

MODEL CONTEST BOOKED FOR PART IN FLYERS' MEET

Plans for the Second Annual National Amateur Air Meet of the Private Flyers association, set for June 27 and 28 at the Eugene airport, are progressing rapidly according to Yale Smith, national president.

A number of additional features have been booked. A model airplane contest for Eugene and Lane county youth interested in the production of flying model aircraft is slated.

There will be three classifications—flying stick for endurance; flying scale for distance; and flying scale for endurance. Applications for entry in the contest may be secured at P. F. A. headquarters, 36 W. Sixth avenue.

These applications must be turned in by Wednesday, June 24. The contest is open to all Lane county model enthusiasts, and in the two latter divisions there will be prizes for gasoline powered models as well as those powered with rubber bands.

Complete details on the radio experiments, entries, and other information concerning the entire meet will be carried in Sunday's Register-Guard.

Officials Discuss Morse Case Here In Informal Meet

Discussion of situations surrounding the ability of Dean Wayne L. Morse to serve on the civil service commission occupied much of the time of Mayor Eliska Large and his members of the city council at an informal conference here Wednesday night.

No action will be taken until the council meets in regular session Monday night as the Wednesday meeting was not a special session. No phase of the discussion had any official bearing and no minutes were kept.

The officials also talked of the advisability of giving the city hall a third coat of paint and of re-opening the restaurant building at 5th and Olive.

Chamber to Meet In Closed Session

"Closed session," was the order of the Chamber of Commerce, President James A. Rodica here Thursday for the weekly forum luncheon of the Eugene chamber Friday noon at the Del Rey cafe.

As the chamber will vote on amendments proposed two weeks ago by the constitution and by-law modification committee and discuss other business pertaining to internal affairs of the chamber, the president decided that no visitors would be permitted at the meeting. The full membership is urged to be present Friday.

Pro-America Women Invited to Meeting

Women of the Lane county chapter, Pro-America, national organization of republican women, who are interested in attending the first semi-annual meeting of Oregon chapter of Pro-America, to be held June 26, at the Masonic temple in Portland, may telephone Mrs. Hugh E. Rosson, 1052-W, for information about the meeting and for reservations.

The business meeting will be held at 9:30 a. m. with luncheon at noon at the Masonic temple. Open houses will be held during the afternoon at the new pro-America office, 1029 Pacific building, and tea will be served in the garden of one of the Portland members. A banquet will be held at 7 p. m. at the Masonic temple.

Mrs. Rosson is the delegate from the Lane county chapter to the meeting, and any of the members of the chapter are invited to attend the meeting also.

Calvin Pihl Wins Skrip Ink Contest

Calvin Pihl, Lincoln grade school student, and son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Pihl of 1542 Eleventh avenue east, won the first prize in the Skrip Ink contest sponsored here by McMorran & Washburn's store, and was awarded a bicycle.

The contest was for a period of six weeks, and the prize going to the person who sold the most ink during that time. Young Pihl was winner over 37 boys and girls entered in the contest.

The contest was conducted by the book department of McMorran and Washburn's.

V. F. W. to Initiate Class Friday Night

Willamette post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will initiate a class of candidates at the regular meeting at the armory Friday evening, according to Floyd Westerfield, commander.

Discussion of measures that are to come up at the state meeting at Albany July 9, 10 and 11 will also take place.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief Of Pain

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and waste out of the blood. If they don't pass 2 quarts a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be flushing.

If you have trouble with frequent bladder passages with scanty amount which often smart and burn, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Ask your druggist for Don's Pills—used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

UNFAVORABLE FACTS IMPORTANT CLAIMS CHAMBER SECRETARY

Stressing the necessity of knowing unfavorable factors about one's city and then concentrating on turning them into assets, John F. Durr, secretary-manager of the Eugene chamber of commerce, Thursday discussed the advantages and disadvantages of Eugene in a talk before the Eugene Active Club.

Basing his remarks on the civic survey now being made here by the Eugene chamber, Secretary Durr pointed out that the Eugene chamber intended to devote slightly from the generally approved chamber of commerce course in ferretting out such unfavorable factors, making them known and then offering leadership in correcting them for the benefit of the community.

One of the unfavorable factors in Eugene revealed in the survey so far is the type of corn and grain raised here, he declared. Due to the moist climate, corn, while of high quality, never dries out thoroughly with the result that much of it is brought into this area from outside points, he said. This fact should not be ignored, but should be taken into consideration and the united effort of the community directed toward remedial steps. He suggested the community should encourage development of methods to dry this corn so that this product would be one of its assets that it now is.

WPA Program to Be Heard Over Radio Saturday at 1 P. M.

On Saturday, June 20, at 1 p. m., Pacific standard time, there will be a nationwide hook-up over the red network of the National Broadcasting company, at which time a general discussion will take place dealing with the plans for the Works Progress Administration program for the coming fiscal year.

