"A" League Basketball Season To Open At McArthur Court Tonight

UNIVERSITY HIGH, ROSEBURG TO PLAY STARTER AT IGLOO

The "A" league basketball season will tee off at the Igloo tonight, with University high of Eugene meeting Roseburg high at 7:30 in the first local tilt of the season. Following the high school game, the Oregon Webfoots will play a practice game with the Irish's independent quintet.

The high school encounter will be of paramount interest to Eugene fans, however, and will serve as an indicator of what the season's success will be for Eugene clubs. Although University high failed to look impressive in beating Coburg and losing to Franklin, Jean Eberhart, coach of the locals, believes they will make a better showing against the Indians, and is hopeful for victory.

Roseburg Said Strong

Roseburg is rumored to have a powerful quintet this year, under the direction of Paul Warren, whose junior high quintets have been unusually successful during the past few years. Warren took over the high school team this season, and will make a strong bid.

The Scherner brothers, Fred and Bill, C. Collins, kid brother of the Collins who made life miserable for local fives some seasons ago, Campbell and Short complete tbhe starting lineup. All are capable ball players, and should prove dangerous.

Last for Ducks

Eberhart has announced a tentative starting lineup, listing Paul Muller, junior high sensation, at one forward, and Louie Bean at the other. Williams, big transfer, will start at center, with Marion Mann and Rex Soward at guards.

Players certain to see action include Booth, Igoe, Ed O'Reilly and one or two others. The Oregon-Irish game, following the high school tilt, will be the last appearance of the Duck five here until after the first of the year. Reinhart has not announced his starting lineup, but it is believed the usual first five combination will open the game. Irish's will have Eberhart, Danner, Fornecrook, Calkins, Gordon Wright, Rubenstein and Purdy from which to select a team. The Irish five plays Ashland Normal Saturday night there.

HIGHCLIMBER talks 'em over

By RICHARD JOHNSTON

Fans who recall Buddy Baer, Maxie's "little brother," who was here with the champ, will be interested in the following quotation from Harry Grayson's syndicated NEA sports column:

It is with a feeling of apprehension that one scans Buddy Baer's record and bookings for the immediate future.

There is no doubt that the younger and larger Baer's activities gradually are revealing the 1934-'35 membership of the Amalgamated Order of Resined Round Heels, yet to date the list does not include an old familiar name.

Tiny Abbott, Max Brown, Jack Petric, Gene Garner, Frank Ketter, Johnny Baker, Red Fields, Mickey McGoorty, Bob Cook, Jack Cerosky, Henry Surrette, and Gene Stanton—who ever heard of them?

It is to be hoped that Pop Hoffman merely has decided that the baby Baer is not yet ready for big league set-ups.

Personally, I'll wait until I read it in the Police Gazette before I'll believe that the collapsible corps uncovered by Primo Carnera on his Great America Sucker Tours of 1930 and '31 has vanished altogether. With several holdovers from the Dempsey era as a nucleus, Primo assembled the finest collection of fallers that ever rocked on their heels at one time.

It really is a shame if such famous folder-uppers as Big Boy Peterson, Elizar Rioux, Cowboy Bill Owens, Man Mountain Erickson, Farmer Lodge, Jack McAuliffe II, K. O. Christner, George Cook, Pat Redmond, and Knute Hansen have disappeared from the ring forever.

Surely, one or two of them will bob up on their heels again, and show the Johnny-Come-Lately's now jack-knifing before young Baer how to do the swan, the one-and-a-half, or what have you as it should be executed.

There is no question that boxing has gone 'way back, and the art of inhaling slag has disappeared with feinting and knock-out wallops. This was made quite clear to me in Cleveland the other night, when young Baer put a lily in the hand of McGoorty with a dirty look and a vicious swing to the shoulder blade.

As a faller, McGoorty doesn't even know how to get to one knee.

