BIG BILLS PENDING!

"Deplorable lethargy that has come over the Seventy-fourth Congress," chirped the elder adjutant at the Washington Zoo. "But with such intemperate weather—"

"Fiddlesticks, sir! Also drumsticks!" peeped the junior adjutant. "I should attribute the prolongation of the current session less to the heat than to the timidity. Not even the wisest old birds perched on Capitol Hill knows as much as you and I would about what to do with the flocks of bills they've assembled. Any bill, I always say, should be as plain as the nose on your face. They're in for a peck of trouble—enough to give anybody goose-flesh . . ."
