quet to the older girls below. Aimee, her brunette sister and maid-of-honor, caught it.

Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Du Pont gaily returned the kisses thrown to them by their newlywed son and daughter.

The Rev. Endicott Peabody, officiating minister, 32 years ago conducted the same ceremony for Franklin's father when he married Eleanor Roosevelt in New York.

The bride looked up at Franklin, a head taller than she as they walked down the aisle. He whispered something. She whispered back. They both laughed.

Pose For Pictures

The ones of the groom's family on the right side of the church and the bride's family on the left followed every step. At the door, they stopped. In happy humor, they posed for pictures, stepped in a limousine and drove away.

The president, who had declined to be near the head of the procession, left as he had entered the church, on the arm of his son, Elliott.

Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, the president's mother, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. J. R. Roosevelt, both wearing black and white chiffon dresses, rode with the president.

Others in the party were Mrs. James Roosevelt, Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, daughters-in-law of the president; Hall Roosevelt, Mrs. Roosevelt's brother, and John Boettiger, the president's son-in-law.

Among the guests at the church were the president's cabinet and more than two score members of the du Pont family.

thereby causing a glut in the market and a waste of our resources.

"We owe it to our people who are engaged in the logging and sawmill industries to provide them with continued and permanent employment that can only be assured by placing timber on a sustained yield basis."

He appealed for development of the mining industry by using cheap power and building roads into mining regions, and said advertising and development of scenic attractions is sorely needed so that the "tourist crop," which spent $35,000,000 last year, can be increased.

AT WALTERVILLE

WALTERVILLE, July 1.—(Special).—Four or five of the ladies of the Community club met Tuesday afternoon at the upper N. O. W. hall for quilting and visiting.

Group picnics are being planned for the Fourth of July which will be celebrated in most families, Monday, July 5. Some people are planning on weekend trips and others are celebrating Saturday. One favorite Fourth of July resort is at Crawfordsville where many from this vicinity are celebrating.

found Monday. He believes they may have seen the kidnap-slayer.

Funeral services were set for today for the Stephens girl and the funeral of the two Everett sisters will be held tomorrow.

The coroner's inquest into the case is set for tomorrow.

Sheriff deputies were searching the Florence and Bell areas, several miles east of here following a report a degenerate sought to lure three girls into a green sedan last night.

The three girls were Janice Ancock, 9, Betty Mae Johnson, 10, both of the Florence school, and Martha Lawrence, 8, a neighbor playmate.

Reports to Sheriff

The girls ran to their homes and James H. Hancock, father of one of them, reported to the sheriff substation.

Some of those who saw the three little girls leaving Inglewood Saturday on their ride to death, say that it was a green sedan in which they were carried away.

A crowd of 2,000 irate citizens pressed about the Inglewood city hall last night as Dow was transferred there from the Los Angeles central police station.

Shouts of "hang him!" went up as the manacled prisoner was led into the hall, but no move was made to wrest him away from police guards.

JUST YOUR LUCK

Whiskers on his chin-o.
Put half a ducat in the bucket.
And right away start in'o.

Underneath his snoot.
Day by days it led the way
To his potato shute.

But his handsome face is smooth as glass.
For fifty cents he's stuck, alas.

Upon his cheek and jowl,
And 50 cents from out his pants
Will make him cuss and howl.

Shy and Skeet sell wood and peat
To keep the winter's chill off.
But 50 cents from both these gents
Will cancel all this bill off.

NEW PARK GETS STRONG SUPPORT

brush, and clearing the Amazon slough. Victor Todd, WPA engineer, indicated that the project was eligible for WPA aid.

By next spring, work could be started on improving the canal drainage. Much progress has already been done on this part of the work, according to A. A. Reid, councilman and member of the park board.

Park board officials were quick to deny that drainage would be an exceptional expense to the city, pointing out that much of the trouble has been due to a clogged canal.

Landscape Area

During the first year, efforts will be concentrated on landscaping the area, planting grass and trees. By next year, results would become visible, it was declared by Mr. Cuthbert.