How the newer customers would have enjoyed some of the old-time fallers, such as Bill Squires, Bombardier Wells, Joe Beckett, Fred Fulton, Lodge, and Quentin Romero Rojas.

HANDICAP TOURNEY BILLED FOR SUNDAY

The last of the regular Sunday handicap golf tournaments will take place at the Laurelwood club next Sunday, Bill Goodwin, who is in charge, announced.

Eleven prizes will be donated, the first three being given by the Laurelwood club. Other donors of prizes are C. L. Sutton, Penny-wise Drug store, Safeway stores, McDonald theatre, and Riggs service station. About 45 entrants are expected.

For the past year these tournaments have proved to be one of the features of Eugene's golf affairs. Although many excellent players have entered, and sensational scores posted, the handicaps are designed to give every player a chance in the tourney. According to the managers of the club, next Sunday's play should be the best of the year, and a cordial invitation is extended to all Eugene divoteers.

Grove Ring, Court News of the Week

COTTAGE GROVE, Dec. 21.—(Special)—Cottage Grove basketball team defeated the Drain team in a game at the high school gymnasium in a score of 20 to 24. An extra quarter was played. The local team will play their first conference game with the Lebanon team Friday evening.

Following are the results of a boxing and wrestling card at the armory Wednesday evening at a benefit smoker sponsored by the South Lane Game Protective league: Tex Hager, Cresswell, Max Lake, Springfield, draw. Glen Swanson, Cottage Grove, Bill Avery, Eugene, draw; one fall each. Warren Wright, Gunter CCC, Kenneth Moison, Elmira, decision for Wright. Paul Sullivan and Fat Kerr, both Cottage Grove, draw. Norman McKeel, Black Butte; Kid Avery, Eugene; technical decision for McKeel.

TIE IS PLAYED

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 21.—(U.P.)—Portland Buckaroos and the Calgary Consols fought a 4 to 4 overtime tie in a thrilling northwestern hockey league game at the Coliseum last night. Neither team could score in the extra 10 minutes.

GOLF MEET SLATED

A sweepstakes golf tourney will be held at Oakway Sunday, Dec. 23. Play will start between 9:30 and 10 a. m., and it will be an eighteen holes handicap event, with a moderate entry fee.

Zimmerman Leads California Golfing Tournament Fight

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 21.—(U.P.)—Emory Zimmerman, Portland, Ore., gave the second half of the field a brilliant mark to shoot at today by posting a 69 in the opening qualifying round of the $4,000 Pasadena open golf tournament.

Zimmerman cut two strokes from par to lead the first half of the field home yesterday. Crowding his heels were Dick Metz of Chicago, Ray Mangrum of Los Angeles, and Harold McSpaden of Kansas City, all with 70, one under par.

Walter Hagen and Horton Smith headlined the contenders who drove their initial tee shots today. The field will converge Saturday for 18 holes and the 36 hole finals will be played Sunday.

Other scores in yesterday's qualifying round included:

73—Ted Longworth, Portland, Ore.

75—Dr. Cliff Baker, Vancouver, Wash. and Al Zimmerman, Portland, Ore.

SHOOT IS PLANNED

A turkey shoot is planned by the McKenzie Gateway Rod and Gun club for Sunday at the Springfield airport. A new automatic trap has been installed, and the shoot will begin at 10 a. m.

THOR THUNDERS TO VICTORY OVER DEL KUNKLE THURSDAY

"Hail to the Chief Who In Triumph Advances, Honored and Blessed Be the—" Or cursed, depending on the individual sympathies of a near-record crowd which packed the Eugene armory Thursday night to see Thor Jensen, the Elkton Thunderbolt, regain his crown as kingpin grappler of the northwest by defeating Dynamite Del Kunkle in the main event of Herb Owens mat card.

He was the Thunderbolt of old last night as he raged about the ring, stamping on Kunkle's toes, taking a terrific beating about the head, but coming back for more, and finally reversing the Salt Lake flash's own finisher to win the third and deciding fall.

