Oregon Trail Call Board

TODAY
1:30 p. m.—Singing chorus meets for rehearsal in Methodist church. Rehearsal is still open for men and boys over 16 years of age. Registration has been closed to women. Hal Young, chorus director, announced.

WEDNESDAY
7:30 p. m.—Children living near St. Mary's playground, or River Road playground meet for dancing rehearsal.

SPECIAL DANCE REHEARSAL
Scheduled for Wednesday night has been called off, reported Mildred Moore, dance director, because the Pageant stage is not yet ready for rehearsal. All dance leaders of lines are asked to meet Mrs. Moore in the grandstand at the playgrounds at 6:45 Saturday evening, July 20, for the rehearsal of the cast. Dances will be practiced first, as the dancing choruses are asked to be present promptly at 7 o'clock.

"Pageantsters" in real life are Ed Hunt, T. D. Halley, and his sister. They drive a one-horse buggy with a make-shift trailer, made from an old buggy. It has a four-by-four torque, and is connected to the buggy by a chain.

Hunt wears a beard, old-fashioned clothes and gum boots all year round, while his sister always wears the long gown of pioneer days.

Another of the genuinely "pioneer" people of Lane county is Hiram Pickens of Foster, who uses a yoke of oxen to do all his work every year.

RUSSEL BROUGHER WILL SPEAK HERE

In the evening, his evangelistic sermon was entitled, "Wakeup and Live."

Dr. Russel Brougher and Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, Jr., are the sons of Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher, former president of the Northern Baptist conference of America, who will also be in Eugene during August to speak at the Baptist church.

Date of Queen's Ball Is Changed

Selection of Queen Rosamund IV, originally scheduled for the evening of Saturday, July 19, has been postponed to the evening of Monday, July 22, at the Eugene armory. It was announced at parent headquarters Tuesday.

The change was necessitated by a conflict in dates, according to Ralph Schomb, parent manager, Friday night, complete with the necessities of a well rounded community life, or will it be just another city?

He declared he realized "we are still covered by depression, and that for too many years our 'nation' has had to be the watch word," and continued, "Perhaps we have little reason for being so depressed, but we will suffer more than ever if we do not get our feet set on a firm basis in our own community, in our state, and in our nation."

Quoting George W. Braden, western representative of the Playground and Recreation association of America, Mr. Cuthbert declared studies made on total area of open spaces—standard of one acre per hundred persons in the urban district—the basis would call for nearly 100 acres of park land that we have today. The same study points out children's neighborhood play park, municipal, or school site needs of five acres in extent. Eugene's only playgrounds, other than the one at Skinner Butte park, are our school grounds which average about one acre each of real play space, and this play space is inadequately designed and equipped for the needs of the small child.

Facilities Lacking
"Our facilities under this head are pitifully lacking. If it were not for spraying on the university facilities, the youth of Eugene could not play a game of football and have a cheering section. They could not hold a track meet. There are only two tennis courts to serve the entire tennis loving populace of Eugene."

Under the survey study on family services, the speaker said, "A modest estimate of the acreage of park land which we should have under development to care for the active recreation needs of the present would be 90 acres. If we have our faith in Eugene we should have set aside in suitable locations, at least 45 acres more than the present city needs."

Quoting Mr. Braden again, Mr. Cuthbert said the former has stated that in the next five years a western city needs a 2 mill annual tax budget to operate successfully on a "per capita" basis. Such a plan would give Eugene a park budget of $24,000 annually.

Much fine work has been done under the WPA in the parks, but the interesting thing about that work is that it largely was of a maintenance nature, work that should be done regularly and continually, just to keep the parks from going completely back to nature. New construction under the WPA was slight and Eugene missed an opportunity in not securing WPA help for new park development, Mr. Cuthbert stated.

In concluding his talk, Mr. Cuthbert said "There is such a thing as an individual being too miserly for his own good and happiness. The same can be said of cities."

RUSSIANS CLASH WITH JAP FORCES

Japan caused by last week's battle of the Amur river.

Only the most delicate diplomatic negotiations are being conducted at the time Japan from an open front after Japan had invoked the mutual assistance pact with Manchukuo, the state she carved out of Manchuria, and surrounded the young state's strong protests to Russia.

