Unhappiness of reports of Sino-Japanese tension was probably here in an effort to hold down public uneasiness.

RETIREMENT PLAN OF MRS. FLETCHER

It was located in what is today the City hall building.

One of Mrs. Fletcher's happiest experiences each day is to walk down the street and greet hundreds of her former students. Some of those students of hers are now members of the high school faculty, and scores of others are prominent in the business and professional life of Eugene and other communities throughout the nation.

An unusually large number of young people read exceptionally well, Mrs. Fletcher stated. She said she would always treasure "a little part" in helping young people to become interested in good reading.

The growth of the high school library has been largely due to the very fine cooperation of friends and patrons of the school and of the faculty and students of the school, she said. "All departments always have done much to further the interests of the library," Mrs. Fletcher stated.

"We worked for several years to get our library desk. We sold ice-cream at the Hi-Jinks. We did all sorts of things to make money. Finally, the girls doing library work decided the matter had to be settled. They took old football tickets, pasted them together, tied them with string, and sold them to the students for ten cents a piece. They made more than 27 dollars and we obtained our desk," Mrs. Fletcher recalled. The art department, the manual training or industrial arts department, and others helped in beautifying the library, she added.

Mrs. Fletcher has been in Eugene since 1908. She and her husband, the late Dr. Elmer Fletcher, physician, came west from Wisconsin because of Dr. Fletcher's health. Following his death, Mrs. Fletcher was left with four sons to rear. She had done teaching before, so turned to that

field. She had graduated from the Cooper Academy in Ohio, a school corresponding to Junior college. Mrs. Fletcher went to the University of Oregon for two years to finish here in 1914. She joined the high school faculty in the fall of 1914. Mrs. Fletcher is a native of Germany, having come to this country when a baby with her parents and settling in Ohio. She was reared in Dayton, Cincinnati, and Troy, and received her education in Ohio schools.

Mrs. Fletcher has four sons. Tilden lives in Houston, Texas, and sells municipal bonds. Mender resides in San Francisco and is with the Conrad Bruce bond firm. Gordon is a physician, who has been practicing in St. Augustine until recently when he came west to Oakland, Cal. Charles resides in Eugene. Two special joys to Mrs. Fletcher are her two little granddaughters, one in Eugene, the other in San Francisco.

Growing of herbs has become a fascinating study for Mrs. Fletcher and today she has a garden of between 50 and 60 kinds of herbs, growing at the home of Captain and Mrs. R. D. Thompson.

"I am trying to find some Angelica, Angelica, I must have," she laughed. Rosemary, costmary, chervil, rue, pot marigold, mints of all kinds, thyme, sage, chives, parsley, wormwood, fennel, lavender, and many others in her garden grow. A beautiful hunched rug and another interesting woven one were pointed out as other hobbies she follows.

Mrs. Fletcher always has been most active in her church. For 10 years she taught the Co-Workers class in the First Baptist church here, and for eight years she taught another group named in her honor, the Marie Fletcher class, at the church. Sunday school work, missionary groups, and many other departments of the church always have found Mrs. Fletcher a faithful and willing worker.

At present, "she is busy in fixing up the Baptist church library and hopes to have the work completed by September. She organized the library at the church.

Mrs. Fletcher has traveled in every state in the Union except four. This summer she plans to take in Yellowstone park with one of her sons.

The past week, the faculty and former students of Mrs. Fletcher honored her at a banquet and presented her with gifts in appreciation of her fine service to the school.

Washington Patrol Routs Mill Pickets

SEATTLE, June 8. — The Washington state patrol, ordered on duty by Governor Martin, assumed an important role in the giant Pacific Northwest lumber strike today, even while official mill reports showed production had dropped to a new low. The first detachment of the state patrol, six men under the command of Patrolman A. B. Little, of Longview, began work at Longview early today, ordering pickets to cease blockading motor and pedestrian traffic to and from the big Long-Bell and Weyerhaeuser mills. About 100 pickets readily accepted the "no blockading" edict.

PLANS FOR ACTIVE CLUB BOYS' CAMP MAKING PROGRESS

Plans for the summer outing for deserving boys in Eugene, to be held in the Fall creek area July 15 to 27 inclusively under auspices of the Eugene Active club, are virtually completed. It was announced Saturday by Phil Nordling, chairman in charge of the camp.

