

Steels Are Steady In Market Trading; Local Markets All Unchanged

VARIED BERRIES DISPLAYED FOR SATURDAY TRADE

The Eugene markets had no changes to report Saturday morning. All produce—eggs, poultry, butter, and buttermilk—continued steady.

Good quantities of berries of various kinds were in for the day, raspberries, young berries, loganberries, blackberries, etc.

The local cabbage is slightly lower. A few more local grown green beans came in Saturday.

Various kinds of cherries are displayed on the markets now, too.

Shortage in Hay Hands Reported

HARRISBURG, June 27.—(Special)—Hay farmers are having trouble getting the crop up and there is a shortage of hay hands here. Because of the wet weather hanging on so late the hay men are anxious to get the crop under shelter while the weather is good. One man, G. G. Belts, is working with a crew of boys taken from town.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Baker have a daughter born June 19, at the Pacific hospital.

Arthur Tandy, rural mail carrier, is taking his vacation, and Walter Chastain is substituting for him.

From Portland

Mrs. Janie Willoughby and daughter, Mrs. M. E. Dunn of Portland, visited here recently with James Willoughby.

For the first time in years the Scott cherry orchard will not be picked this season. The owner is offering cherries on the trees at 3 cents a pound to anyone who will come after them. The crop is light and rains have damaged it
