

QUAKE BRINGS OUT LIVE FAULT IN BLUE MOUNTAIN REGION

PORTLAND, July 21.—(AP)—Nature, using an earthquake as a message, surrendered a secret of major significance from a centuries-old hiding place in the Blue Mountains—may be shook the Walla Walla valley of southern Washington and northeastern Oregon last Wednesday.

What her warning meant, now that she has revealed that which geologists never knew before—that a live fault existed in the Blue Mountains—may portend much or little but scientists will try to interpret it, Prof. Edwin T. Hodge said today.

Prof. Hodge, teacher of economic geology at Oregon State college and consulting geologist at the U. S. army engineering office here, said the unexpected earthquake was of "greatest interest" to geologists.

Live Fault Unknown
"We never knew there was a live fault there," he said, "although we had found dead faults. What the earthquake shows is that nature, in folding up the plains into the Blue mountains, fractured a part of her handwork and it is this deep fracture that caused Wednesday's earthquake."

"It shows that the mountains have not become thoroughly stable and that adjustments are still taking place. It excites two theories, which are: "Either that the earthquake is nature's finishing touch to the great

REAPPOINTED

Judd Stauffer, member of General Lawton camp of the United Spanish War Veterans of Eugene, was reappointed at the annual state convention at The Dalles last week as department patriotic instructor for Oregon. Mr. Stauffer served the past year and his work was outstanding, according to the retiring commander, James A. Beach. David Mitchell, also a member of the local camp, was appointed department color guard.

mountain range—the last element by which the structure becomes permanent—or that she is still building, possibly taking the strain off the earth's crust as it moves westward from Butte, and portends greater or lesser movements in the future.

Economic Aspects Interest
"Besides this scientific point, there is also great interest in the economic aspects—whether, if nature is still building, it would be necessary to strengthen buildings against damage in the future. Now geologists will try to learn just what this fault portends, although it is, of course, impossible to say when further disturbances might occur or what the intensity might be."

Prof. Hodge said the earthquake occurred in a region which, so far as history shows, has been comparatively free of disturbances.

He said Walla Walla and Milton-Freewater felt the earthquake particularly because the cities are built on alluvial deposits left by the rivers flowing westward from the Blue Mountains.

6-4 Year-Old Bridge Almost Breaks Down Under Log Traffic

The Fall Creek bridge between Lowell and Fall Creek postoffice has been strengthened by the installation of falsework and log trucks are now allowed to pass over it, according to County Engineer P. M. Morse.

The bridge, which is 46 years old, was greatly weakened recently by the breaking of several joints and it was deemed a safety measure to close it to log traffic until repairs were made. In the meantime work has been started on a new span half a mile above the old one.

Seven or eight joists were found to be broken a short time ago and before traffic could be stopped seven or eight more were broken.

The bridge was built for farm wagon and horse and buggy traffic and was never intended for such loads as logging trucks, bearing tons of heavy timbers, Engineer Morse pointed out. He said it was a wonder it stood up as long as it did.

Cup Challenge Round Gained By Aussies

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 21.—(AP)—Australia gained the Davis Cup challenge round against England today as Vivian McGrath defeated Heiner Henkel of Germany, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4, 6-4 for the Aussies' third and clinching victory in their tennis series against the Teutons.

By virtue of his triumph McGrath became the hero of the series. He was pressed into service yesterday after Adrian Quist injured an ankle playing against Baron Von Cramm last Saturday.

Jack Crawford and Quist qualified for the inter-zone final against Germany last month when they administered a 3-2 defeat to the United States team at Philadelphia.

PORTLAND, July 21.—(AP)—The Oregon Free Methodist churches brought their annual conference to an end Sunday with the appointment of new pastors and the ordaining of four deacons.

The closing sessions saw the dedication of a new children's tabernacle by Bishop Robert H. Warren, Seattle. Sunday schools raised $600 to complete it.

The conference voted deacon's orders to the Rev. Earl Newton, formerly of Brownsville and now a missionary in China, admitted Francis Pitcher, Salem; Ernest Hadsell, Five Rivers; and Clayton Green, Redmond, to the conference on trial, and elected Mrs. Esther H. Turner conference Sunday school secretary, succeeding Mrs. Rozella Douglas, Grants Pass, who resigned because of illness in her family.

The stationing committee's appointments included: William McCormick, Eugene and West Springfield, and Clayton Green, Cottage Grove.

Gladioli Measure Six Feet in Height! Are Yours Taller?

A new season brings a new record in the flower and vegetable realm. Now it is the turn of the gladiolus. With her gladioli measuring six feet in height and the flower stem 29 inches, Mrs. Morris Heth, 1400 Eighth avenue west, Eugene, claims the tallest gladioli in this section.

Mrs. Heth says the flowers were planted along with others at the edge of the vegetable garden and "they just grew" since no special care was given them. The flower is a large horn shape, reddish purple in color. Step up, flower gardeners, and register the height of your gladioli!

BAER TAKES TERMS FOR SCHMELING GO

OGDEN, Utah, July 21.—(AP)—Ancl Hoffman said today he has accepted terms for Max Baer to meet Jimmy Braddock in Madison Square Garden in September if the Garden does not sign a heavyweight title fight between Braddock and Max Schmeling.

"Max is in great shape," his manager said. "He now weighs only 213 pounds."

Hoffman said he talked with Jimmy Johnson, Madison Square Garden manager, last night by telephone, and that Johnson "agreed to match Braddock with Baer if the Schmeling negotiations fall through."

Johnson holds an option on Braddock's services which expires July 29 unless a match is arranged. Schmeling is fighting under the banner of the Twentieth Century club and Hoffman said prospects of a sign-up "do not look too good."

"We agreed to accept the challenger's end," Hoffman said in announcing terms. "That's 12 1/2 per cent."

"His hands are O. K. and he packs his old-time wallop. He's shown me on this tour that he is determined to come back."