Japan accused the Soviet of opening fire on Japanese and Manchukuoan soldiers as they were backing off from the island in the Amur river, the body contested border between northeastern Manchukuo and Siberia.

Japanese shore batteries opened fire on and sank one Soviet gunboat, disabled another, and drove off a third.

Troops of both claimants to the island were withdrawn over the week end and the grave crisis was thought to have been ended although at the time Japanese "aggression" was to be expected.

The alleged assault yesterday was received here with the greatest surprise and apprehension. The scene of the latest incident lies about a thousand miles from that of the Amur river battle.

(Chienchiang low southwest of Hulin on the Trans-Siberian railway about midway between Vladivostok to the south and Khabarovsk, the headquarters of the Soviet far east army, on the north.)

It is about 350 miles northeast of Vladivostok.

her father's career in medicine, Miss Beardley came to the conclusion that the next few years will see many developments and changes in the medical world.

"I felt that as a student, it was difficult to foresee what these developments might mean to one just learning so important a profession and that it might be wiser for me to take up some other study," she said.

She therefore majored in sociology at the University of Oregon and graduated in 1926. Her studies in this field turned her interest to criminology and to the penal systems of America. While at the university she was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Right now Miss Beardley is taking a business course at the Eugene Business college, but she says she is not definitely a "career woman."

"That is entirely a matter that is up to the individual," she believes.

She likes to "cook if she doesn't have to" and she definitely does not sew. Sewing was an important part of her life. She plays golf, tennis, likes to swim and intends to take up skiing this winter.

A few years ago she had a ride in an airplane and immediately became an enthusiast on aviation. Her next trip into the air was as a student and she intends to complete her course and learn to fly in the near future.

Amateur theatricals are another interest of this young candidate and she was a member of Thespian, student organization devoted to this field. She enjoys music—both classical and jazz. "The rhythm of modern music is great for dancing, but I enjoy classical music too."

Wagner and Purini are her favorite composers. She plays the piano and hopes to take up the pipe organ soon.

Miss Beardley is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. S. Beardley and was born in Eugene Aug. 27, 1913. She attended the Eugene high school before entering the University of Oregon. The junior chamber candidate traces real pioneer blood in her veins as her ancestors on her mother's side, the Sandfords, were pioneer settlers in Lane county, making up a domain land claim near Oakridge. She is a member of the Central Presbyterian church.

MISS BEARDSLEY LIKES SOCIOLOGY

Attach Slight Importance
Coast-guard officials attached little importance to the message, however.

Despite the severe disappointment the search will continue today, its center probably shifting southward 500 miles from a point 250 miles north of Howland island to the Phoenix islands.

Hope of immediate rescue of Miss Earhart and Fred Noonan, navigator of her $50,000 "flying laboratory," soared when the Itasca was overheard at 3:45 a. m. eastern standard time, rattling the plane:

"We can see your flares; are coming toward you."

Forty-five minutes later, came a second message:

"We see your flares. Go ahead."

Then came the bitter anti-climax when officers of the cutter reported to listening land stations the ship's lookout might have mistaken heat flashes for a flare, and later, their decision it was "probably a meteor."

Also Saw Lights
Tiny Howland island, destination of Miss Earhart's 2,570 mile flight from British New Guinea last week, also reported seeing the lights. Flares carried by the missing plane could not have been sighted by both.

"This is the second time that the Itasca has made a wild chase to locate what appeared to be flares. Last Friday, the cutter sped eastward from Howland, where it was stationed for the flight, but found the lights it thought were flares were only rising stars.

The lights were seen today from 280 miles north of Howland, where an incomplete radio message yesterday indicated the flares were drifting with the current of the equatorial sea.

Miss Earhart's husband, George Palmer Putnam, however, was so firmly convinced the message was misinterpreted that the Itasca Flares coast guard radio sent out a message to searching ships of three nations asking them to shift their lookout 290 miles southeast of Howland island.

Thought an Atoll
Putnam based his opinion on the inability of his wife's radio to operate when the plane is on the water. The radio batteries were situated under the wing where they would be useless if she alighted on water. He has persistently held to the belief she had reached one of the tiny Atolls which dot the equatorial Pacific. None of them are within 300 miles north of Howland.

