

MANY PRESENT AT "PAGEANT MEETING" OF JUNIOR CHAMBER

A large group attended the Junior Chamber of Commerce dinner and program Tuesday evening at McCready cafe, members and their wives wearing pioneer costumes in honor of the coming Oregon Trail pageant.

George Todd, president, introduced the first speaker, Ralph Schomp, pageant manager, who expressed appreciation of the pageant association for the promotion work done by the Junior Chamber, especially the drill team's publicity work on trips to Portland, Lebanon, Roseburg, Cottage Grove, and other places. As a result of the team's trip to the Lebanon Strawberry festival, he said that he had received a call from Lebanon with an offer of their drum corps, band and children's band for participation in the pageant parades. He also thanked the American Legion drum corps for their part in the pageant promotion.

James A. Rodman, president of the Eugene chamber of commerce, spoke for the senior chamber, citing the ways in which the two chambers of commerce were working together for the furthering of Eugene interests.

Miss Lorraine Beardsley was introduced and she thanked her sponsors for the honor of becoming "Miss Junior Chamber of Commerce."

Mrs. Sarah Knopel was applauded as the best seller of pageant badges, and the report then given by Milton Knopel, secretary, of their sale was evidence of the cooperation being given by Eugene people in the purchase of pageant souvenir badges, the number lands, and takes interest in the history of days even earlier.

The Pony Express was organized in 1860 in Saint Joe, Missouri, Roberts states by three men, Maars, Russell and Waddle, to carry quick mail across the continent to Sacramento, California.

The men recruited for express messengers had to be men of iron nerve, with a keen love for adventure, and had to be excellent horsemen. For the express riders rode alone, in a wild, unsettled country, inhabited only by Indians hostile to the white man's coming. In the one year of its use, 30,000 horses and men rode the express, and Roberts estimates that almost half of these men were killed.

Trip Took Eight Days

It took eight days to make the trip from Saint Joe to Sacramento, with no stops on the route between. Horses were changed at stage coach stations every 20 miles, and riders changed every 25 miles. The average speed was 15 miles an hour. Each man was assigned to a certain "run," which he rode west on the trip out, then returned to the first stop, then the returning rider came east—a sort of relay system.

The express mail was extremely expensive, and lost money for the government. It cost $5 to mail a letter on the express, and as the mail could not exceed 15 pounds in weight, letters had to be written on the thinnest tissue paper.

The best speed ever made by pony express riders was at the time of the inauguration of President Lincoln, Roberts stated, and that was seven days and six hours.

"Buffalo Bill" Best

Greatest of the pony express riders, Roberts declared, was Bill Cody—the famous "Buffalo Bill." Roberts recalled Buffalo Bill, whom he met several times, as a spectacular figure—a "natural born showman."

After a year, the pony express was discontinued and one of the most colorful chapters of western history was closed. Mail service was carried by stage-coaches, and later, as railway tracks spread a network across the rapidly-developing west, by train.

Now, when planes speed mail across the continent in a few hours, it seems hard to believe that only little more than 75 years ago, a lone rider made his way across the vast plains and mountains of a new and dangerous country, his mail-bag strapped to his horse, his only guide his own courage and knowledge of the little-known trails, Roberts remarked.

Roberts will take the part of Head Scout of the wagon train in the Oregon Trail Pageant.

ELECTRIC SYSTEM TO CHART BLAZES

PORTLAND, Ore., July 7.—Seven degrees of fire danger will be shown in color on an electrically illuminated board, covering 100 ranger districts in 29 national forests of Oregon and Washington under a new system announced by regional office of the United States forest service here.

The central board in the regional office will show at a glance each day the fire danger existing for each district of the 26 million acres within the forest boundaries.

Back of this simple portrayal will be the activities of lookouts and rangers on the ground who "take nature's pulse" each day, measuring humidity, wind velocity, moisture content of forest debris and other factors. J. F. Campbell, regional chief of fire control explained. The methods used are largely the result of studies made by the Pacific northwest forest experiment station.

