HARRISBURG PLANS NEW SCHOOL GYM

HARRISBURG, June 21.—(Special)—Notices have been posted for a special school election to be held July 15. The union high school district and the grade school district boards are planning to build a gymnasium and it will be necessary for the two districts to go through some legal form whereby they can own the building jointly.

The two boards met last night and although details have not been settled the plans at present are for a concrete gymnasium, the cost estimated at about $25,000. Of this sum the two districts expect to pay $15,000 and to get a PWA grant for the balance. The opinion of the boards was that the high school district should stand 60 per cent of the expense and the grade school district 40 per cent.

It is proposed to build the gymnasium connecting with the present school building on the south, in such a manner that if the districts wish to build new school houses later they can be added to either end of the gymnasium.

For the first time in several years the union high school election, which will be held Monday, will pass without an argument over the ballot. The last legislature passed a law amending the high school election laws, which provides that a voter may write in the name of a person other than that printed on the ballot, and as the law was interpreted the voter had to choose from them and could not write in any other. This has always caused considerable argument and sometimes no little friction, because it is the exact opposite of all other election laws.

The only name to appear on the ballot at this coming election will be Clinton Morse. A petition was circulated to put the name of J. W. Bowers on the ballot but it was learned that he resides in a school district which already has a director on the board.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Powell who have been visiting at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Vinal Randall, left for their home at Prineville Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Sarrif left Monday for Kitson Springs on a vacation trip.

Numbers are asked from each Sunday school in the district for the program.
