and their families as "pawns of business" and "yes men." O. E. Crowe, Lane county relief administrator, Wednesday said that no relief had been given strikers...

Following is Ritter's statement, explaining the attitude of the strikers toward the relief protests: "Feeling in this lumbering community ran high Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning following receipt of new accounts in the Eugene papers...

"It is significant that every protest against organized labor or the administration of relief to families of strikers in this locality has come from men who are pawns of big business or 'yes' men in the city political setup...

"Local businessmen should realize that if the industrial system were sound, as they contend, few sawmill and timber workers, who have worked on the same jobs for five, ten, and fifteen years would be in need of relief within a few weeks of a walkout."

"The union membership in the Cottage Grove local is approximately 600 now. Considering the average family consists of four, this represents a considerable buying power in a community of 2500 population."

until Saturday night and then head for Hyde Park, N. Y., to spend a month at the summer White House. Signs Gold Bill It revealed that he signed the gold clause bill last night that today or tomorrow he would approve the neutrality resolution, and that he was ready to sign the Guffey coal bill...

Furthermore, he pointed out that by the time the situation changes, congress will again be back in session. Asked about his impending trip to the Pacific coast, he said that while no definite dates had been fixed, he hoped to go there toward the end of September. Thus far only two stops have been arranged, at Boulder Dam and the San Diego, Cal., expedition.

ITALIAN CABINET SUPPORTS IL DUCE

Europe while her military power is engaged in Africa.

RAID REPORTED LONDON, Aug. 28.—(AP)—A sanguinary raid into Ethiopian territory by natives of French Somaliland, in which 60 were reported killed, spread consternation tonight in European political circles, already on a nervous edge over the critical situation.

The raid sifted the zone of potential dynamite in Africa to a new sector—the border of Ethiopia and the French territory of Somaliland, hitherto quiet. French Somaliland, containing the vital seaport of Djibouti, lies between Italian Eritrea in the north and British Somaliland in the south, all of them bordering on Ethiopia and cutting her off from the sea.

The raid was reported to Addis Ababa by the governor of the Ethiopian border province of Aussa, a fertile, well-watered country on the edge of the desolate Danakil desert of Ethiopia. Complete details were lacking.

News Disquieting The disquieting news from Addis Ababa combined with disturbing reports from other points.

Gibraltar, the impregnable wall of rock that guards the entrance to the Mediterranean and is the first key point in Britain's jealously guarded all-empire route to the east came into the picture when Spain decided to station cavalry and infantry at the border, facing the neutral zone between Spain and British Gibraltar.

Spain has started extensive military maneuvers, evidently determined to see that her own Mediterranean interests are not jeopardized. Evidence that France and Britain are not pulling together in the situation to the same extent as in the past came when it was announced that Captain Anthony Eden, Britain's league negotiator, would leave on Monday for the league council session at Geneva next Wednesday without pausing in Paris.

The French cabinet, at a long meeting furnished evidence along the same line. The cabinet voted definitely against international penalties against Italy—a point that Britain has been urging, being unwilling to act alone against Italy but hoping for concerted pressure by the powers.

Dale is Speaker At Lions Meeting

Dr. W. H. Dale, who recently returned from an extended trip through Europe, was the main speaker at the luncheon of the Eugene Lions club Wednesday night. He told of the many interesting sights as seen in England, France, Germany, Russia, and the Scandinavian countries.

Captain R. D. Thompson and his son Don Thompson as well as Professor Calvin Crumbaker were guests at the luncheon. Captain Thompson and Don Thompson spoke a few words. Dr. Charles D. Donahue will be the chairman for the programs of the club for the month of September. Crosby Owens, vice-president, presided over the meeting. Wednesday, in the absence of Mr. Rodman, president.

Lane County Court Invited to Fair

The Lane county court Wednesday afternoon was given an invitation by O. S. Fletcher, county agricultural agent, in behalf of the state department of agriculture, to attend the state fair at Salem next Tuesday. This has been designated as a special day for county courts. A section will be reserved for them in the race track grandstand and other privileges will be extended them. County Judge Fred Fisk said that he might not be able to go on account of pressing duties as a member of the county board of equalization in hearing assessment complaints, but Commissioners Holland and Young expressed their intention of accepting the invitation.

State Turkey Men Show Production Gains at Oakland

The two-year-old Oregon Turkey Growers' association has shown considerable progress, according to County Agent O. S. Fletcher, who Wednesday returned from the annual convention of the organization in Oakland, Ore. More than 80 new members have been signed since the beginning of the year, increasing the flocks over which the association exercises jurisdiction by nearly 100,000 birds.

An increase in the territory covered by the association's membership made necessary the addition of two more members on the executive board, which formerly numbered five. All five of the old board were retained, three being re-elected to two year terms. They are: George Hall, Oakland; O. C. Brown, Dixonville; and I. C. McCord, Halsey. Two board members who yet have one year to serve are Joseph Kupetz, Junction City, and McKinley Huntington, of Roseburg.

The two new members elected Tuesday were C. J. Coyle, St. Paul, two years; and F. W. Wagner, Anzora, one year. McKinley was re-elected president of the association, with Hall as vice-president. Christina Micelli is secretary-treasurer. The production report showed that the association's members had almost doubled the quantity of turkeys marketed. In 1934, the total poultage was 454,083. The 1935 mark was 891,074. Turkey growers expected this figure to increase in 1936, because of the added membership.

EPICS GLEEFUL LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Upton Sinclair's "Epic" wing of California democracy was gleeful today in the belief that an alliance with the national administration would be a sequel to a secret conference of Postmaster General James A. Farley with their chiefs.

Farley, generalissimo of President Roosevelt, smilingly refused to comment on the situation, saying he had attended the parley "to meet the boys."

Sinclair, former socialist who is chief of California democrats in title, at least, was less reticent. "Mr. Farley has changed," he said, after declaring that "politics is not private." "He sees the view of liberal democrats. Our side has the votes. Ham Cotton has the money. Farley wants them both."

Sinclair referred to Hamilton H. Cotton, right-wing democratic leader in the state. He indicated the "Epics" would trade their command of California votes for inclusion of Sinclair's "production for use" program in the democratic platform next year.

Overton Guilty of No-Light Charge

Charles Overton was convicted by a jury in Justice of the Peace Dan Johnston's court Wednesday afternoon of the charge of failure to provide a light on a hay baler, on the highway. It was alleged this was the cause of an accident a short time ago. Sentence will be pronounced later. The jurors are James W. Law, Chester Danjel, Fred K. Foster, W. T. Carroll, Samuel H. Stage and Charles E. Best.

"I was frantic - Freddy had DISAPPEARED!"

"THE NOON hour passed and Freddy—two o'clock, four o'clock, supertime—oh, I was sure my ten-year-old had been kidnapped."

"I clung to the telephone, pleading for word from the police—yes, even called the emergency hospital."

"Finally a shout brought me to the window. And up the walk came a Standard Service Man riding Freddy on his shoulder. The little tyke had wandered into a Standard Gasoline Station tired out and scared. The kind Service Man put his name between sobs—then look up our address and took the time to bring him home. I was so happy I couldn't speak!"

The desire of every Standard Service Man is to render service as unsurpassed as the gasoline he sells. This unusual incident illustrates some of the exceptional efforts that are the direct result of the growth of the Standard Service Habit.
