"JAFSIE" HINTS AT MORE BREAKS IN FAMOUS CASE

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(U.P.)—Dr. John F. Condon, 74-year-old retired schoolmaster who as "Jafsie" passed the $50,000 Lindbergh ransom money to a man in St. Raymond's cemetery, today indicated that further startling developments may be expected soon.

Vague as to whether he had identified Bruno R. Hauptmann as the man who received the money, Dr. Condon said that more of the ransom money than the $13,750 already recovered could be found. He gave the impression that Hauptmann was just the beginning of the "big break" in the case.

After spending the night with police and federal officials Dr. Condon had a few hours rest and then got out of bed to see reporters.

Seated in an armchair on the porch of his Bronx home, the amiable educator showed plainly he was pleased with developments.

"I feel vindicated, but as a matter of fact I felt vindicated from the very beginning," he said. "Since I entered the case I have spent every day and every night seeking clues. What I got from officials yesterday was only soothing balm."

By this, Dr. Condon apparently meant he was confident that further developments would prove that in his role as "Jafsie," he negotiated with the actual abductors, and not with extortionists with no actual connection with the crime itself.

Dr. Condon said the stories that he had tossed the money over the cemetery wall were erroneous.

"I actually handed the money to the man," he explained. "He stepped up to a hedge and I got a clear view of him. He was crouching down. But it is not true that I did not see him."

Dr. Condon was asked whether he identified Hauptmann last night as the man who received the money.

"I never was positive" he answered.

"Did you say that if you ever heard the voice of the man who took the money, you would remember it?"

"If I heard the voice under the same circumstances I would know."

He said the man he rowed out to meet in a boat during his negotiations was not Hauptmann. He also explained that he had been approached at various times by women during his negotiations, but added that none of them resembled Mrs. Hauptmann.

the query, and it was repeated. He answered, "Yes."

"Who did you know in New York?" continued Sullivan.

"I didn't know anybody."

Says He's a Carpenter

"What is your business?" Sullivan asked.

"Carpenter."

"How long have you been a carpenter?"

"Since I've been here."

"Were you a carpenter over there (Germany)?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever work in Lakewood, N. J., as a carpenter?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever make windows?"

"No."

"Did you work in some big house over there (Lakewood)?"

"Small houses."

"How long were you in Jersey?"

"Lakewood in 1925."

Lived in New Jersey

"Did you live in Jersey then?"

"I live there."

"Where?"

"Near Lakewood."

"How long?"

"Two months."

"What other parts of Jersey did you work in?"

"Near Freehold, N. J."

"Who for?"

"For a friend building a frame house."

"Did you live there?"

"About a month."

"That's all—two houses in Jersey and you live there then," observed Sullivan and turned his line of questioning to the ransom money.

Says Friend Gave Him Money

"Where did you get all that money in your garage?"

"A friend gave me all his effects to take care of until he comes back from the other side."

"Is he coming back?"

"No, he died in Germany."

"Did you know it was money?"

"I didn't know it was money. I thought it was bills or anything. I never suspected it was money."

"When did you find out it was money?"

"Three weeks ago."

"How much did you spend?"

"$150."

"Have you worked since April, 1932?"

"Yes, on small contracts."

"Where?"

"O, so many."

"How many days?"

"Can't remember."

Hasn't Worked Since

"You told us yesterday you haven't worked since April, 1932?"

"Not steady."

"Were you living on the money?"

"Yes."

"When did you put it in the ground. What year?"

"I didn't put it in the ground," Hauptmann answered with a note of defiance.

"Who did?"

"No one. It was in the side wall of the garage."

"Who did that?"

"I."

"When?"

"Three weeks ago."

"How much did your friend give you?"

Friend Very Generous

Hauptmann's answer sounded something like "$40,000."

Inspector Sullivan, aroused, demanded to know what happened to all of that money.

Then Hauptmann said "$14,000."

"What other business have you been in?"

"Playing Wall street since 1930."

"How have you made out?"

"Sometimes successful; lately losing."

