BOBBY ROWE WILL BRING RACERS HERE SUNDAY, JUNE 16

Daredevils of the Pacific coast auto racing clan will go into action on Eugene's Lane county fairground track Sunday, June 16, it was announced today by Bobby Rowe, Portland sports promoter. The speedway race will appear in a complete program of events, Rowe stated.

Included in the list of pilots Rowe plans to have in action are: Mel Kenney, sensation of the Seattle and Portland meets this season; Woolly

Woodford, 1934 champion of the northwest; Louis Webb, Oakland ace; Steve Schlinger and Jimmy Wilburn, Seattle stars, and Portland's spectacular pair of speedsters, Armand Miller and Roy Eranstrom. In addition will be many more from Oregon, Washington and California.

The entry list will include all of the drivers competing in Seattle and Portland for points toward the 1935 championship and the meet will be the first held in an Oregon city outside of Portland this season, Rowe announced.

It takes eight gallons of special oil to give each of the elephants in the London Zoo its annual "beauty bath."
