The west side, said above normal heat would prevail over the weekend over most of the midwest.

High Mark Set

It was 99 at New Ujm, Minn., high for that state for the past 24 hours. Alarming reports of black rust's spread in the northwest area had market reactions.

Four New Yorkers were killed and four others injured by lightning while swimming at a beach. Several Chicagoans were reported struck during the storms.

At Freeport, Ill., a herd of cows, believed maddened by the heat, stampeded over a 50 foot precipice into a small stream. Several of the animals were killed.

The maximum dropped from 89 to 84 in four hours at Cleveland. It was 88 at Louisville.

Four Killed

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP)—A bolt of lightning flashed down on crowded Brighton Beach, killing four bathers and rendering four more unconscious.

Those killed were Dr. Joseph Borak, Joseph Harris, 40, his son, Barnett Harris, 15, and Martin Chesner, all of Brooklyn. The injured were Russell De Shant, whose legs were paralyzed, Emil Graeson, Ruth Honig and Alice Beer.

Objectives From Conference Given

Some of the objectives brought before the annual meeting of the County School Superintendents association held in Salem this week were listed by Laurence C. Moffitt, Lane county school superintendent, upon his return from the meeting, late Saturday. Mr. Moffitt is the president of the association. The group meets each summer for a conference at Salem. Following are some of the objectives placed before the groups quoted by Mr. Moffitt:

"That stress be placed upon teaching the fundamentals of American government and good citizenship; that we re-emphasize the teaching of temperance; that emphasis be placed upon the formation of rural study clubs; that measures be taken to bring about a more rational placing of teachers and that an effort be made to have fewer inexperienced teachers placed in rural situations; that county-wide or community rural school music festivals be held in every county and that county superintendents having normal schools within the boundaries of their county cooperate with them in their musical festivals; that plans be carefully made in each county for the continued improvement of the program of county supervision and testing under the plan elected, and that definite emphasis be placed this year on securing an understanding on the part of all teachers of the purpose of the testing program, and that stress be placed on the need of follow-up work in diagnosis of the test results, and the doing of remedial teaching; again, that every effort be made to make teachers' institutes and conferences professionally stimulating, and interesting through making definite provision for teacher participation both in planning and executing the program; that, during this period of financial recovery, school boards be urged in every way possible to give attention to needs for improvement in buildings and to the purchasing of additional school equipment."

PORTLAND, Ore., July 20.—(AP)—Police today had been asked to search for two children and their uncle, Sanford B. Rose, 47, of Waldport, after it had been discovered the three, who started on a holiday trip to the beach a week ago, had disappeared.

The children, Virginia, 13, and Richard, 2, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rose of Portland, were to have spent this week at Waldport, but with Mrs. Sanford Rose's arrival in Portland it was found that they had not reached that city.

PALO ALTO, Calif., July 20.—(AP)—Disclosure that a number of prominent republicans would be week-end guests of former President Herbert Hoover brought speculation today whether the gathering had any political significance.

MODERATE TRADING FEATURES MARKET

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP)—Although shares chugged uphill a little in moderate trading on the New York stock exchange today, they did not recover Friday's decline in full.

By some it was thought the purchase of equities had been inspired by the more than seasonal production of automobiles for the week ended today. Cram's estimated output at $3,255 units compared with $3,459 in the preceding week and 65,829 in the corresponding week a year ago.

Increased output of small cigarettes was seen in some brokerage houses as a trade weather vane.

The bureau of internal revenue reported June production at 12,119,688,167, an upturn of 74,625,344 over the total for that month last year.

In terms of the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, the market moved ahead 1.1 of a point to 45.8. Trading was a little less active than Friday at 429,500 shares.

Although a number of specialty preferred stocks picked up 1 to 3 or more points, most of the market's industrial pace-setters contented themselves with gains of fractions.

Included in the latter group were American Tobacco "B" at 97, Bethlehem Steel at 32 1/2, Chrysler at 54 1/8, General Electric at 27 5/8, General Motors at 36 5/8, U. S. Steel at 39 and Woolworth at 62 3/4.