"How much have you lost?"

"Practically even."

Plays Stock Market

"What was the stock you bought?"

"American waterworks."

At this there was some confusion, Hauptmann's accent making his answer unclear. But he finally explained it.

"Did you purchase outright?"

"Sometimes yes, sometimes no."

"When it's sometimes no, how is it?"

"Margin."

"Have you any other business?"

"No."

"That's all," Sullivan said, but when Hauptmann turned to go Sullivan called him back with "just a minute."

Here's Strange Question

Hauptmann stepped back under the glare of the bright lights on the lineup platform.

"Did you ever deal in furs?" the inspector asked.

"My friend did."

"How long?"

"Since '30."

"How did you make out?"

"Successful."

"How successful?"

"Up to $10,000."

"Did you keep any books?"

"Yes."

"They don't show how you bought and sold. How do you account for that?"

Hauptmann then launched into an explanation which none of the detectives understood, and Sullivan ended it with the statement: "You kept no books."

"Were you in Hopewell, N. J., in 1932?"

"I was never in Hopewell."

"Do you know where it is?"

"No."

"You know what location it is in?"

"I know about it."

"And you've been there," Sullivan said.

"You owned an automobile in 1932?"

"Yes."

"How long have you owned an automobile?"

"Since 1931."

ALL ENDED!

That applies also to cities and counties."

Hauptmann's Wife Is Released; Cops Say She's Clear

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Police today released Mrs. Anna Hauptmann, blonde, blue-eyed wife of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, formally charged with the extortion of the $50,000 Lindbergh kidnaping ransom, from custody and declared that she had "absolutely" no connection with the case.

The woman was released this morning after a day and night of questioning by police and went immediately to her home at 1279 E. 222nd st., the Bronx, where police had found the part of the ransom money.

Asked directly if she had any connection with the case, Deputy Chief Inspector Henry E. Bruchman of the Bronx replied:

"Absolutely not."

Mrs. Hauptmann was accompanied by her nephew when she left the office of the district attorney of Bronx county this morning.

She was taken by police yesterday to the Greenwich street police station.

First knowledge she had been questioned by police was gained when she was taken to a restaurant across the street from the station by detectives for supper last night.

She was taken to the Bronx county district attorney's office last night with her husband and nephew, Hans Mueller, for further questioning.

She was married to Hauptmann about five years ago. They have a 10 months old son, Manfred.

Mrs. Victor Schussel, who lives in the same home with the Hauptmanns, said Mrs. Hauptmann frequently came to her to borrow a dollar for food and that the neighbors gossiped because Mrs. Hauptmann told them she had to account to her husband for every penny that she spent.

Other neighbors recalled that Hauptmann sent his wife, of German extraction like himself, to Germany in the late spring of 1932 to stay until September.

SLIGHT WEAKNESS NOTED IN BUTTER

PORTLAND, Sept. 21—(AP)—Trading in the butter market continued fairly steady although here and there was a note of weakness as a result of the recent erratic price trend here. Butterfat holds firm with continued good demand for ice cream and substitutes.

Trading in the egg market was firm locally for fresh arrivals, although there continued suggestions of weakness for storage stuff. The latter were becoming almost strong enough to stand alone.

Strength of the local cheese trade was suggested with some of the smaller operators asking a fractional advance from their previous low marks.

All live poultry was showing a good tone locally with ducks especially sought as a result of an acute shortage. Dressed turkeys retained their previous good demand and price.

Market for country killed hogs was a trifle easier with some slight carryover suggested toward the week-end. Veal, beef and lambs were inclined to show strength.

While local supplies of lettuce were increased although still quite short and high priced, a carload from Salinas, Calif., was reported due here. Local lettuce growers have been able to command a good profit up to this time.

There was another erratic swing of cantaloupe prices here during the last 24 hours with $1.50-1.75 generally obtainable for top quality, although reports suggest an even higher price for a few.

Potato market was a weak affair and price shading was suggested.

Grape markets were about steady but a trifle slow for both table and wine sorts.

