest will revert to desert land, Mr. Hollis said, pointing out how the sand and dust storms and long dry spells have affected the soil. Speaking of scenery, Mr. Hollis said he found the Yellowstone park a great disappointment. The Grand Canyon is beautiful and is about the only thing in that section to equal or surpass anything the coast section offers.

Oddly enough, business in the drought section is a bit snappier than it is on the coast, and the general character of the towns appeared to be of solid business, he said. Despite the drought and drought there is a vast amount of money in the midwest. Another thing noted was the quality of the homes, and the great number of public buildings donated, showing that there is prosperity, Mr. Hollis spoke of the parks, art museums, and other public projects donated, as well as of the appearances of the city and county buildings.

One does not appreciate the good roads in Oregon until he starts east. True it is there is a greater wealth there, but a more conservative flow of that wealth when it comes to roads, stores and hotels are old, too, the west showing much more initiative and interest in building along these lines, he said.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Stoning of the German consulate here by three men who were assertedly displeased because a Swastika flag was flown from the building, has been officially reported to the German embassy in Washington. Dr. Ernst Wendler, German consul here, said the vandals "must have had political reasons" for the act.

HAVANA, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Ten airplanes, equipped with bombs, and seven warships are engaged today in a drive by the Cuban government against run-runners. Col. Fulgencio Batista, commander-in-chief of the army, ordered the campaign. He said he believed the smugglers taking whiskey to the United States were returning with arms and dynamite for Cuban revolutionaries.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Communists gathered for a demonstration in "no man's land" today and nearly brought a crisis in the prospective battle between Senator Huey P. Long's state militia and Mayor T. S. Walmesley's reinforced city police. Given a permit to demonstrate, the communists chose Lafayette street, which separates fortified city hall and barricaded South building, quarters for the troops.

ROME, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Benito Mussolini, wife of the premier, is expecting a baby in six months, it was learned today.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 6.—(AP)—New forest fires, set by lightning today kept fighters busy in western Montana, where "flying squadrons" were rushed into the battle.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Employees today requested a court injunction restraining Governor Floyd R. Olson from continuing military rule here during the truck drivers strike and attacking the legality of a new permit system supervised by the national guard on the governor's orders.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Injuries which may cause his death were suffered here last night by Leonard Leroy Wammock, 35, of Sierra Madre, Cal., a non-union seaman, who was man-handled by a group of waterfront workers.

HITLER AT NEUDECK NEUDECK, East Prussia, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Fuehrer Adolf Hitler and Hermann Wilhelm Goering, premier of Prussia, arrived by airplane tonight to take part in the funeral services for President Paul von Hindenburg.

MONDAY PROGRAMS McDONALD: Double bill, "Here Comes the Navy" with Jimmy Cagney, Pat O'Brien, Gloria Stuart, plus "Paris Interlude," with all-star cast. Ends Wednesday.

HEILIG: "Cockeyed Cavaliers" with Wheeler and Woolsey. Ends Thursday.

STATE: Double bill, "Invisible Man" with Claud Rains, plus "Call It Luck," with Pat Patterson. Ends Tuesday.

Whether you're a Wheeler and Woolsey fan of long-standing or a new convert, you'll be pained by "Cockeyed Cavaliers," at the Heilig. It may not be the funniest picture they've ever made, but it's certainly just as good as any of the others. A screwy yarn about knights of old, with Woolsey's clear peeping from lace collars and his inevitable rodel soundings far and wide. Recommended.

A fast, wise-cracking story of the navy and the navy's dames is "Here Comes the Navy," at the McDonald. Jimmy Cagney and Pat O'Brien battle over gas, guns and what have you, with Gloria Stuart as the spoils of war. "Paris Interlude," on the same program, is sophisticated light entertainment.

We emphatically recommend "The Invisible Man," at the State. Seldom, if ever, has so unusual a picture shown here. Combining comedy and thrills, the film's an entertainment knockout. You'll gasp when the "invisible man" first unwinds the tape from his head, leaving nothing there, and you'll laugh when a pair of pants runs down the street, apparently unassisted. "Call It Luck," on the same bill, is a pleasant comedy-romance.

from the girl's training school. The action was recommended by Clara Patterson, superintendent.

Several promotions with slight salary increases in the state library likewise were approved.

Dr. W. D. McNary's request that no more patients be admitted at present to the Eastern Oregon hospital at Pendleton from Multnomah county on account of over-crowding was deferred. Einzig reported that 50 additional beds were being sent to the hospital to relieve overcrowding.