"Birth Control" Is Success In Poultry

BELLINGHAM, Wash., July 20.—(AP)—"Birth control" is proving a real asset to the poultry industry. Started as an experiment two years ago when Japanese chick sexing experts were brought to Whatcom county, Wash., the system has now become an important factor in efficient poultry raising. By purchasing sexed chicks the number of cockerels is greatly reduced.

PUBLIC SITES ARE FAVORED BY GROUP

ably call for an entirely different type of construction eliminating basements or deep foundations and spreading over a wide area to get room.

Though suggested sites in the county park blocks have not been dropped from consideration, general opinion was that it would be a mistake to try to build a museum in space so limited. Likewise there have been protests against taking up more of the open space than is now occupied by public buildings.

"Fireproof construction is absolutely essential," Mr. Young pointed out. "We have storage now but it isn't fireproof and we will never get many of the most valuable relics till we can offer security. The problem is whether we are going to build a structure which can be developed and used as a real museum and monument to the early settlers or whether we are merely going to build a shelter."

Sketches Submitted

Mr. Young's committee submitted several perspective sketches made by Architect Graham Smith suggesting the type of building which might be erected on the Skinner Butte site using the old reservoir foundations. The sketches showed an impressive modernistic structure with a tall tower rising from the center.

No cost estimates have been prepared, but architects agree that the reservoir foundations are usable and that a suitable structure could be erected out of fireproof Oregon materials without vast outlay. Heating, ventilating and equipment for a modern museum structure would be important items since such a facility would be in much demand for art classes, history classes and other activities needing workshops and meeting rooms.

"There will be no serious legal problems in the way of this project," was the report from Judge E. O. Potter who with L. T. Harris and E. O. Immel has been investigating that phase of the situation. "The main problem will be to agree on a site and on definite plans. I am sure the people of this community will give enthusiastic support once we have something definite to put before them."

Senator H. C. Wheeler is to talk on the museum project at the big Mohawk picnic today. The committee has agreed to furnish speakers for all gatherings interested in hearing more about the museum project.

Improved Business Conditions Noted By Radio Dealers

Substantially improved business conditions throughout Oregon and Washington territory, was reflected by dealers attending a preview of the new General Electric metal tube radio receivers at Portland according to H. D. Alton of the Eugene Home Appliance company, who returned from the preview Friday.

These reports of imported business were taken as an index to what may be expected for the radio business the remainder of the year, said Mr. Alton. Obsolete has overtaken large numbers of radio sets in this city, according to Mr. Alton. Improved long wave reception, combined with substantial advances in short wave reception, in sets completely redesigned in all important details will meet public demands to a degree that should mean a very substantial stimulation of business, he says.

It is this demand for improved reception that resulted in the invention of the metal tube to be introduced for the first time in General Electric radio receivers.

Free Wood Saw Is Put To Work

The free wood saw, operated by the United Workers, was put into action Saturday afternoon when it cut some waste material at the Walters-Bushong mill. In the afternoon it was demonstrated at the east county park block.

The local post of the United Workers are sponsoring the venture in order to supply needy families with fuel wood. They operate the saw free of charge for deserving families, obtaining the wood from donations of waste lumber and stumps.

Those behind the project include Paul Strunk, A. Bennett, W. S. Dempsey, H. H. Johnson, and F. A. Scott. Any one wishing to donate wood to be sawed should contact one of the above men.

Courthouse Project To Be Pushed Here

Further moves will be made this week to outline the proposed courthouse addition project, it is announced by County Clerk Walter B. Dillard. He announced he hoped to take the matter up with the county officials within the next few days. The project is to build an addition, costing not more than $11,000, which would serve mainly to supply fire-proof vaults for valuable county records from all the county offices. It is hoped to get this project in shape soon for the WPA.

FIREMAN ADMITS THROWING BOTTLE

a pop bottle during a wrestling card at the Eugene Armory on July 3rd, which struck Del Kunkle on the head.

"I threw the bottle all right, but I did not intend to injure anyone in the least. When first arrested and charged with throwing the bottle I was very much confused and very much ashamed at my action and to think that I had done such a thing. For this reason I refused to discuss the act at the time.