The club is sponsoring the camp for 30 boys, to be selected by churches and other organizations, who would otherwise be unable to afford a summer camp outing. The site is located in the Willamette national forest, near the Fall Creek CCC camp, and forest officials have cooperated in laying out the camp and in making arrangements for the boys while in camp.

Eugene boys between the ages of 12 and 16 are eligible for the camp. Applications are in the hands of a committee headed by George Evans and due to the fact that a limited number can be handled in the camp, application blanks have been distributed to several churches and fraternal organizations who will select the boys to go on the outing.

The camp site is on Big Fall creek, 35 miles east of Eugene. A large swimming hole is nearby and adequate open space for a playground is to be found adjacent to the shaded area in which the tents will be pitched. Irving Hale, of the Eugene Y. M. C. A., will be camp director, the Y. M. C. A. cooperating in furnishing leaders and much camp equipment.

The site was selected by a committee headed by Harry Wright. While the "Y" is furnishing several tents, about four wall tents are required and any one willing to donate the use of such tents is urged to communicate with Mr. Wright at Springfield, phone 18.

Fees for the camp will run from one to three dollars per boy, the boys being given an opportunity to earn the money. The balance of the camp cost is being borne by the club with the aid of local business men who are donating supplies. Ed Johnson is in charge of the committee arranging supplies.

A complete camp program including sports, hikes, swimming, first aid, craftsmanship and other activities is being arranged with competent leaders for each activity.

Every effort is being made to guard the health of the boys in camp, members of the committee declare. Boys will be given physical examinations before entering the camp and a physician will make periodic visits to the camp. In cases of emergencies, the camp physician of the nearby CCC camp will be available. All camp leaders are trained in first aid work.

mit of Canyon mountain, and a 1752 foot tunnel at the summit of Stage Road Pass and a small one approaching it.

At Sexton mountain, a 3,100 foot tunnel would be necessary, but the distance would be shortened by more than a mile, an alternative is to go around the mountain near Leland, requiring but a 1,400 foot tunnel.

By the Sexton route the distance between Roseburg and Grants Pass would be reduced from 77.21 miles to 65.87 miles. By way of Leland the distance would be 66.72 miles. The highway could be traveled at a speed of 100 miles an hour.

ject was made by Ford Northrup, electrical engineer for the water board.

The estimated cost for construction of lines, including labor and material, was $93,808, according to Engineer Northrup's report. Of this total, $29,824.52 was for labor, $55,935.48 for material and $8,048.02 for contingencies. The report reveals the cost per mile of construction of lines to be $828.

The survey revealed 356 potential customers in the area to be served with an estimated 15,500 kilowatt-hours per month needed to serve them for residential purposes.

Under the previous policy of granting 30 percent, the district would have had to bond itself to the extent of $87,140, but if the new policy of a 45 percent grant could be applied to the project, the bond burden would be cut to $51,595, it was pointed out.

RAPID TRANSIT IN CARS OR PLANES INCREASES EYESTRAIN.

Many people who care for their teeth daily, feel that their eyes will take care of themselves and do not realize the amount or kind of attention that should be given them. This is largely due to the fact that the major changes in our method of living wrought by our modern civilization have not been brought to their notice.

As the assessed valuation of property within the district is a little over $1,000,000, bonds could be issued up to 10 percent of this amount, or $100,000, under the People's Utility District law.

With the survey and plans prepared by the water board engineers, the Lorane project could be started at any time without further work along this line. J. W. McArthur, superintendent said. Since the Eugene water board does not wish to be in the position of attempting to "sell" any district on the plan of purchasing power created by the local utility, the plans allow for the district to take power either from the water board or from the Mountain States utility.

At present, only a small section in the north corner of the proposed district is tapped by electricity, one sawmill using Mountain States power, it was said.

NATIONAL OPEN IS WON BY HOME BOY

OAKMONT COUNTRY CLUB.

Pittsburgh, June 8. — The home town boy made good today as Samuel Parks, Jr., youthful Pittsburgh professional, came from behind to conquer America's foremost shotmakers and capture the national open golf championship in a stunning, rain-soaked finish to the celebrated "battle of Oakmont."