Jensen Villain Again

Jensen, who left here in the midst of a heat-wave of popularity, was greeted with cheers when he first entered the ring, but five minutes after the bout was underway Thor had regained his old status, as one of the best drawing cards but most hated wrestlers in the ring.

As he was befitting a returning man of might, Promoter Owen had lined up an all-star supporting card, and one of the matches, the Cazzell-Heibert go, would have stolen the show from anyone but the Douglas County taxpayer. Cazzell tossed Heibert two straight, and in doing so became the first man in Lane county history ever to break the Heibert special in the middle of the ring, without recourse to fisticuffs or other illegitimate tactics.

Semi-Windup Good

Otis Clingman defeated Duke Rupenthal, two out of three falls, in the semi-windup, a beautifully wrestled match without a single illegal tatic, and with two new holds introduced.

Pug Ryan overcame Hughie Adams and his whiskers to win the curtain raiser, a one fall go, in 10 minutes with a Boston Crab.

The main event got off to a cautious start, and it was obvious that neither grappler had much knowledge of the other's style. After several minutes of perfectly clean wrestling, Jensen cut loose with his toe-stomps and fistic attack, and subdued the conqueror of Jack Reynolds in just 14 minutes, rolling him into a Boston Crab to win the first fall.

Kunkle came back with fists flying, and combining a vicious wallaping with several somersaults mowed Thor down in 10 minutes, pinning him with three cobweb dusting Australian piledrivers.

Thor Reverses Piledriver

It looked like the beginning of the end in the third fall when Kunkle, after 11 minutes of battling, boosted Thor again in the piledriver. Jensen whammed into the mat twice, and the third time Del lifted him wound his legs around the Salt Lake sensation and reversed him, landing squarely atop for the third and winning fall.

In the semi-windup, Clingman took the first fall with a gruelling Japanese arm breaker, only to have Rupenthal even it a few minutes later with a flying scissors after a flip off the ropes. Otis took the third with a series of reverse chinlocks in 10 minutes.

Cazzell won two straight from Heibert, the first in 10 minutes with an airplane spin, the second in 10 minutes with a slam, after cracking the special.

Bellfountain News

BELLFOUNTAIN, Dec. 21—(Special)—Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Bain left Thursday for Oakland, Cal., where they will spend the holidays visiting with their son, Darrel Bain, and Mrs. Bain's sister, Mrs. Charles Lyons, and family. Darrel has been in California for several months and is in the employ of his uncle, Mr. Lyons, who is a contractor and builder. Darrel is also a member of the "Nevada Nightherders" who broadcast regularly over the radio from Oakland.

Gragg brothers lost a dozen or more of their sheep recently. Two dogs caused the loss, killing some and chasing others into the creek. One of the dogs was killed and the other is to be disposed of soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Garth Richard are staying at the home of Mrs. Richard's parent's, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Bain, during their absence, doing the janitor work at the school house and caring for Mr. Bain's cow.

Mr. Clarence Collins who was seriously ill at her home west of Bellfountain, is reported to be much improved, and is able to be up again.

R. V. Woodcock, who has been in the Corvallis hospital for several weeks convalescing from a hernia operation, was dismissed from the hospital Monday afternoon and has returned to his home here in Bellfountain.

Recall Columbia? Well, Hank's Picking 'Em Again

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(U.P.)—Alabama's Red Elephants or Crimson Tiders today rolled west toward Pasadena where, on New Year's day, they engage the Standford Cardinals or Indians in a football game dedicated to Rose petals, box office receipts and the Chamber of Commerce.

I, the Cherry Sisters of football selectors, have been asked by a constituent (A Mr. Constant Reader of Reading) to name the winner. I fulfilled a similar request last year and came within an eyelash of being right. I was only one team and one touchdown off. I named Stanford and Columbia won, 7 to 0, so you can see for yourself how close I came to being hailed as a guy who knows.