Liverpool Market Depresses Wheat

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Dominated by sharp downturns of the Liverpool wheat market, Chicago wheat prices tended to sag the greater part of the time today.

A fall of 2½ cents a bushel for wheat was witnessed in Liverpool, and there was constant mention that Argentine wheat was about on a basis for import into this country. Toward the last, however, strength of the New York stock market served as something of a counterbalance.

in his office, expressed the view that "it was not a one-man job."

"This man is not a chiseler in this case." Sullivan said. "Things are developing rapidly, but I am not at liberty to talk. As the case now stands, if Hauptmann was not actually present at the time of the kidnaping, he had a hand in the machinery. It was NOT a one-man job. There are others in it."

Hauptmann was taken late today from the Bronx county jail to the office of Bronx District Attorney Samuel J. Foley for further questioning.

In Washington, Attorney General Cummings reiterated a previous statement that the handwriting of Hauptmann on his automobile driver's license application and that on the Lindbergh ransom notes were similar. The handwriting on the ransom notes and that on a note left on the baby's crib were said to be the same.

The ticket of officers to be submitted at the meeting consist of Mr. Stevenson, president; Carl Baker, vice-president; Percy Brown, treasurer; Frank Reid, Walter Ransom, Roy Morris and Clarence Simon for directors.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith suffered a slight heart attack today when he learned of the death of a close friend, the Rev. John H. Farley, of Washington, D. C., who died suddenly just before he was to have celebrated a requiem mass.

Smith recovered quickly and attended the mass, which was for Daniel F. Meenan, New York coal company official. After the mass the former governor accompanied the funeral cortege to the cemetery for the burial, and later in the day reported that he was "feeling fine."

ASTORIA, Ore., Sept. 21.—(AP)—William Mannila, city commissioner, was acquitted by a circuit court jury here late Thursday of a charge of driving while drunk.

Early Strike End Encourages Market

BOSTON, Sept. 21. —(AP)— The Commercial bulletin will say tomorrow:

"Business in wool has been well nigh the vanishing point the past week. Prices have shown little change but the market, of course, has not been strong. With the possibility of an early ending of the textile strike, however, the trade is a bit more hopeful.

"The foreign markets have been fairly steady on the whole during the week, London being evidently about on parity with Australia."

The Bulletin will publish the following quotations:

Scoured basis: Oregon, fine and F. M. staple 72-74; fine and F. M. Fr. combing 70-72; fine and F. M. clothing 62-65.

Mohair: Oregon, 40-43. Domestic graded: First combing 60-62; second combing, 50-55; good carding, 40-45; first kid, 75-78.

MARKET'S PRICES ON EGGS BOOSTED

Public market egg prices followed the Eugene market up one cent Friday morning. The new prices are 30 cents on fresh jumbos, 28 cents on fresh extras, and 26 cents on fresh mediums.

Shelled lima beans are on sale at many stalls at the market these days, being priced at 10 cents a pint. There still is a fair quantity of various kinds of string beans and shell beans in the pod. The latter all sell for 5 cents a pound.

Table queen squash may be obtained at a number of stalls, and are priced at 5 cents a piece, some of the smaller ones being three for 10 cents.

Mustard greens are being sold at the market regularly, also. The current quotation is two pounds for 15 cents.

A large supply of tomatoes is brought to the market every day. The price is 75 cents a bushel for No. 1's.

Saturday is expected to be a "big day" at the market, with melons, apples, squash and other fall vegetables becoming very plentiful, while many of the summer vegetables are still on.

RETAIL BUSINESS NEWS BETTER SO TRADE STEPS OUT

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(AP)—The stock market turned upward today and gains of [illegible] pound predominated after a rather slow first hour. While the merchandising issues led the advance, demand for other groups improved substantially. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 720,000 shares.

The list apparently reflected a better brand of retail business news and expectations that the textile walkout may be settled quickly. Freight carloadings for the week ended Sept. 17 showed a more than seasonal gain of 83,256 cars over the previous week.
