

STATE POLICE ARE MOBILIZED AROUND PORTLAND REGION

any and all threats of insurrection." The governor did not announce where the men would be assembled, but it was believed they would be brought to Salem first, and perhaps later sent to Portland. The police force constitutes a staff of highly trained officers. Their handling of strike disorders to date was highly complimented by the chief executive.

Pickets Taken for Walk

The governor stated he ordered 40 members of constabulary to Bridal Veil late yesterday under Superintendent Pray after he had received word from Sheriff Martin T. Pratt of Multnomah county that the situation there had gotten beyond his control.

"The police arrived there at 6:20 p. m. yesterday and assembled the so-called pickets and marched them to Viking park, across the Sandy bridge, and turned them loose," the governor continued.

Guards were placed on the bridge and a detail placed there to prohibit any of these men to return. They were told they could go any direction except back to the mill. The scene of the disorders was about 30 miles from Portland, and the men were marched about ten miles.

Long Hike to Portland

Cars from the Labor Temple in Portland carrying more men were stopped at the bridge, the men ordered out and the drivers with empty cars sent back to Portland. These agitators then were told to shift for themselves.

The governor expressed for a moment in relating the events of last night by declaring: "If they want a showdown, we will give them one and let them know whether they are running the state or whether the constituted law authority shall prevail."

"Such demonstrations are not included in the law permitting peaceful picketing. Pickets at the mill were backed by jeering mobs, intimidating the men who wish to work. The employer of the mill are not on strike. It is just a case of insurrection and a defiance against the law."

Reports at the executive office early today were that "all was quiet on the Columbia," the governor added, and that "the situation was well in hand."

Asked if he meant to add "at least for the present" to his comments that all was quiet, the governor replied:

"I mean that the situation will remain well in hand. There will be no further intimidation of men willing to work. Not even one agitator will be allowed around the plant, or any other place if they show signs of defiance to county and state officials."

Suits were reported filed in Portland against the state police superintendent for damages. The governor considered these suits lightly, declaring all actions were according to law and told Pray he had nothing to worry about. It was stated here a $25,000 suit was filed against Pray, Multnomah county officers last night had arrested 237 pickets, but with the arrival of the state police no further arrests were made. Union headquarters in Portland declared the arrests were illegal.

Frank Johnson, executive secretary of the Portland Sawmill and Timber Worker's union, declared "we're going to fight. We've conducted our picketing according to our own constitutional rights and according to state law. I'm going to stand on that fight."

The report of the state board of conciliation, called into session several weeks ago by the governor, was on the executive's desk today but the governor declared he had not had time to read it.

"I have been too busy maintaining law and order to study this report just now," Martin stated. It will not be released for publication until after he has read the document.

"Drive" On Slot Machines Ordered

City police, following directions of the city police committee, conducted a "drive" on slot machines in Eugene Thursday, following word that six or seven had been set in operation here. Dr. George Simon, chairman of the police committee, said the machines had been brought in here, apparently to test the reaction of city officials following their policy in licensing pin and ball machines. Operators asked permission to operate them here, but were refused, Dr. Simon said. Police were directed to see that all slot machines were out of operation by 3 o'clock Thursday, arresting the operators in the event of failure to comply. No arrests had been made at 3 o'clock Thursday.

Kidnap Suspect Is Believed Man Who Resided at Goshen

Eugene can at last claim some share of attention in the famed Weyerhaeuser kidnaping case, if the Harmon Metz Waley, who lived near Goshen at the age of 7 months with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Zerah Morris Waley, is the same one arrested in Salt Lake City with a share of the ransom money.

In 1911, W. J. Scharen, who still lives in the Goshen district, worked for him at a small sawmill in Z. M. Waley, and Mrs. Waley worked in the Scharen home. Their son, then just a baby, was named Harmon Metz. The family only remained in this vicinity for six months and as Mr. Scharen remembers, they came here from Hoquiam, Washington.

Mr. Scharen did not know where the family moved to when they left. Word received from Portland today reveals that Z. M. Waley, father of the kidnaper, is now living near Everett, Washington, and is foreman of the Walton Lumber company plant. The Waleys were separated when young Harmon was three years old and his mother is now Mrs. J. C. (Cleo L.) Bonney, now living in Tacoma. Waley is a member of an old Tacoma family and has apparently lived in Tacoma and mill towns and camps on Puget Sound since his residence here.

Use of Fireworks To Be Regulated

City ordinances regulating sale and use of fireworks for the Fourth of July will be strictly enforced this year, Dr. George Simon, chairman of the city police committee, announced Thursday.

Dr. Simon pointed out that it was illegal to sell or otherwise dispose of certain types of fireworks as well as to use them. Following is the law on sale of such material:

"It shall be unlawful for any person, persons, firm or corporation, their agents or employees to sell, offer to sell, give away or in any manner dispose of to another within the corporate limits of the city of Eugene, any giant fire crackers, cannon crackers or other fire crackers over one and one-half inches in length exclusive of the fuse, any torpedos, bomb, sky rockets, cap pistol or other similar explosive, or to sell, offer to sell, give away or in any manner dispose of to another any confetti."