I'm liable to succeed this time, for I'm not handicapped as I was last year. I had seen Columbia play before I made my pick last year, and very foolishly attempted to make a choice based on my football knowledge. A little knowledge, as Dr. Dafoe said only the other day, is a dangerous thing, and it proved my downfall. In picking Stanford to whip Columbia, I took into consideration all the things a football expert is supposed to—age, weight, height, experience, middle names and favorite movie star of the players.

I weighed the perils of cross-country travel, and the extent to which strange pillows and beds would upset the Columbias. I studied charts to see the reaction of teams to a change in drinking water, in danish pastry, in laundries. I found a sound reaction. One team, I found, was so upset by strange water that the players refused to drink a drop of water except as a chaser.

This year I am not bothered by any such delicatessen of facts, for I haven't seen either team play and haven't seen them in years. I don't know if Stanford uses a balanced, unbalanced or party line. I don't know whether Alabama's offense calls for a roving center or a floating kidney, wing-back or a canvasback. I couldn't tell you if Stanford's big scoring play is the Statue of Liberty or the Lincoln Memorial. Nor could I tell you whether Stanford's line charges low, high or pays cash.

So, without handicap of facts, I pick Alabama to win in the Rose Bowl. Don't ask me why, because I don't know. I just pick 'em that's all. I've searched my head, cerebellum to mantelpiece, for a sensible answer, and the only one I can find is that I used to go with a honey from Birmingham, which is nearer to Tuscaloosa than Palo Alto.

But then, that's no answer, for Mr. Hoover is closer to Palo Alto than Tuscaloosa is to the honey I used to go with from Birmingham, and besides, it's liable to rain the day of the game which would necessitate—aw nuts! I pick Alabama and I suppose I'll get stuck with it.

Neilson, A. P.; Lola I. Morgan, secretary; Catherine Bassford, treasurer; Mae E. Grove, cond.; Erma L. Bassford, associate cond. Officers will be installed at the first January meeting. Vesta chapter has added twelve members this last year, the last three being Mrs. Blanche Foss, Mrs. Ella Waite, Mrs. Margie Knowles. The chapter meets at Florence but quite a few members live at Mapleton.

Mrs. Wm. Lowney of Ten Mile motored to Mapleton Monday with Geo. and Tom Beers. Mrs. Lowney visited old friends here and returned home Tuesday.

Rev. C. P. Gates of Portland was here last Wednesday evening, at which time he presided over the quarterly conference, received reports from various officers of the church, gave a short sermon, and offered suggestions for improving the church and its organization.

At the 4-H club sale a week ago the girls cleared $23.76 and the boys approximately $20. The money is to be used to send representatives to the 4-H summer school at Corvallis.

The Ten Mile school is putting on an entertainment next Friday afternoon. Miss Florence Dunlop, teacher, will be in charge.

The Indian Creek (Beers) school is giving an entertainment Friday evening, with Lulu Burt, teacher, in charge.

The committees appointed by Walter Huntington, president of the Mapleton Community club, to arrange for the annual community Christmas tree and entertainment met at the high school Monday evening and gave reports to Mr. Huntington. The committees are as follows: program, Peter S. Rice, Bernard Senn, Mrs. K. Wishart; finance, E. S. Kirby, Mrs. Nettie Whitlocker, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Bernhardt; purchasing, R. W. Johnson; decorating, Harold Addison; clean-up, Chris Wilde and the high school boys; Santa Claus, C. C. Beck; filling candy sacks, Rebekahs.

The Siuslaw chorus met Monday night in the high school for a final practice on their Christmas music, forThe chorus will furnish two numbers for the community program. It was decided not to meet again until the first Monday after New Year's day.

The bridge across the Siuslaw at Mapleton will be passable by next week. The fill on the Mapleton side of the river is being made now.

The Hoeflin family has moved to Point Terrace.

