vention as possible. He said if the president was renominated he would then decide whether to run independently or join forces with the republicans.

If the president should be opposed by former President Hoover, or someone of that type, Long said he would run independently. He predicted he would take such states as Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas, Mississippi, Georgia and Florida away from the democrats.

Would support G. O. P. Liberal His colleagues said, that if the republicans should nominate Borah or some one of that kind, he would jump party lines and throw his support to the liberal republican candidate.

Though Long's plans excited republicans to high hopes for 1936, they were not counting children ahead of time. They realized it was possible for him to change his mind. And some wondered whether his strategy was not entirely designed to influence the republican nomination.

Meanwhile, other developments in the political field engaged the capital's interest. One was a statement by Senator Capper (R., Kans.), that any of a number of republican presidential possibilities could defeat Mr. Roosevelt next year.

Another was word coming from administration circles indicating that Mr. Roosevelt may have something to say on constitutional questions and other matters in his forthcoming trip to the west coast.

As for Senator Long, politicians have long been speculating about what he would do next year. He has been the administration's fiercest critic in the senate since shortly after the inauguration of President Roosevelt, after working hard for Mr. Roosevelt's nomination at the convention.

Administration leaders have said patronage was back of the break. Long's friends have replied that the Louisiana senator broke with the president over economy legislation and patronage was denied him because he refused to "go along."

Senator Capper, who has been eyeing the Washington scene since 1932 when he was reporter for the Topeka Capital, analyzed the position of the republican party today and found it good.

"The trend is now our way," he said. "The people are turning toward the republican party. They are tired of watching the administration spend money and get little or nothing for it."

In reply to a query he continued, "Yes, Senator Borah (Idaho) would make a good president. Any of those mentioned prominently, Senator Vandenberg (Mich.), Col. Frank Knox (Chicago publisher), would make a good president. So would Gov. Landon of my state. I am very much interested in him."

"What about Herbert Hoover?" he was asked.

"I don't want to discuss that aspect of the situation."

HOPSON ANGERED BY LOBBY PROBE

Hopson said the public bought $50,000,000 of prefaced stock.

The American party, he said, has associates had taken profits of $250,000 in depression years when stock dividends were being passed were labeled a "distortion" by the witness.

(The senate lobby committee had received testimony from S. C. Ross, accountant for the New York state utility investigation, that Hopson or his associates had collected $2,800,000.)

Asserting that was largely a repetition of testimony given before the New York investigating committee, Hopson said:

"That is such a mass of misstatement, distortion and so forth, that I wouldn't even make an effort to go into it at this time."

Process Server Loses Out A senate committee investigator was waiting for Hopson with a subpoena when the house committee's morning session ended. The utilities executive, however, was herded aboard an elevator and other persons left off.

Among those who failed to get within reaching distance of Hopson was the senate man with his subpoena directing Hopson to appear before the Black committee "forthwith."

But Hopson had small chance for another escape. The house hearing was recessed subject to the call of the chair, and Hopson was instructed to keep himself in readiness to testify again.

Possibility that Hopson might be cited for contempt of the senate arose from the elevator incident.

of the emergency clause, which put the measure in effect at its passage.

The loud speaker ordinance, passing by a 5 to 2 vote, did not contain the emergency provision.

The councilmen lost little time in making plans to replace the city property destroyed by Saturday night's fire which swept the city barns and maintenance plant. Drawings for new buildings on the same site as the burned property were submitted by Bill Clubb, city engineer.

Mayor Elissa Large appointed a committee, consisting of Clubb, Building Inspector S. R. Mosher, and members of the street committee, to confer on plans for the replacement of the city property. There was no discussion on what steps would be taken to purchase equipment to take the place of the $1500 worth of tools and street signs ruined by the fire.

Another issue of city refunding bonds, totaling $113,000, was voted. The bonds, bids for which will be opened Aug. 29, will replace $113,013.70 in city improvement bonds, bearing 5 1/2 per cent interest, which are now outstanding.

Proprietors of the Blue Line Taxi Cab company appeared before the council on charges that one of their drivers operated a cab without an operator's license. The taxi operators will appear at the next council meeting, at which time city police officers will be present to throw some light on the case.

Joe Shuss, Klamath Falls chain wine store operator, requested permission to install a branch of his organization in Eugene. He declared that he intended to operate a package wine store and carry a complete line of California wines. He now operates such stores in Klamath Falls, Medford and Salem, and is planning to install one in Eugene. In rejecting Shuss' application for the wine dispensing permit, the council continued its announced policy of refusing all further requests for liquor permits of any kind.

D. A. Seymour's request to suspend the sign of his restaurant further from the building was held over, awaiting a meeting of the sign board of appeals. Seymour's application was placed in the hands of the council a month ago.

The necessity of cleaning out the Amazon swamp drainage ditch was referred to the council by Martin Svarverud, secretary of the Eugene Realty board, which has been advocating flood control work on the Amazon for some time. Councilman Lamb, chairman of the street committee, explained that it had been the city's practice in the past to clean the ditch once each summer. He intimated that the annual cleaning would be done in the near future, although pointing out that the county government must build an extension of the drainage canal before much relief could be hoped for. Svarverud said that he would appear before the county court Tuesday to request some action by that body.

