

THOUGH KING EDWARD VIII has become Duke of Windsor and a voluntary exile, new developments and revelations keep abdication principals in the spotlight. New intimate snapshots of Edward and Mrs. Wallis Simpson, like that above just received in America, add fuel to the controversy raging round them.

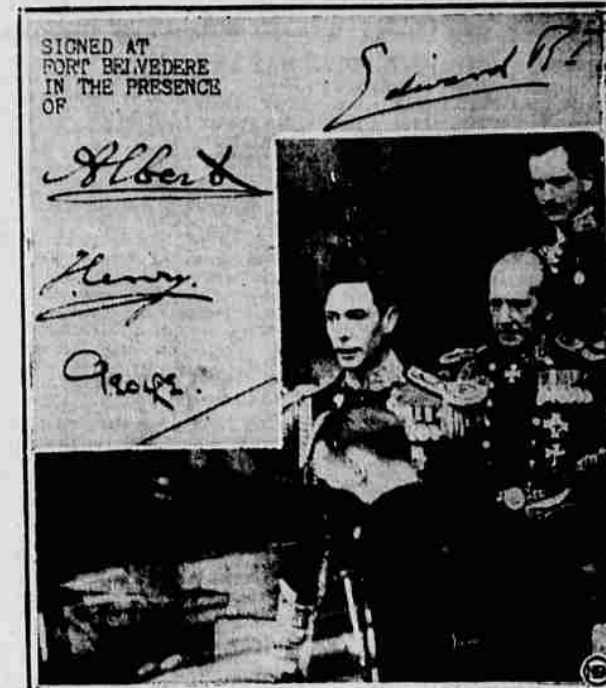

WITH A FEELING OF relief after the tense, peril-fraught days before the abdication, London watched the pomp and ceremony (above) that proclaimed George VI King of England and Emperor of India. Meanwhile Edward journeyed into exile.

THE INK was hardly dry on Edward's abdication before sculptors and artists began designing likenesses of George VI for use in coronation souvenirs.

PRIME INSTIGATORS of the abdication, at the moment of victory the minds of the Archbishops of Canterbury (left) and York seethed with the denunciatory phrases they later loosed against exiled Edward. They go above to swear in the new ruler.

OUT OF ENGLAND'S most critical episode of modern times there emerged the Gibraltar-like figure of King George VI (below, on way to take oath of allegiance). The climax of the tense days when king and ministers battled over Edward's desire to marry is represented by four signatures (above), on the abdication papers.

ELECTION CONTEST WON BY REPUBLICAN

CONCORD, N. H., Dec. 28.—(AP)—For the second time since election day, Arthur H. Jones (R.) today was U. S. representative-elect from New Hampshire's first congressional district.

The state ballot law commission, after an 11 hour session last night, announced Jones had defeated Alphonse Roy (D.), previously named winner of the contest by 17 votes, by a 10 vote margin. The commission gave Jones 51,949 and Roy 51,939.

On the first tabulation Jones was declared the winner by 556 votes but Roy protested and a re-check tied both at 51,979, the first congressional tie in the country since 1826.

Another recount gave Roy the election by 17 votes. Jones protested. The commission's announcement of Jones' final victory came after an exhaustive check of 337 disputed ballots.

Agriculture Gets New Deal As Roosevelt Gives Wallace Almost Unlimited Authority

By FRED O. BAILEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The administration shuffled the cards today for another "new deal" for agriculture in President Roosevelt's second term. A coordinated four-point program is planned.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, with increased power, will be the "dealer." President Roosevelt has given him almost unlimited authority in agricultural problems.

The program: (1) Soil conservation, (2) crop insurance, (3) production control and (4) rural rehabilitation.

Wallace will ask congress to strengthen his hand and back him up with appropriations likely to total close to $1,000,000,000. His legal experts for months have been preparing drafts of important new legislation which will go to congress with strong administration support.

First of the legislative agenda is a crop insurance program for wheat. An initial appropriation of at least $100,000,000 is estimated as necessary to start the most gigantic crop insurance program ever undertaken.