Miss Alma Camp, who has spent some weeks here visiting at the home of Mrs. Saunders, her grandmother, returned last week to her home at Donna, a few miles from Marcola.

Donald Johnson and Everett Doster drove to Deadwood last Thursday evening. They returned the same night.

Edgar Loomis and R. Reid, who are spending the winter on Smith river, were in town last week to get supplies.

A large crowd attended the entertainment and dance held at Pt. Terrace Community club hall last Saturday night. Quite a number of Mapleton people went down.

Mrs. Nancy Simpkins returned Sunday from Chehalis, Wash., where she visited her daughter, Mrs. Conn, who was badly hurt in a recent car wreck. She is improving now, Mrs. Simpkins reports.

Louis Ringering and family have gone to Portland.

F. Maddock, Earl Miller, Mary Miller and Theodore Ringering went to Salem last week to look at a ranch near there. On their return, they said that the ranch was not satisfactory.

Monday night the Mapleton Pirates played the local CCC camp a game of basketball in the high school gym. The 3-C'c were victorious with the final score 18-12 in their favor.

High school principal and boys coach, C. T. Wilde, wishes to correct the error printed in the Mapleton news in the Dec. 12 Guard. The Mapleton first string boys lost to the Florence first string 21-27 in the first conference game at Florence, Dec. 7. Mapleton high school boys were defeated at their gym Dec. 8 by the championship team of Gardiner high with a score of 20-39. The game was very fast and clean. A large host of spectators, many of them from Gardiner, attended.

In the second game Coach C. T. Wilde's boys won 9-8 in a very close game with Coach Cork's boys of Gardiner.

The local "Pirates" team, managed by Verne Whittacker, lost to the Gardiner town team 20-25.

Mr. Warner of Gardiner and Herb Robinson of Mapleton officiated. A return group of games will be played at Gardiner, Dec. 21. Gardiner high boys have been Douglas county champions during the years of 1933-34.

GIANTS BIG BUST OF '34, SAYS UP

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(U.P.)—The New York Giants and Primo Carnera were the outstanding flops of 1934.

The Giants were so rated because of their collapsein the stretch of the National league pennant race. Carnera attained similar listing for his losing title defense against Max Baer.

Of 309 sports editors who voted on team failures in a United Press poll more than half tossed their ballots to the Giants, who lost a seven game lead of Sept. 7 and staggered to the finish behind the St. Louis Cardinals.

Because of several split ballots, the count for the Giants was 167½, an overwhelming majority. The Davis Cup tennis team's failure against Great Britain at Wimbledon was second, with 40 votes.

Carnera's victory in winning the individual accordian act title, was somewhat closer than the fight that earned him top rating among the flops. By the margin of 11½ votes he nosed in first, ahead of Schoolboy Rowe, Detroit pitcher.

The Schoolboy's heavy vote was in recognition of his failure as a world series pitcher.

A total of 200 votes were cast by editors, and Carnera received 70 against 68½ for the Schoolboy. Lefty Grove, $100,000 Boston pitching vust, was third with 48½.

The Greenland hare can travel on its hind legs like a kangaroo. It has been observed to travel for distances of 100 yards, hopping solely on the hind legs, six to eight feet at each jump. The hare prefers to run uphill instead of down, when frightened.

Biff Jones Is Offered Job At Oklahoma

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 21.—(U.P.)—Captain Lawrence A. (Biff) Jones, resigned football coach at Louisiana State university, has been offered the position of head coach at the University of Oklahoma.

The offer climaxed changing sentiment at the university here on the question whether Lewie Hardage and Bo Rowland, coaches for the last three years, should be retained for 1935. They had a bad 1934 season.

A representative of the university of athletic council offered the coaching job to Jones by telephone late yesterday but no announcement was made as to what Jones said.

Christmas Program Is Sunday Evening

SPRINGFIELD, Dec. 21.—(Special)—A special Sunday night program dedicated to Christmas will be presented at the Christian church Sunday night.