The broadcast will be released from Washington, D. C., where Harry L. Hopkins, Works Progress administrator, Governor Earle of Pennsylvania, Mayor Rossi of San Francisco, Aubrey Williams, executive director of the National Youth Administration, together with other nationally prominent persons will be heard.

A series of questions by representatives of various public groups, such as mayors, public officials, taxpayers, material manufacturers, project workers, etc., will be asked and direct replies to these questions will be given by Harry L. Hopkins and his assistant administrators. This program may be heard over KGW, Portland.

Archers' Pictures Appear in Display

Game and individual pictures of prominent archers in the northwest are on display here in the window of the Birch shoe store, 1022 Willamette.

Dominating the pictures are members of Lane county's Camellian Bowmen and the Robin Hood club, northwest archers' organization. The display will be in the window for three more days.

BRYANS HAVE DAUGHTER

City Recorder Cal M. Bryan and Mrs. Bryan are the parents of a daughter born Wednesday, June 17, at the Pacific hospital.

Total asset cost of illness in U. S. facilities with incomes of $2700 a year or less is approximately $2,400,000,000, according to estimates.

"Bryan's father's best health able to make a living off land for a number of generations, it is often difficult to make them see the advantage of irrigation which would make the land still more productive," he declared. "We should recognize this factor and strive to encourage the development of irrigation which will greatly enhance the productivity and value of our good land."

Secretary Durr emphasized the point that the survey now under way, upon its completion, would point out many of the unfavorable factors as the intention of camping thereon, without being equipped, for each vehicle or pack train, with the following fire fighting tools:

One axe not less than 26 inches in length overall, with head weighing 20 pounds, or over. One shovel not less than 36 inches long overall, with blade not less than eight inches wide. One water container, capacity one gallon or more. (This regulation is also urged for travelers in the Siuslaw forest area).

4. Building a camp fire in leaves, grass, or rotten wood, or other dangerous places, or in windy weather, without clearing around the fire pit and confining the fire to a hole.

5. Leaving any fire to burn unattended or failing to totally extinguish a fire before leaving it.

6. Throwing or placing a lighted cigarette, pipe heel, match, firecracker, or other lighted substance, or discharging fireworks, in any place where they may start a fire.

Mr. Elliott called attention to the fact that camp fire permits and fire fighting tools are not required if improved, posted camp grounds and that smoking while stopped in a safe place is permitted in the Willamette forest.

"Not wishing to restrict the public any more than is absolutely necessary for the safety of this forest, special closure will not become effective until July 10 due to the excessive amount of rainfall during June," he said. Drastic change in weather conditions should cause alteration of this policy, however, he stated.

LANDON'S LIFE STORY

came the proud father who raised everyone with his lessons and vitality at the Cleveland convention.

"The Monroes came to Astoria in 1760 from Scotland. They intermarried with a family of Houston, one of whom was on Washington's staff during the Revolution. Other fought with Commodore Perry at the Battle of Lake Erie in the War of 1812.

These are the families which united when John Manuel Landon courted Anne, daughter of the Methodist minister of his home town of Connecticut. John was a fool dresser who had made his way up in the oil fields to be a manager for the Union Oil Co. at Elba. Soon he was transferred to Marietta, and it was there young Alf Landon went to grade and preparatory schools.

Young Alf had a carefree and happy boyhood, whose only major sorrow was the death of his only sister. He learned to swim in the Muskegon river, and frolicked with the other boys in deep water off "The Rocks," a mile north of town.

QUIET, easy to know, and likeable—so he is recalled by the other members of a club organized by the town boys. A former teacher, Frank P. Wheeler, remembers that Alf was quiet and studious, worked hard and played hard, but recalls especially that he "was always neat and clean," and that "his grades were good—above average." He went regularly to the Methodist Sunday school at the church which his parents attended.

He reared chickens at a time when the "chicken craze" swept the country. Chicken fanciers, however, will take with a grain of salt the story about the boy holding a hen on his neck until she laid the 12th egg needed to make a dozen.

The one about the boy swimming 750-mile-wide Connecticut Lake is true, however, and so is the fact that he took the precaution to have a corked bottle follow him in a boat.

The boy's grandfather, Rev. Mosman, had been one of the originators of the Chautauque idea, and summers were spent there listening to the lecture and entertainment programs, or at nearby Connecticut Lake.

IN 1894 young Alf entered Marietta Academy. Here a promising athletic career was ended when the 11-pound end for Marietta broke his shoulder in a tangle with a Parkersburg high school backfield man. The shoulder did not mend properly, and ended competitive athletics for young Landon, though it has never hampered him in business or ordinary life.

Father and son were unusually close, and trekked together to St. Louis to see the World's Fair of 1904. They sat together in gallery seats to listen to Bryan's futile appeal to the democratic convention, for both were interested in politics. The idol of the 16-year-old boy at that time was Theodore Roosevelt, but he admired Bryan, too.

It was that same year of 1904 that the elder Landon was named superintendent for the Kansas Natural Gas Co. at Independence. The family moved to a new town, and their son was one day in the presence of a college boy who had back and paid the bill, and a boy who did not choose to present the bill.
