difference that might have existed and result in the final approval by the state group.

The local plan is substantially in accordance with the state committee's program, the only variation being that the doctors and dentists under the project are not to handle hospitalization of relief patients.

A protest against SERRA medical relief cases being handled through the present county set-up has been lodged by the United Workers, represented by Harry H. Johnson, chairman.

Johnson points to the rules set down on page 5 of the bulletin, which state that orders for medicine, medical supplies and medical attendance be furnished in the home.

Earl M. Drew, county manager of the SERRA, reported that he was in Portland Tuesday conferring with the state committee members regarding the Eugene airport project and he reported that additional funds will be necessary to carry it to completion.

Mr. Drew reported that the state committee had approved the project for a general timekeeper for all the school projects and one for a project in the relief office to compile new master cards. This will require four clerks. As addenda to the Turner creek-Knowles creek road survey project was also approved.

The Lane county relief committee has 500 cans of salmon that it cannot use and a letter was read by Mr. Drew from the group, asking the Lane county committee to trade some of its canned goods for the salmon. Lane county has canned pears and plans will be made for the exchange.

Mr. Drew reported that a requisition for 50 mattresses and 100 comforters made at the Eugene SERRA mattress factory had been received from Medford and that the factory will probably continue operations until the latter part of February or March.

The balance on hand from the state liquor fund for relief in Lane county was reported as being $3,547.26.

ROUGH PRISONER STORY

At about 1:45 Wednesday morning, the fire department was called to put out a fire burning about the door of the city jail. Clark, taken from the building, denied he had set the fire, saying that it started around the flue.

The flue and the stove are well back from the door and the fire was around the door. He was transferred to the county jail for the night.

A threat of legal action if necessary to secure relief from the shouts of prisoners and frequent fires in the jail was made Wednesday by Marvin T. Warlick, manager of the Eugene hospital. The fire department, he said, drove a truck in between the hospital and the city hall, the noise of its siren and the shouts of the prisoner waking many patients, some of them quite ill.

Recorder Calvin M. Bryan and City Attorney E. M. Calkins, who referred him to the health board as the group empowered to act in such matters.

Mr. Warlick said Wednesday that it was his intention to carry the matter through until disposal is made of the jail problem. Noise from prisoners in the jail is a common disturbance for patients he said, and coupled with the frequent fires in the structures, constitutes a real menace to health.

The matter had not reached the health board late Wednesday afternoon.

U-O LIBRARY STORY

New Drive is Started When the PWA opened up under President Roosevelt, renewed efforts for the library were begun. On Nov. 11, 1933, the date of the Oregon-Oregon State game in Portland, the PWA board in a meeting in Portland approved the listing of the library project. The project then was forwarded to Washington, D. C. It was up at the top of the list for projects from this district but for a time funds were not available.

More recently, a legal phase entered the picture. Dean James H. Gilbert, another who has worked unceasingly to get the project approved, points out that the PWA apparently was not familiar with the state legislative act giving certain rights to the Oregon state board of higher education to levy fees, also, to issue bonds. Dean Wayne L. Morse of the campus law school while in Washington recently attended the national crime conference and was granted an interview with the legal division, through the efforts of Mrs. Cornelia Pierce, member of the state board of education, and the project then was again placed on the approved list. Senator Steiwer recently sent word that the project was on the approved list to be considered at any time for appropriations.

Everybody is Happy Jubilant expressions were coming from everywhere, Wednesday, as news spread among faculty, alumni and students that the project had been approved.

Many from Portland sent messages of congratulation. Burt Brown, B.A. university vice-president, and one of the most tireless workers in getting the project on the approved list, declared there was "great rejoicing" in Portland. He returned to Portland late Tuesday after a visit on the campus here.

Undoubtedly, there will be some revision in the plans for the building, because of the advance in building costs, university officials pointed out, Wednesday. The general committee on the project, however, is to be consulted immediately to start final plans for the building.

The university has been cramped for years for proper library facilities. At present, approximately 250,000 volumes are scattered about the campus, since several annexes have been necessary to hold the many books, periodicals, newspapers, and priceless collections. In order to accommodate the needs of the library system, the reserve section for students had to be established in Condon hall, intended originally to be for all sciences, newspapers and other volumes had to be stored in the basement of Friendly hall, and the valuable library of the law school crowded into inadequate quarters.

The new structure will embody all the most up-to-date ideas in libraries, according to M. H. Douglass, university librarian. It was designed by Dean Ellis F. Lawrence, head of the campus school of architecture and allied arts.

Dr. C. V. Boyer, university president, points out that the new structure allows better use of campus buildings. The old library building can be used to house the law school library.

The loan and grant to the state board of higher education was for construction of a three story fire-proof library at University of Oregon. The approximate cost of labor and materials is $338,000, of which 30 per cent will be a grant. The balance of the loan will be secured by a deed of the site and a lease with an optional payment contract. Construction will require 18 months and give 90 men employment.

