"THESE THREE" IS POWERFUL DRAMA OF RUINED LIVES

How one vicious lie almost wrecked the lives of three innocent people is the powerful dramatic theme of "These Three." Samuel Goldwyn's latest production which brings Miriam Hopkins, Merle Oberon and Joel McCrea to the Heilig theatre begins Sunday. The story of this Lillian Hellman screen play is laid in a small girls' school which Martha Dobie (Miriam Hopkins) and Karen Wright (Merle Oberon) establish with the aid of Joe Cardin, a young local doctor (Joel McCrea), whom both love.

The whole school is harried by the presence of Mary Tilford, a vicious child given to glib lying and bullying of the other children. To evade punishment for a misdemeanor, she runs away from school inventing a malleable lie involving these three innocent adults, as her reason. An ugly scandal develops, as a result of which the school is lost, the romance which had developed between Karen and Joe is broken and the lives of all three seem irreparably ruined until Martha succeeds in bringing the truth to light and the story to a happy ending.

Jack London Story Portrays Northland

A beautiful girl from "outside" pits her love against the pitiless code of the wild in Jack London's "White Fang." Twentieth Century production opening Wednesday at the McDonald with Michael Whalen and Jean Muir in the leading roles.

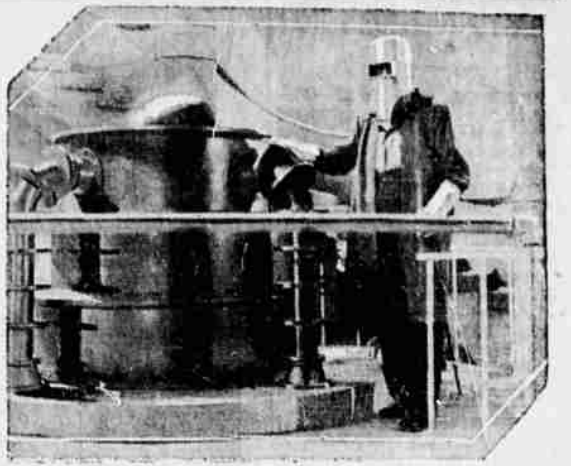

Jean Muir is seen as the courageous heroine who dares all the perils of the north-country to help the man she loves. Michael Whalen has the leading role, with the cast also including Slim Summerville, Charles Winninger, John Carradine, Jane Darwell and Thomas Beck.

"Educating Father," the other half of the McDonald's program, tells a hilarious story of how the up-and-coming youngsters of The Jones Family bring dad up to date.

Jed Prouty plays the title role of "Dad" Jones, who finally graduates from the school of experience, after going through a series of, to him, harrowing adventures.

The Carnegie Institution of Washington reports the presence of carbon dioxide on the planet Venus. This practically is proof that some form of life exists on that planet, it is said.

NOT THE BLACK LEGION!

Boris Karloff toys with cosmic secrets in "The Invisible Ray," chilling State theatre patrons from Thursday on.

REX BILL OFFERS NEW SCREEN PAIR

"Small Town Girl," the headline show at the Rex this Sunday, brings together a brand-new team of screen sweethearts, Janet Gaynor and Robert Taylor. Both reach new heights in the stirring story about a modern runaway marriage brought about by the rural girl's effort to escape the boredom of a small town that is snuffing out her life.

Miss Gaynor's work as the small town girl is outstanding as is Taylor's in the role of the young doctor who wakes up in his car to find that he is married and who takes his wife on a honeymoon to avoid a scandal—and then refuses to even speak to her.

With the star duo of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, is a cast including such favorites as Binnie Barnes, Lewis Stone, Andy Devine, Elizabeth Patterson, Frank Craven and James Stewart.

'Earthworm Tractors' Is Famous Post Story

Millions have read of the hilarious exploits of Alexander Botts, the whimsical and egotistical tractor salesman and comedy hero of the famous series of stories, "Earthworm Tractors," written by William Hanlett Upon for the Saturday Evening Post.

Now Alexander Botts has been brought to life on the screen in the First National comedy, "Earthworm Tractors," which is scheduled as the feature attraction at the McDonald theatre Saturday. Botts, on the screen, is no other than the famous wide mouthed comedian Joe E. Brown.