"The act of throwing the bottle occurred when I was excited, and acting upon the impulse of the moment and without thinking of the consequences. I threw the bottle. The incident left my hand I realized what a mistake I had made and much regretted my impulsiveness.

"In this statement I wish right here to apologize and ask the forgiveness of Del Kunkle, the Eugene Commission, Herb Owen, the wrestling fans, and the general public for doing such a thing, and do hereby sincerely promise that I will never again commit such an act. While not intending to injure anyone, I did throw the bottle, and since that time I have suffered a great deal in thinking how foolish I was to do such a thing and what might have happened as a consequence of it.

"I have explained the matter to Mr. Kunkle and Mr. Owen and I certainly appreciate the attitude that they have taken in regard to it. I again wish to apologize and ask forgiveness of everyone concerned, and I sincerely hope that this statement will redeem in part the bad mistake that I have made and help to make it right.

Sincerely,
"FRANK BLOOMFIELD."

GILBERT DESCRIBES CONGRESS' POWERS

Then came Hamilton's term and, with the amazing ingenuity in matters of law, business and finance, he hit on the doctrine of "implied powers" to justify his cherished scheme for a national bank. In his rebuttal opinion supporting the central bank, the eminent federalist laid very broadly the foundation for a liberal, if not a loose construction of the Constitution.

Admitting freely that neither bank nor corporation is mentioned in the organic law, he fell back on that "omnibus" clause of the document which concludes the enumeration of powers to be exercised by congress—"to make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers—vested by this Constitution in the government of the United States."

Meaning of Simple Words

The words "necessary and proper" mean "fit, suitable, convenient and appropriate to a given end." Now congress had been given the power to "lay and collect taxes," "to borrow money on the credit of the United States," "to declare war and to raise and support armies," and "to coin money and regulate the value thereof." A central bank would be a convenient, fit and suitable agency for carrying into effect these very necessary functions and was therefore within the scope of the Constitution, he argued.

Washington was convinced by Hamilton's argument and the bill creating and chartering the First United States Bank for a period of twenty years was signed by the president.

The central bank proved to be "necessary and proper" and rendered invaluable service in fortifying the credit of the United States, in supplying a currency of uniform value throughout the country, and in forcing state banks to a sounder basis of note issue.

Question Never Entirely Settled

After the initial argument over the constitutionality of the bank the question was apparently regarded as a settled issue. True, it was to arise again in the early years of the Second United States Bank and was to be the subject of one of the best known of John Marshall's decisions.

The charter of the First United States Bank was to expire in 1811 and while it was strongly supported, even by stalwart Jeffersonians like Gallatin, it had aroused the jealousy and antagonism of the state banks then powerful in American politics.

of the site would be preferable to having it remain vacant.

Both McGirr and Wilcox allegedly have made arrangements for the lease, although the former claims that only the approval of the council stands in the way of his closing the deal for the construction of the service station.

The sanction of the council would not be necessary for the erection of a restaurant, but a special city ordinance makes it necessary that a permit be secured to install underground gasoline tanks any place on Willamette street, between Fifth and Eleventh avenues.

ETHIOPIA PLANS VIGOROUS FIGHT

Europe was "still plunged in gloom," the emperor recalled, and subscribes to the Ten Commandments and to Christ's sermon on the Mount.

She "has every right to be in the spirit of Christian brotherhood and peace by Italy, which claims an international shrine of the Italian religion," he said.

Defiantly, he added:

To Defend Natives

"If Ethiopia is invaded by the basins of one or two miles, incidents which could have been averted overnight, I want Italy to know that I will defend its territory to the last man for the preservation of our less record of never having been conquered."

Italy "perceives the increased influence and control (Ethiopia) imperial government. Hail Selassie continued, and progressive measures instituted or further delay dangerous realization of her plans—such as He charged the Europeans with provoking "cowardly" attacks against Ethiopians, supported by air and airplanes, saying the he bombed the Ethiopian garrison at Goubi. Such attacks are common, he said, despite denials.