FUNERAL THURSDAY The funeral of Frank Mason will be held Thursday at 1:30 at the Branstetter-Thorn chapel. Interment will be in the Greenwood cemetery.

Upside Down Cake With Canned Fruit Canned fruit is usually served with cake or cookies. Therefore to use any canned fruit combined with your favorite plain cake recipe in an upside down cake is an attractive and popular variation.

Melt 1/2 cup butter in a large skillet. Stir into this 1 cup brown sugar and spread evenly. Place a layer of drained canned fruit on this and pour over all the cake batter. One or more kinds of fruit may be used as apricots with halved prunes or pieces of sliced pineapple. Pears with small bits of candied ginger and canned apples, peaches with blanched almonds. Do not use walnuts with any combination. A gingerbread batter is especially nice with pears and sliced apple.

Plain sponge cake batter is very satisfactory. 3 eggs 1/2 cup sugar 1/4 cup boiling water 1 1/2 cups flour 1/4 teaspoon salt 1 teaspoon baking powder 1 T. lemon juice

Beat whites, add sugar. Beat yolks, add water and combine. Add dry ingredients all at once and combine by folding. Bake at 300 degrees F. for 1 hour. Turn upside down on platter 10 minutes after removing from oven, serve with cream.—Mrs. F. N. Miller, 2086 Potter St., Eugene.

Home-made Maraschino Cherries Drain 1 cup canned, pitted Royal Ann cherries. Place in saucepan with 1 cup sugar, 1/4 cup water, few drops red coloring. Place on back of range and simmer gently until syrup is absorbed (several hours).—Mrs. S. F. Olson, Eugene.

Illinois Farmers Round Up Killers

LA SALLE, Ill., Jan. 16.—(AP)—A running gun fight through three counties ended today with the capture of three bank robbers and the suicide of a fourth. Before they were rounded up the robbers had killed two men, a sheriff and a bank cashier, and wounded two others.

A 15-year-old boy hostage of the robbers was freed unharmed. The robbers, who fled after an unsuccessful attempt to rob the Leonore State bank, were surrounded and captured in a field near McNabb, by a force of state, county and city police. They were taken to jail at Ottawa, Illinois.

Slain by the bandits were Charles Bundy, 54, bank cashier, and Sheriff Glenn Axline of Marshall county, who led his deputies against the robbers in their final stand in a field near McNabb, in Putnam county. The men wounded by the robbers were Deputy Sheriff Brown of Marshall county and Charles Feip, a member of the La Salle county board of supervisors.

O. S. C. Gets Money To Remodel Halls PORTLAND, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Allotment of $18,000 for additional building construction and repairing at Oregon State college was announced by the state emergency relief administration today. A large part of the money will be used for remodeling of Kildler hall.

Other relief work approved today included general county road improvement in Klamath county, sub-grade work and surfacing on Washburn Way, Klamath county, and a municipal inventory, mapping and indexing survey at Astoria.

CONFESSION OPENS "WILD MAN" TRIAL

GRANTS PASS, Ore., Jan. 16.—(AP)—A confession made and signed by Hugo Mayer, "Wild Man of Indigo Creek," was introduced into Mayer's trial on charges of the murder of his nearest neighbor, Robert Fanta, in circuit court here today.

"I told him to stop and when he didn't I killed him," the confession said according to the reading of it by State Trooper Guy Forsythe, who with Sheriff Smith of Curry county, arrested Mayer in his lonely cabin in the Upper Illinois river country.

District Attorney Sherman Smith also read a long letter found in Mayer's cabin, assertedly written by the hermit and addressed to a man named Allen at Creswell. The letter described attempts by Mayer's enemies to have him killed and his own plans to forestall the attempt. Smith said the letter was introduced to show premeditation.

The case is being tried before a jury of 12 men on a technical plea of not guilty entered by Mayer's counsel, W. T. Miller of Grants Pass and Robert G. Clostermann, German consul for Oregon, appearing for Mayer because of his German citizenship which he never relinquished, although he lived the life of a hermit on the lower Rogue for more than a quarter of a century.

When the indictment was read to the "Wild Man" Tuesday, he answered: "Yes, I killed him."

His attorneys interposed at that moment and directed that a plea of not guilty be entered.

WORLD COURT STORY

Text of Message The text of the president's message: "To the senate: "A movement to make international justice practicable and serviceable is not subject to partisan considerations. For years, republican and democratic administrations and party platforms alike have advocated a court of justice to which nations might voluntarily bring their disputes for judicial decisions.

"To give concrete realization to this obviously is sound and thoroughly American policy.

"I hope that at an early date the senate will advise and consent to the adherence by the United States to the protocol of signature of the statute of the permanent court of international justice dated September 14, 1929, all of which were submitted to the senate December 10, 1930.

"I urge that the senate's consent be given in such form as not to defeat or to delay the objective of adherence.

"The sovereignty of the United States will be in no way diminished or jeopardized by such action.

"At this period in the international relationships, when every act is of moment to the future of world peace, the United States has an opportunity once more to throw its weight into the scale in favor of peace."