Never before a winner in any major tournament, only four years out of the University of Pittsburgh, where he captained the golf team and only two weeks short of his 26th birthday, Parks pulled the biggest surprise victory since Johnny Goodman, the Omaha amateur, galloped off with the crown three years ago.

The only player in the all-star field to crack 300 on Oakmont's terrifying storm-tossed layout, Parks posted successive rounds of 77, 73, 73, 76 for an aggregate of 299 for the 72-hole route. He won by two strokes from Jimmy Thompson, the California "siege gun," who twice tossed away a four-stroke lead over the home-town favorite and took part in a general blow-up in the stretch. Thompson finished second with rounds of 73, 73, 77 and 78 for a total of 301 as he allowed one of the best championship chances in his career to slip away from him.

Miss Perkins Joins Graduation Talkers

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass., June 8. — Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, returned to Mt. Holyoke college today to attend the reunion of the class of 1902, of which she was president. In an address at the close of the alumnae fete she expressed the hope that college women would assume a share in the task of integrating the social life of the United States.

RAILROAD WEEK TO OPEN MONDAY WITH CEREMONY

To officially open "Railroad Week" in Eugene, Miss Helen Hemmingsen, Junior Chamber of Commerce queen, escorted by members of the Junior chamber, will pull the whistle cord on one of the big locomotives near the passenger station at the foot of Willamette street, at 8 o'clock Monday morning. At that time the whistles on all locomotives in service on all railroads west of Chicago will be blown for one minute announcing the beginning of "Railroad Week."

Acting in union with governors of most of the states and mayors of most of the cities west of the Mississippi river, Governor Charles H. Martin and Mayor Elisha Large have set aside June 10-15 as "Railroad Week" and in a statement urged citizens of the state to honor western railroads for "their continued pioneering."

The governor's statement follows in part: "The state of Oregon has been served for many years by the following railroads, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Oregon Electric, Spokane, Portland and Seattle, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific.

"These railroads have played a very vital part in the lives of our people and have paid, and continue to pay, large sums in taxes. They have furnished employment for many persons.

"They have joined with other western railroads in reducing basic fares and sleeping-car charges and in air-conditioning all principal passenger trains.

"All these things have meant lowered costs and improved travel service to the traveling public.

"The governors of western states have asked that the public pay honor to western railroads for their continued pioneering and the governor of Oregon joins them in asking Oregon citizens to observe "Railroad Week" from Monday, June 10 to Saturday, June 15, 1935."

In sponsoring "Railroad Week," 27 railroads of the west are marking the completion of a vast program of modernization of railroad equipment and service.

Plaintiff Is Given $441 In Spud Case

The jury in the case of A. L. Feder against Robert Willan and others, in which it was alleged that the defendants failed to deliver all the potatoes agreed to in trucking contracts from Bend to the value, returned a verdict Saturday afternoon in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $441 less $120.21 due as wages.

The next case to come up was that of the state against William H. Boyle, charged with indecent exposure. Otto N. Johnston was appointed by the court to defend the accused. The court adjourned until Monday morning after a jury had been taken. The jury chosen are Bert Finnegan, R. W. Beaver, Frank W. Marshall, Le. Davis, E. B. Doane, Emma Bryant, Ben F. Pitcher, Clarence Bellas, Mollie Goodman, Roy Hoffer and E. A. Denney.

SENATE OPPOSED TO ANY PART OF NRA CONTINUANCE

By NATHAN ROBERTSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
WASHINGTON, June 8. — (AP) — Scared even of the possibility of the wrecked recovery law, the senate today would demand repeal of provisions permitting exemptions from the anti-trust law.

They served notice that when skeleton of the Blue Eagle is cast in from the house Monday, they would ask to have it sent to committee for making of such changes.

Administration leaders sought to convince their senate colleagues that nothing but the bones of the bird were left, and that it was a harmless old carcass from which the supreme court had stripped all skin and flesh.

The legislation, a resolution approved by the house yesterday, would continue the recovery law until April, with the authority for compulsory codes eliminated because of the supreme court's decision holding them invalid.

The little band of senators who led the fight against the NRA were before it was finally killed by the supreme court was openly skeptical of the resolution despite assurances from President Roosevelt that the trust laws would be fully restored.

This group was concerned about a provision of the old act continuing authority for the president to raise the anti-trust laws for voluntary agreements between industrial units.