MORE STEEL MILLS OPEN UNDER GUARD

mobilization of 100 national guardsmen at Akron, O., the big rubber-making center, was dissolved when officers said the troops were merely being held for duty "anywhere in northeastern Ohio."

Many Mills Reopening
The back-to-work movement in Cleveland, breaking the strike which since May 26, left independent steel companies in a position to claim that with the exception of a few plants, all mills were operating at least partially throughout the Twente strike area.

Only a few pockets heckled the workers going back to their jobs.

The Edgar Manufacturing company closed its plants at Mentor, Mich., after a pocket had been killed by an automobile.

"Taking up the financial side of the picture, the speaker mentioned cities which have a three per cent total assessed value for total outlays. Under this plan, Eugene would have a total valuation of $300,000. "Eugene has spent for park lands, $60,000," it was pointed out. "Under a plan for $2 per cent for an annual operating budget, Eugene, on this basis would have an annual park budget of $50,000. It now has a little over $3000. it was stated.

Pointing out that Eugene has an interesting program set up under the name of topic of social arts, parties, clubs, dancing, dining, art participation and appreciation of music, drama, painting, sculpture, etc., continued.

DRYER REITERATES CRIME CONFESSION

to plead guilty to the French crime. "I will ask the grand jury Wednesday for a first degree murder indictment," said the district attorney. "Then we will seek a quick trial and demand the death penalty."

Will Not Retract
Elts and Sheriff Eugene Bissell gave Dyer an opportunity to retract his confession of Sunday night to the triple killings last June 26, but they said he lifted his right hand and declared:

"Before my God, I swear I killed those three little girls and attacked them."

Drivers' Licenses Get New Nickname

SALEM, July 6.—(AP)—A shabby looking man walked through the door of the state office building and said, "Where can I get one of those gold dined highway bustin' licenses?"

Sympathetic attendants, who had spent the last two days on the crowded highways, knew immediately he wanted a driver's license.

CUTHBERT FLAYS PARK SITUATION

and population would suggest," Mr. Cuthbert declared, adding, "... It will grow continuously, nothing can stop it, but we will have to make it a real city, complete with the necessities of a well rounded community life, or will it be just another city?"

He declared he realized "we are still covered by depression, and that for too many years our 'nation' has had to be the watch word," and continued, "Perhaps we have little reason for being so depressed, but we will suffer more than ever if we do not get our feet set on a firm basis in our own community, in our state, and in our nation."

SUPREME COURT BATTLE STARTS

abstract the business of the senate, I announce my intention to keep this bill before the senate until it is disposed of."

Before Robinson's motion—to take up the bill—could be voted on, Senator Clark (D-Mo.), a foe of the measure, called for a quorum. It was quickly obtained. Most senators already were in their seats.

Battle Underway
Robinson's motion was then agreed to without a record vote, and the long-awaited battle was under way.

The Arkansas next moved to substitute for the original House bill the new measure informally introduced last week by Senators Logan (D-Ky.), Hatch (D-N.M.), and Ashurst (D-Ariz.).

This bill would permit appointment of new justices for each incumbent over 75 years of age, but only at the rate of one a year. Increases in the size of the court would be temporary, instead of permanent.

The public galleries were crowded for the opening of the debate.

Senator Hiram Johnson (R-Calif.), a bitter court bill foe who has missed recent senate sessions, was in his seat. Senator Shipstead (F-I-Minn.), another long absentee, also was on hand.

Senator Pittman (D-Nebr.), president pro tem of the senate, asked that the voluminous compromise measure—including about 2,500 words, be read in full.

ACCIDENT TOLL IN NW IS HEAVY

The victim apparently had been in the water several days.

Edward Weaver, negro from Palm Springs, Texas, received fatal injuries attempting to board a Southern Pacific freight train near Albany.

loyd Green, stockbroker from Richmond, died of a gunshot wound in southeast Lane county. Brady Potter, a sheepherder who was at the camp with the victim, told investigators his rifle discharged as he cleaned it. He ran for help to the Logger Butte ranger station and then returned with the injured man until he died.

Airplane accidents caused the deaths. A parachute jumper was killed in Iowa. Shootings by veterans of industrial mishaps were other accidents attributed to fireworks. The incidents or drawings.