Holman asked that additional fire fighting apparatus be provided state institutions close to Salem's city limits. The governor said the matter was in the hands of the state insurance department and that proper steps would be taken.

The last full meeting of the board of control was held in May. Holman was away from the statehouse for over a month on vacation and on July 2 the governor during a call here declared he would attend no future board meetings with Holman present. Subsequently he and the Secretary of State Stadelman held several meetings.

Previous to the board meeting Holman said he was opposed to sessions being held in the governor's private office.

"There is a perfectly good public board of control meeting room provided, and I think we should use it," he declared.

RELIEF LOAD STORY

even greater number of families and individuals seeking jobs than ever before, the relief workers say. The increase is held to be due to: Families leaving the drought area for unaffected districts; to inability of coast families to earn a living in the accustomed manner and turning to seasonal occupations. The demand for relief is further increased by the inability of pickers to earn more than enough to keep them while working, making the jump between jobs increasingly difficult.

No definite figure can be given on the number coming from the drought areas but both Mrs. Ross and Mr. Koch say that the number is increasing and having a definite bearing on the heavy relief demand.

Wandering Not Encouraged In caring for the families applying for relief, food and shelter is secured for them while assistance is given in trying to find a way in which they can earn a living or make arrangements to return to former homes.

Families who come with the idea of making a home in Oregon but are without means are advised to return to their former home. They are told that they can't be considered residents of Oregon until they have lived in the state for one year without being on the relief rolls, that they are not eligible for federal or state relief jobs unless they are residents of the state. It is explained that they have not forfeited residence rights at their former homes as long as they have not established a residence elsewhere, that they will be eligible for relief jobs if they return to their home state.

Families claiming to have work assured are aided to get to the place the work is offered if investigation proves the work available. Otherwise, if they agree to return home, railroad tickets and food are provided by the state office of the federal transient relief setup. No money is given for gasoline if the family has been traveling by car. It is advised that the car be sold. Money received from such a sale remains in the possession of the family and in no way affects arrangements for transportation and food-enroute to the home state.

Disaster Is Spreading "The drought area is extending every day," Westbrock said. He added that since congress adjourned after appropriating a half billion dollars for relief of the sufferers the drought had spread 300 per cent in effectiveness.

The chief executive, highly pleased with the results of his general survey thus far, expressed to the nation Sunday night by radio the thought "we are definitely in an era of building, the best kind of building."

Pleased With Building Works The building he described as "the building of great public projects for the benefit of the public and with the definite objective of building human happiness."

"I believe, too," Mr. Roosevelt observed, "that we are building a better comprehension of our national needs. People understand, as never before, the splendid public purpose that underlies development of great power sites, the improving of navigation, the prevention of floods and the erosion of our agricultural fields, the prevention of forest fires, the diversification of farming and the distribution of industry."

"We now more and more that the east has a stake in the west; that the nation must and shall be considered as a whole and not as an aggregation of disjointed groups. May we come better to know every part of our great heritage in the days to come."

The president's address, which also encompassed a declaration of public policy regarding uses of the federal parks system, was made from Two Medicine chalet in the heart of the snow-capped Rockies of Glacier National Park.

He went to the people with his speech after motoring over mountain roads that wound 8,000 feet above sea level. At the edges were sheer drops in some cases of 6,000 feet to the valleys below.

Before going to Two Medicine chalet, the President and Mrs. Roosevelt drove through the Blackfoot Indian reservation and were made honorary tribe members in a colorful ceremony by Chiefs Bullchild and Heavy-breast.

Two large payments of delinquent taxes on Lane county property were received at the office of Sheriff Swartz Monday. One was from Oregon-Michigan Timber Trust, Muskegon, Mich., and the other was the World War Veterans' share of the commission of Oregon.

The check from the timber trust amounted to $148,350 and the payment of three-tenths of the tax for 1930 on timber lands owned by Horatio N. Hovey and one of the 15,000 acres of timber land in the western part of the county. Hovey has owned these lands for many years and had been paying taxes on them regularly.

The check from the veterans' commission amounted to $14,835 and was in payment of delinquent taxes on 15 different pieces of property in Lane county taken over by the commission on foreclosure of a mortgage. After all back taxes were paid to them and no more taxes were to be paid upon them until the time as they are sold to private persons or corporations.
