Public Meeting at Chamber Called for Discussion of Big Program

EVERYBODY INVITED

Houglum to Explain Plans For Launching Big Campaign Here

Long-term, unsecured loans, the mainstay of the drive for better housing, are now available to Eugene citizens under the Federal Housing Administration tie-up with local banks and loan agencies.

Details of the program of loans for property renovation will be outlined at a meeting at the Eugene chamber of commerce Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at which time speakers will discuss the various phases of the program.

Large Attendance Expected

Persons associated with building trades, loan associations and others interested in building are especially urged to attend this meeting, according to H. E. Cully, secretary of the chamber of commerce, sponsors of the meeting.

Loans of from $100 up to $2,000 may be obtained by application at the Eugene banks or at certain local financial institutions, under contract of insurance with the Federal government. It was explained Tuesday by O. A. Houglum, cashier of the First National Bank, who will officiate at Tuesday evening's meeting.

Applicants must have sound credit standing and must qualify under the bank's regulations regarding loans and in addition, must meet 20 regulations specified in the Federal government's contract of insurance with the lending agency.

Money loaned in Eugene, as in each locality, will be funds of the bank, not money furnished by the government. Mr. Houglum explained.

HOUGLUM

How Eugene can take an active part in the national drive for better housing will be explained at Tuesday night's mass-meeting of property owners in the Eugene Chamber of Commerce. O. A. Houglum, cashier of the First National bank will explain how the improvement loans may be had at low rates of interest and convenient terms. Both Eugene banks are participating in the program.

HOT CONTEST DUE FOR SPEAKERSHIP

Many Democrats Ambitious For Position of Late Henry T. Rainey

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The name of Joseph Willington Byrns headed many lists of likely successors to the late Speaker Henry T. Rainey today.

Though the matter is not settled and may lead to strong intra-party rivalry, the Tennessee representative, who is democratic floor leader, appeared to some observers to have the pole in the race.

Others were far from being counted out. The list of possible contenders included: Representatives Sam Rayburn, of Texas; William B. Bankhead and John McDuffie, of Alabama; Clifton Woodrum of Virginia, John McCormack, of Massachusetts, Lindsay Warren of North Carolina, and John E. Rankin, of Mississippi.

To prevent a race that might threaten the smooth functioning of the legislative New Deal, party leaders were expected to seek a compromise in an attempt to satisfy various elements.

One thing foreseen in some quarters is that northerners of the party

Christianity Too Soft For Modern Age, Spokesman Of Movement Says

By WALTER E. BROCKMANN (Associated Press Foreign Staff) BERLIN, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Nazi propaganda guns fired an anti-Christianity barrage today which caused grave apprehension in Roman Catholic and some Protestant circles.

Developments in the troubled church situation indicated fresh tension, despite Chancellor Hitler's acknowledgment of "positive Christianity" in a recent declaration at Hamburg.

Hitler Youth Leads Rebellion

Heading the developments was an appeal for abolition of Christianity, apparently inspired by Hitler youth leaders.

Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda added to the fears with a veiled threat against Catholics and a new church drive was announced by Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller which would "cover every city and county from autumn until spring."

Another indication of strife was the hesitancy of the German-Roman Catholic hierarchy to establish the status of a concordat between Vatican City and the nation.

BOBBY LUND SENT TO STATE SCHOOL

Elders Agree Institution Might Safeguard Boy's Future Career

Robert Lund, 13-year-old Florence boy, was taken to Salem Tuesday afternoon to be placed in the state school for feeble-minded. Bobby was committed Monday afternoon after a hearing which grew out of drowning last Tuesday of Stewart Gorski and Dean Coulter in Buck lake.

Attendees from the home took the boy into custody here, along with two boys caught here Monday night by city police after having escaped from the home.

Wire reports from Salem Tuesday told that a boy who gave the name of Robert Lund was picked up on the highway at Brooks, about 10 miles north of Salem on the Pacific highway, at 8:15 last Tuesday morning. The drownings were thought to have taken place at about 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The officer held the boy at Brooks when his manner of speech indicated that he might have escaped from a state institution. He was released when it was found that he had not been an inmate. The youth claimed Salem as his home.

KILLING IS AVOIDED

Inside Information Blamed For Success of Mob in Brooklyn

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Machine gun bandits today held up an armored truck, escaped with $427,000 in three speedy automobiles, and two of them abandoned one of their machines for a speedboat, heading out into upper New York bay toward New Jersey.

None of the stolen money was found in the abandoned car, a large sedan which was found 19 blocks from the scene of the holdup.

Money "Forward Passed"

Police advanced the theory that the money, tossed from the armored car into the bandit machines, had been transferred by the robbers into a smaller machine and that the two men who escaped in a boat headed for a rendezvous to take over the loot.

The holdup, coming shortly after mid-day, was one of the boldest and most quickly executed robberies in Brooklyn police annals.

Twelve Men, Eight Guns

Police said there were 12 men in the bandit gang and that they were armed with eight machine guns.

CARROLLTON, Ill., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Mrs. Henry T. Rainey, in mourning for her husband, the late speaker of the national house of representatives, has not yet given consideration to suggestions that she seek to succeed to her husband's congressional seat.

This was stated today by a close friend, who, however, was quick to point out that Mrs. Rainey had "not eliminated herself" and would "consider the question at the proper time."

Ancient Stomboli Pouring Out Lava

STROMBOLI ISLAND, Italy, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Held by two wharves, the Stomboli volcano, "the lightning of the Mediterranean," erupted today pouring hot lava down the fertile slopes of the huge mountain.

The eruption was clearly visible from Tropea of the mainland, 35 miles away. The eruption resembled that of September, 1930, when a serious lava flow destroyed a fortune in farms and vineyards on the island. No immediate damage was reported.

Chief of National Forest Service On Inspection Visit

F. A. Silcox, chief of the national forest department at Washington, D. C., was in Eugene for a brief stay Monday and in company with a number of officials from the regional office in Portland and Perry A. Thompson, supervisor of the Willamette forest, made a tour of the Deschutes forest Tuesday.

The party spent a few hours in the McKenzie section of the Willamette forest Monday afternoon and planned to cross the summit into the Deschutes to spend the night at Bend.

Included in the party from Portland were C. J. Buck, regional forester, F. H. Brandage, assistant regional forester, and Bruce Hoffman, inspector in the office of forest management.

Mr. Silcox is making a tour of the national forests of the west coast and is spending some time in Oregon and California.

Logging Camps Hit By Closing Orders

Fire Hazards Grow As East Wind Fans Willamette Forest

Humidity is low, the wind is from the east and extreme fire hazards exist in the forests of Oregon, was the warning sent out from the office of the Willamette national forest.

Extra lookouts were sent out to high peaks Tuesday to assist the regular field force in detecting forest fires and other men in reserve are held in readiness to respond at a moment's notice to a call to assist in quenching any fire that might break out, according to C. C. Olsen, assistant supervisor of the forest.

No fires have been reported in this forest the past few days of hot weather, but conditions now exist that a blaze would start at the least provocation, it was stated.

Persons on their vacations in the forest and those present for any other purpose are being earnestly asked to observe the strictest fire rules on account of the present extreme heat.
