Dedication Planned

Mr. Hamlin announced that in connection with the annual New Year's outing of the club, it was planned to dedicate this area with a varied program of winter sports which would include ski races, jumping, games on skils and snowshoes, archery demonstrations and other sports of this nature.

He urged a big attendance to show the highway commission and the forest service that the people of Eugene appreciated the work being done and that many would take advantage of the opportunities thus offered.

Chester Smith, well-known archery enthusiast who has killed deer and cougar with bow and arrow, demonstrated the use of them and explained their possibilities.

A group of Obsidians, attired in skiing outfits and equipped with skils and ski-poles, attended as special guests, announcing their entrance with a barrage of imitation snow balls.

It was announced that next Wednesday members of the Eugene chamber would go to Albany where they would present a good-will program, returning a visit recently made by members of the Albany chamber.

Marjory Price and Marie Wald were outstanding guards on defense; while Martha Shackelford and Adelia Wojniak played steady at center.

Gideon Rogers was high point man with 15, while Maurice Stratton followed with 8. Stanley Wojniak and Maurice Stratton were outstanding for Mohawk, and Endicott played well for the Thurston quintet.

Laval Asks Hitler To Support Words

PARIS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Pierre Laval, in an address outlining the French foreign policy to the chamber of deputies, today called on Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler to support his peaceful words with "acts."

"Chancellor Hitler has announced his desire for peace," Laval said. "We ask him to translate into acts his words."

Flatly opposing bilateral pacts, the foreign minister declared "we have engaged in a policy of international collaboration. We do not intend to substitute for it any bilateral agreement."

RANGER DISCOVERS WOMAN'S SKELETON IN DOG LAKE AREA

KLAMATH FALLS, Nov. 30—(AP)—The Lake County Examiner today published a story describiny the discovery of a woman's skeleton i na remote section of the Dog Lake country.

The find was made by I. L. Bailey, a forest ranger.

Dog Lake is 80 miles east of Klamath Falls in Lakeo county.

The Examiner believed the bones were those of an unidentified woman sent west years ago by a matrimonial bureau.

The skeleton was carefully covered by mahogany brush. Scraps of newspapers, the Examiner said, were found with the bones and placed the time of death within 25 or 30 years. State police had prefiously said the bones were at least 75 years old.

The small bone sof an unborn child were found with those of the woman.

The article said the Dog Lake country was known a sa moonshiners' headquarters as recently as 12 years ago.

The Examiner learned that years ago there was a moonshiner's camp in the vicinity and that the moonshiner sent east for two brides. The paper's informant said he had seen them but that the moonshiner left the country alone. The name of the alleged moonshiner was apparently forgotten.

One of the woman's legs was broken but there were no other visible marks of violence. Authorities believed death might have been caused by exposure. They also believed it possible the victim might have been choked or beaten to death or shot in such a manner the bullet fractured no bones.

Consumer Demand Broadening, Says Business Review

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Distributors of merchandise was at a slower pace the last week, said the weekly Dun & Bradstreet Trade Review, mainly as a result of unseasonable warm weather.

"The gain reported for retail sales a week earlier," asserted the summary, "were narrowed substantially in some parts of the country, but consumer demand still is broadening, in spite of the prolonged rainy spell.

"Stability undoubtedly has reached firmer ground and nearly all factors are contributing to business recovery, but there still pvsists too much unsettlement in many directions to permit indulgence in any rampant ethusiasm regarding an accelerated rate of progress during the remainder of the year.

"There were more upward curves in the industrial indices this week, some of which have reached the best position this fall."

TRAFFIC CASES STORY

that McCormick, unfamiliar with the car he was driving, had trouble in getting the lights turned on due to the fact the switch did not work properly. He was thus driving with one hand while working with the switch. The additional claims that the car was old, the steering gear being in poor condition and the fact that the defendant had rheumatism in his left arm were given as explanations for the erratic course taken by the car.

In answer to the officers charge the defendant, testifying in his own behalf, stated the only explanation of this he could give was the fact that he was accustomed to walking on plowed ground and generally uneven ground in the country and was not used to concrete sidewalks.

Defense testimony was to the effect that McCormick, together with others of his party, had gone to a beer parlor and had taken four or five small glasses of beer together with a lunch and that they had had nothing else to drink. The strong smell testified to by officers was explained by defense witnesses as being bay rum which the defendant had put on his head just before coming to town.

Several defense witnesses were called to testify that McCormick had not taken anything but beer, was not intoxicated at the time of his arrest and that his general reputation for sobriety and obedience of laws was excellent.

Members of the police court jury hearing the case were J. H. Hobbs, Frank Gilstrap, Frances Tiffany, Josephine Burnett, Ruth Ellmaker and Mrs. R. T. Burnett.

Distilleries Will Use Cull Fruits

HOOD RIVER, Ore., Nov. 30.—(AP)—In another year much of the cull fruit of the mid-Columbia region will be utilized in distilleries.

A group of Hood River men has placed orders for $50,000 worth of distillery equipment, and another group at Bingen, Wash., across the Columbia river from here, is preparing to start a distillery in time to utilize cull fruit next summer. A third group plans a distillery for The Dalles.

The Hood River and Bingen liquor plants propose to use large quantities of cull winter pears for making pear brandy. Much of the cull fruit in past years has been a total waste.

In his report Hirota did not include Japan's preparations to denounce the Washington naval treaty.

Relations Held Better

"Our delegates are continuing their efforts toward realization of our plan based on the above policy and at the same time toward conclusion of a new and reasonable treaty," he asserted.

"It is to be hoped that Great Britain, the United States and other powers concerned will see the equity and justtice of our claim and that a new naval pact will be brought into being to insure and promote world peace."

The foreign minister said "I am very pleased to say that on the whole our relations with the various countries of Europe, America, and with China, have grown increasingly cordial because a better understanding now prevails among the powers regarding Japan's position in East Asia.

"The healthy development of our ally, Manchoukuo, is a matter wherein we are vitally concerned. We rejoice that the new state has since made rapid strides in every branch of national administration and laid a lasting foundation for the country by establishment of the imperial regime."

Relations between Japan and Russia, Hirota told the diet, have shown, "some improvement since my last report upon the subject."