Congress will be asked next to appropriate $500,000,000 for operation of the soil conservation act in 1937. Wallace plans to ask congress to amend the 1935 soil conservation act, which provided for state administration beginning in 1938, to permit continued federal administration.

An executive order this week is expected to transfer the resettlement administration to the department of agriculture. The resignation of Rexford Guy Tugwell, its creator, will be accepted and Deputy Administrator William W. Alexander will be appointed in his place.

Resettlement will seek congressional appropriation of at least $150,000,000 for expanded 1937 activities. It will administer aid to 1,500,000 farm persons now on federal relief rolls. More than 1,000,000 of these are being taken off WPA rolls, at an estimated saving of $20,000,000 a year.

Possible means to aid 2,500,000 farm tenants—12 per cent of all the farmers in the nation—are being studied by a committee appointed by President Roosevelt and headed by Wallace. If this problem is attacked on as ambitious a scale as planned, an appropriation of $50,000,000 may be necessary.

A drought committee, appointed by President Roosevelt, plans a report this week recommending legislation to effect important changes in great plains farming. The government has spent $40,000,000 in the purchase of 10,000,000 acres of arid land to be returned to grasses. A request for a further appropriation appears probable.

Production control presents a knotty problem, since the supreme court in invalidating the AAA ruled the federal government has no such power. Control of production, however, is woven into the fabric of every major farm plan—soil conservation, crop insurance and rural rehabilitation. Without it, Wallace believes, none of them can be permanently and fully successful.

Achoo! Othman Finally Tries Out Sensational Snuff Boxes! Solons Use It for Head Colds

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—I finally got my chance at the senatorial snuff boxes today and—achoo—what a mistake that turned out to be!

The snuff of the senators is hot, like habanos, and ticklish-like. For four long years I'd been waiting patiently to sneak a dip of this senatorial snuffbox and when at last I did, it nearly ripped off the top of my head.

Except for a furniture man trying to rub the snuffboxes off the desk of Sen. Joe Guffey, D. Pa., the chamber was empty when I walked, scowling, like I owned the place. The senator must have banged pretty hard, because the man was rubbing briskly and paying no attention to me.

Ahead, like two sirens on either side of the dais, were those Japanese snuff boxes at which I'd look covetously from the gallery for so many years. The moment was auspicious. I flipped open the lid of the left box with the pictures of Oriental ladies on it, and took myself a generous pinch of the senator's snuff. Then I walked over to the other box and took another whiff from it. Woosh! Did you ever have a skyrocket whizzing around inside your head?

My sneezes brought some of the help on the double-quick. "Tsk, tsch, tsch," they said. "I didn't have any loudness in the chamber in the first place. I didn't have any business sampling the senators' snuff, and it served me right, they added.

They were humanitarian. They said they wouldn't toss me out in my weakened condition, so we sat down on the maroon leather chairs of the

ROPER PREDICTS U. S. INCOME TO BE 60 BILLIONS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Hailing "broadened" economic recovery, Secretary Roper estimated today the national income this year would be $60,000,000,000, or three-fourths of 1929's. That figure, the commerce department head in his annual report said probably would make income produced equal to national income paid out for the first time since 1929. (This means that the total value of industry's products would equal total expenditures for wages, dividends, interest and similar costs.)

The disparity between income produced and income paid out reached almost $9,000,000,000 in 1932. Last year, income produced fell short of that paid out by $625,000,000.

Reporting on general business conditions during the last fiscal year, Roper said economic recovery broadened during the year with acceleration in the durable goods industries and construction, and a further rise in farm income, employment and wages.

A further upturn in foreign trade also was reported, the secretary attributing this in part to moderation of trade barriers.

In addition, he said, "unsettled conditions abroad and threats of war" caused some countries to expand purchases of raw materials and industrial equipment.

Guernsey Cattle Breeders to Meet

Lane county breeders of Guernsey cattle will meet in Eugene at the Osburn hotel at 12 o'clock noon on Wednesday to discuss Guernsey breeders' problems and other matters of general interest. C. W. Robinson, western representative of the American Guernsey Cattle club will be present and will show breed promotion motion pictures.

All Lane county breeders of Guernsey cattle are invited to attend, according to O. S. Fletcher, county agent, who has cooperated in arranging the meeting.