"Developing a park does not mean a million-dollar plant," he pointed out. "Landscaping brings beautiful results with just a little investment of money."

Although the more inexpensive type of athletic fields such as croquet court and softball diamonds might be laid out by the park board it appeared Thursday that the support of outside groups would account for the development of a recreational plant.

DRIVER FINED AND SENTENCED TO JAIL

George Swearington of Jasper was fined $100 and was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail Thursday by Justice of the Peace John Bryson on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated. His driver's license was also revoked for a year. Swearington was arrested by a state police officer Wednesday evening after his car went into the ditch on the McKenzie highway east of Springfield. Nobody was injured but the car was damaged.

Charles Howell pleaded guilty in justice court Thursday to the charge of violating the basic traffic rule and was fined $25. His license was suspended six months. He was cited by a state police officer Wednesday night while driving into town from the fireworks display at the Holeman place on the highway north of Eugene. It was alleged he crowded several cars into the curbing.

Thomas Joe Murray was fined $5 and costs on a charge of creating a disturbance at 235 Roosevelt avenue Wednesday night. The justice suspended the fine when he paid the costs.

Edith Grace Cozad was fined $1 on a charge of having no operator's license.

Lester A. Lewis, David Warren Lamb and Elvin Lewis have been cited by the state police to appear on a charge of having venison in their possession out of season.

WHAT THEY THINK OF NEW PARK PLAN

one that should be taken advantage of while the opportunity is offered."

Earl Immel, lawyer and sportsman.—"Eugene has been backward in providing recreational facilities for its residents. It seems that at the earliest opportunity the city should make an effort to provide these much needed facilities so that in the future these facilities will be available to the people of Eugene."

Miss Maude Densmore.—"If more park space can be obtained that will be of benefit to the people—if it really could be used and not be just something beautiful to look at—it would be a wonderful thing to take over this property now and develop it."

Mrs. Thomas S. Wells.—"If we can add to our park area without too much burden, we certainly ought to do it. Eugene is short of park facilities and it is a matter of civic pride and a most laudable thing to work to get more park and recreational facilities."

Obituaries

Mrs. Olive C. Davis

MAPLETON, July 1.—(Special)—Mrs. Olive C. Davis died June 21, at Siletz, Ore., after a brief illness. Olive Cole was born February 4, 1886 in Indiana. INDIANA STEEL STRIKE SETTLED tee, C. I. O. affiliate, for signed labor contracts.

Republic Steel corporation, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Inland and Bethlehem Steel are affected.

Strike Now Quiet

Elsewhere the long strike front was quiet.

The Inland truce, said Gov. Townsend, consists of two parts. The first was a "statement of faith" on the part of the company and the SWOC. That, among other things, provided for the return of striker, and non-strikers without discrimination.

The second consisted of a labor policy previously announced by Inland Steel to its employes.

Clarence B. Randall, vice-president and spokesman for Inland Steel, announced the truce represented "not one jota" of concession to the C. I. O.

On the other hand, Nicholas Fontecchio, director of SWOC in the Calumet (Indiana-Illinois) steel section, said: "We won the strike. It is the best settlement yet made with any steel company."

Makes Statement

"We signed nothing last night," said Randall. "We made no agreement with anybody.

"The C. I. O. simply accepted Gov. Townsend the provisions of our labor policy which we submitted to the governor last Saturday. Our letters to the governor restated the labor policy we announced to our employes May 25. We stand on that policy. Our policy now and last night is identical with that we set forth in the mediations at Cleveland."

Randall said the only action the company took last night was to repeat by telegram to Gov. Townsend at his request its previous declaration that men would be taken back to work without discrimination in regard to membership in any labor organization.

Active Club Will Sponsor Candidate

The Eugene Active club decided to sponsor a queen candidate for the Oregon Trail pageant at their regular weekly luncheon meeting Thursday noon. Their candidate has not been selected, but will be announced Saturday night, it was said.

The club also decided to sponsor a float in the industrial parade, to be held in connection with the show.
