be ready to carry burdens commensurate with their powers and their advantages."

Mr. Roosevelt proposed study for the ultimate elimination of "unnecessary holding companies in all lines of business."

He also proposed a constitutional amendment "whereby the federal government will be permitted to tax the income on subsequently issued state and local securities and likewise for the taxation by state and local governments of future issues of federal securities."

He concluded with a request for continuation of the emergency miscellaneous taxes recently voted by the house.

No Action Right Away
Chairman Doughton of the ways and means committee was on the House floor when the message was read. Asked what he would do about it, he replied:

"Oh, as I understand it this is just a suggestion for the future. Our committee couldn't do anything about it now. We've got our hands full."

He added, however, that the Senate, if it chose could add the new taxes to the $502,000,000 insurance tax extension resolution adopted by the House Monday.

Senator Long a "shore the wealth" advocate arose in the senate after the message was read and said:

"I don't want to make any comment. I just want to say amen."

Long sat smiling and listening intently as a clerk read the message.

Democrats on the floor arose almost unanimously and expressed their approval of the message with a full minute of handclapping and cowboy yells. Republicans remained quiet.

cultural state and advancement in that field affects all of us."

Oregon City Enterprise—"Dr. Hunter has a reputation for ability to handle men and political situations deftly as well as a reputation for being firm believer in academic freedom. Dr. Kerr deserved the thanks of the people of the state for his long and distinguished service as an educator, while Dr. Hunter deserves their best wishes."

Oregon Statesman, Salem—"The best greeting which Oregon can give to the new chancellor is to lay aside machetes and abandon jungle warfare. This means that he should not be subjected to immediate pressures for changes to shift balances in institutional setups, and to warp the educational programs to meet the ambitions of university or college committees. With his background of professional training and work in the field of education Dr. Hunter should be able to do much for the public schools of Oregon below the higher institutions, especially in the area of teacher training."

they had made no concessions to the three demands of the rioters.

"We don't owe them a nickel," declared T. W. Woodward, member of the prison board of administration.

The more than 300 prisoners had demanded better prepared food, the discharge of Dr. David F. Parker, prison physician, and immunity for their action.

Mutineer's Fire "Back-Fired"
Protected by gas masks, and bearing flares and electric torches fastened to their clothing, members of the attacking party descended without incident, but found their path blocked by a heavy double door which separated the air shaft from the main mine shaft.

It had been bolstered by iron rails from the car tracks and heavy timbers. This was the door Simpson referred to as delaying the surrender.

As it was battered down the officers saw a group of convicts walking toward them, their hands in the air. Others followed, and the mutiny was over.

Both Virginia senators—Glass and Byrd—were paired against the bill. Senators Gore (D.-Okla.) and Tydings (D.-Md.) voted "present."

Berry Ice Box Cake

This recipe may be developed with any berry, varying the sugar with the acidity of the fruit.

1 quart berries
Sugar
3 eggs
1 c. heavy cream.

Crush the berries, reserving eight large ones for a garnish. Add sugar, amount will vary according to sweetness of the fruit, and your taste. Let this stand in the kitchen for several hours to draw the juices. Drain, add the beaten eggs to the juice and cook in double boiler, stirring it steadily until thickened. Allow to cool to room temperature. Fold in the whipped cream lightly and add the crushed berries. The cream may be flavored with vanilla, or orange extract and sweetened with a tablespoon of powdered sugar.

Line a dish with a thin layer of sponge cake or with halved ladyfingers. Pour in half of the berry mixture, add another layer of cake, the other half of the filling and top with cake. Chill in refrigerator for twenty-four hours and serve with a top garnish of powdered sugar and one whole berry on each of the eight portions.—Mrs. H. J. Mettner, 1049 W. 3rd St., Eugene.
