CRIME REPORT TO BE SUBMITTED SOON

A comprehensive report, covering findings and recommendations resulting from research studies of eight different phases of the crime situation in Oregon, will be submitted to Governor Martin by the state planning board before the legislature meets, it was announced here today by Dr. P. A. Parsons, head of the department of sociology at the University of Oregon and member of the state board. Dr. Parsons, as chairman of the board's coordination committee, will have the cooperation of various committees and groups, from whose findings he will formulate the final report.

The projects to be reported on are:

A uniform system of records for all state institutions, including the penitentiary, two training schools and other such agencies.

A complete card index of all persons who are or have been in the various institutions since 1920.

A report on families showing multiple commitments.

Proposed changes in the parole system.

The desirability or undesirability of an intermediate reformatory institution.

The possibility of adopting a system of segregation and special treatment in the present prison.

The possibility of introducing a more extensive use of manufacturing process in the prison for the purpose of providing employment and to help with a practical education program.

Suggestions for an educational program to be introduced in the prison for a more effective reformatory influence and to assist in the rehabilitation of men who are to be returned to society.

Some of the studies are already nearing completion, it is announced by Dr. Parsons. The report will be made public so that citizens as well as members of the legislature and civic officials will have a chance to express an opinion on the findings.