N. O. Nielsen, 1909 W. First, requested permission to construct a henhouse at that address. On recommendation of the building board of appeals, his application was denied. He was advised to gain the written consent of his neighbors and appear again before the council.

Councilman Sam Bond reported that consideration of a franchise for the Oregon Electric railway should be held over.

On recommendation of Bond, chairman of the fire and water committee, the council rejected a request for the installation of a street light at the corner of Second avenue and Jackson street. Clarence Simon's application to place a spot light across the street from his place of business was unanimously rejected.

G. L. Todd, who fell and broke his glasses at 1945 Kincaid recently, was allowed $6 damages. The allowing of Todd's claim was prepared by a heated discussion on the significance of the payment in setting a precedent for future claims against the city. Another claim for injuries sustained in an accident on a city sidewalk was disallowed. City Attorney Calkins opined that the city was paying no more than what might be expected to claimants.

Bears at Skinner's Butte Park were the subjects of debate introduced by Councilman Fred Carlson, who stated that the park board requested larger quarters for the animals. Charles Sullivan, park superintendent, explained that present accommodations were not sufficient for the number of bears now confined in the pen behind the butte. The matter was referred to the park committee.

City Recorder Cal Bryan reported that a lower rate of insurance could be obtained for police cars. The council voted to give the policy to the lower bidder.

The building code board of appeals recommended that the planning commission study a request to reclassify property on the southeast corner of Thirtieth avenue and Columbia street. Applications, referred to the council by the board of appeals and concerning the piling of wood and the construction of business buildings on restricted areas, were refused.

The council passed an ordinance providing for the improvement of the curb on Willamette street, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth avenues. The property belongs to Charles and Margaret Allen. Specifications submitted by the city engineer were adopted.

A letter from Mayor J. H. Miller of Junction City, inviting Eugene to be represented at the bond-burning jamboree, Aug. 19, was read. Councilmen said that many Eugeneans planned to attend the celebration. No official representative was appointed.

The meeting was adjourned to Aug. 29, at which date the council will receive bids on the $113,000 AG refunding bonds and will open bids for 500 feet of 2 1/2-inch fire hose. The next regular meeting of the council is scheduled for Aug. 26.

COUNTY GETS TITLE TO LOT MORE LAND

The annual delinquent tax sale was closed Tuesday afternoon after a comparatively few pieces of property had been sold at the office of Sheriff C. A. Swarts. Out of the more than 2000 parcels of land on the delinquent rolls less than 10 per cent of them were sold at the sale which started a few days ago, it was announced.

A sheriff's deed to all the tracts of land and city lots on the delinquent list unsold will be made to the county and all will automatically go off the tax roll. Taking these properties off the rolls lessens the county's state tax to that extent.

Former owners of these parcels and lots, after the sheriff's deed is given, still have an opportunity to redeem the property by paying all back taxes and interest and penalties.

Purity Stores Not Sold, Say Owner, Manager of Chain

Officials of the United Purity Stores Tuesday refuted a statement accredited to R. C. Dunham, president of the Allied Grocers, Inc., which Monday sold its wholesale establishments in Eugene and Marshfield to the Western States Grocery company. Dunham was reported as saying that he had "transferred the Purity stores franchise" in the sale.

Such a statement is incorrect, explained C. C. Page, Eugene manager of the Purity Stores, because Dunham did not have the authority to make such a sale. The transaction was purely one concerning the wholesale business. The Allied Grocers Inc., which formerly supplied the Purity stores, will no longer have any connection with that organization. The Purity stores will make their purchases through R. E. Lafferty.

Therefore, under the new set-up, the Purity stores will maintain their identity, said Page. O. B. Guffer, of Seattle, owner of the franchise of the Purity stores, was in Eugene Monday night investigating reports that the franchise had been sold. He said that no change whatsoever had been made in the management or ownership of the Purity stores.

Willard in California, where he has contracted with Stephen Simkhovitch, 34-year-old scenario writer, for the human freezing experiment, said Dr. Fishbein's suspicion of magic was "unkind, to say the least."

Admits Part of Charges He denied having lived in Kansas City in 1927 under the name of Raphael Napolonovitch Ludomirsky, as charged by Fishbein, but admitted he faced charges in California in May, 1935.

"It was an unfortunate accident," he said. "I spent no time in jail but was placed on probation."

Commenting on the offer of Simkhovitch to act as the "human icicle," Fishbein said, "If Willard freezes him he undoubtedly will die and Willard will face a murder charge."

Willard laughed at the warning. "It is kind of Dr. Fishbein to be so eager to inform me of that," he replied. "Naturally I do not intend to freeze Mr. Simkhovitch unless I am sure I can revive him and I have legal permission to perform the experiment."

The chemist said the purpose of the experiment was to determine if bacilli can be destroyed by freezing the body to a temperature of 30 degrees below zero.

The experiment, he said, will be held in Mexico "or any other land where there will be no interference."