GRANGE TENDERED OLIVE BRANCH BY GOVERNOR MARTIN

accomplished through his Willamette valley project. Bonneville electric power, rural electrification and use of public lands in eastern Oregon.

Pointing out that the grange "was founded on principles whose objectives are closely linked with present-day needs right here in Oregon," the governor swung into discussion of strike troubles early in his prepared address.

"This declaration laid down the principles that the Grange did not foster either communism or agrarianism, but instead sought to ally class antagonism such as even then had arisen between capital and labor," the governor continued.

Kind Words for Labor

"Speaking of labor, I wish to say that I am broadly in sympathy with the aims of American labor—that is, improve the standards of living among our large consuming population. Thus, there will be provided thereby, among other advantages, satisfactory outlets for agricultural products. In this respect agriculture and labor have much in common. They are mutually interdependent.

"The last several years when we should have had harmony so that we could jointly put our shoulders to the wheel to help get out of the depression, we find a small but determined element, fearing neither God nor having no love for country, insidiously creeping into our labor organizations. Yes, even in some cases, into agricultural organizations.

"This element has only one thought in mind—to foment trouble, develop discord and create chaos, hoping by that means, ultimately, to overthrow our system of government.

"The Portland waterfront strike last summer resulted in millions of dollars of loss to the agricultural and livestock industry of Oregon. This year a similar attempt was made to foment strikes in the sawmills, upon some of which agriculture depends for its crates, boxes and other fruit and vegetable containers. I wish the constructive element in labor organizations the best of success in their attempts, and I am sincere in outgiving from within their ranks those who stir up trouble, discord and violence and even resort to blackmail. Labor can count upon my full support in this attempt."

Pointing to higher farm prices, Martin said that "all in all, agriculture has fared well under the New Deal in Oregon and other states, disparaging and carpentering critical statements of certain eastern industrial and bank groups to the contrary notwithstanding."

The governor spoke again for the lightening of property taxes to aid agriculture and attract industry to the state.

BIG COLLEGE CREST STRAWBERRY EVENT IS THURSDAY NIGHT

Residents of the College Crest Community club present their annual strawberry festival, Thursday evening, as a celebration of the completion of the water system in that district. The festival and program will begin at 7 p. m. and will be in the grange clubhouse. The general public is invited.

As a feature of the celebration, the residents have issued a folder giving the history of the move to obtain the McKenzie river water for the district, the folder having on the cover a picture of Martin Rapids on the McKenzie.

The project for the water system was initiated by the College Crest Community club in June 1933. Surveys and preliminary estimates made through the Eugene water board followed after which effort was made through the PWA for a loan. Following this grant, for 30 per cent, a bond issue for $16,500 was voted Oct. 2, 1934. An SERA labor application was granted that same month and bids for mains, valves, pumps, reservoir, etc., were received in November and construction began on Nov. 10, 1934 with F. E. Kretz as superintendent. The actual cost to the district is approximately $15,000, the total cost running to $22,150. SERA labor amounted to $7,500.

The system includes more than seven and one-half miles of mains, and laterals, service lines have been laid and necessary valves of all kinds installed. The reservoir erected is for 50,000 gallons.

The population of the district is 376 with 110 families. Of this total, 63 are using the system to date. Water rates were lower, effective May 1, 1935.

O. A. Hougham, chairman, Dudley Holland, secretary, E. S. Tuttle, treasurer, Truman Willis and R. C. Morris are the board of commissioners for the College Crest Water Supply district with R. J. Neave as service manager.

has the right to reconsider her employment.

The health committee of the association submitted a report, urging a survey to work out more adequate illumination for the schools. It is expected a survey will be made, the water board co-operating.

New teachers were elected as follows: Hugh Miller, music department at Roosevelt junior high; Sarah Grace Adamson, grade school teacher, Helen Veblen, English at Eugene high. Evelyn Hollis was transferred from the English department to the library department at Eugene high. The resignation of Aubrey Fletcher was accepted.

The board considered the matter of Fritz Kramer's salary, but took no action. Kramer, athletic coach at Eugene high, receives $2200 a year, a salary considerably higher than any other teacher. The board was considering a downward adjustment of this rate, but reached no definite decision Wednesday. The matter will be again considered at the meeting next Monday night.

Payment of bills was authorized and a fuel contract awarded to the Manerud-Huntington company.

In the Senate, the Long speech-making, story telling and recipe giving ended finally at 4 a. m. having lasted since shortly after noon yesterday. The Louisianaian was succeeded by Senator Schall (R-Minn.), but the blind senator confined himself to a written speech which was read by the clerk. This took about an hour.

Then Senator McCarran (D-Nev.)—who had been aiding Long throughout the night with questions and in negotiations with leaders—took the floor but did not talk long. When he finished there was no one else to talk and the senate rushed rapidly to the final vote.

Long continued to sit in the chamber chatting with senators while Schall and McCarran had the floor. He was shouting for the floor when the resolution finally was voted on but did not get recognition before the "ayes" and "noes" began sounding.

Oregon's McNary was paired "against" the measure; Oregon's Steiwer was absent.