The story told by the board will determine the degree of special preparation for fire prevention and control in each district.

box in less than one inning. Hubbell, taking up in the fourth, where Dean left off, was knocked out during a three-run attack, featured by Red Rolfe's triple with two on.

Gomez Blanks Nats

The Nationals used all of their six pitchers while the Americans coasted home behind the hurling of Lefty Gomez, Tommy Bridges and Mel Harder, each of whom worked three innings.

Gomez, credited with the victory, his third in four all-star appearances, held the Nationals rudderless in the first three frames and Harder duplicated the trick in the last three. Bridges yielded a marker in each of the frames he worked.

Joe Medwick, Cardinal outfielder and leading big league batsman, collected four straight hits but didn't get much help in the pinches from his teammates.

Maggi's Great Throw

The Americans, outslug the box, made no substitutions and backed up their attack with a brilliant defense, despite two miscues by Red Rolfe at third, DiMaggio, playing in his second all-star game, furnished the fielding gem when he cut off Burgess Whitehead at the plate to stop a sixth-inning rally by the Nationals.

The gate receipts totaled $28,475.18, the bulk of which will go to the ball players' benevolent fund.

President Roosevelt, arriving ten minutes before game time, tossed out the first ball, and stayed throughout the proceedings. The chief executive occupied a box near the American league dugout and seemed to get his biggest "kick" out of Gehrig's homer, which started the downfall of the Nationals.

the Idaho institution. After coming to Oregon Dr. Leighton was football scout under Coach J. J. McEwan, and he has taken a keen interest in all branches of sports here.

Dr. Leighton graduated from the College of Idaho and also attended the University of Iowa. Before entering collegiate work he was a teacher and administrator in public schools. At the university here Dr. Leighton was awarded the degree of doctor of philosophy, the highest academic degree that can be earned, in 1931.

Dr. Leighton is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, national education fraternity, and the American Association of University Professors. He is married and has a son, Jack.

Dean's Work Cited

Dr. Bovard came to the university in 1906 and in 1920 was made first dean of the school of physical education. Under his direction the school has grown to be one of the outstanding physical education units in the United States. At the University of California Dean Bovard will work with graduate students and devote part of his time to research, a field in which he has been greatly interested.

The school of education is now housed in a new plant, completed only this year at a cost of more than $300,000, that is regarded as one of the most up-to-date and complete structures of its kind in the country. The school has a staff of 25, several of whom have won wide recognition for work in this field.

COUNTY COURT TO ATTEND MEETING

$42,500 each year and the highway commission $42,500, thus making the time of payment six years instead of three years. The commission countered with this proposition: That it would accept $200,000 in cash at the present time for the debt of $265,000 that Lane county owes the commission. The proposition now stands—Can Lane county raise this $200,000?

Some have offered the suggestion of a bond issue in order to raise this money. The county court is opposed to placing before the voters of the county a bond issue in order to accept the proposition. This would mean an election that could cost the sum of $4000 and payment of interest on bonds over a period of time. Some have offered the suggestion of an additional tax levy during 1935, 1936, and 1940. The court is likewise opposed to this proposition which is held not legally possible and which would mean a county levy in order to obtain $200,000 and would increase taxes to the extent of 5 mills.

Some have offered the suggestion of borrowing the $200,000 from the banks. This is deemed the most feasible plan unless the county can finance itself and save interest charges. The county court has in mind some plan of financing itself and will place the plan before the highway commission at the meeting Thursday. No information is divulged as to the nature of this plan.

SENATORS ARGUE OVER COURT PLAN

"don't take this issue into the campaign because it will wreck the president and I don't want to see that done."

"I don't want it done now," he continued.

Senator Hughes (D-De) interrupted to say that opposition papers in his state had said the administration would "pack" the court. He said during his campaign, he continued, that he was "perfectly willing to reorganize the court if necessary to put on additional judges."

Organize New Party

Logan, former judge, told his closely-listening colleagues that "worshippers of the golden calf" were using the judiciary committee's adverse report on the court bill as basis for the organization of a new party.

Logan attacked the spirit of the judiciary committee report, saying there had been nothing in the proceedings of the committee indicating that the report would be a "violent document" attacking the president.

"If the statements in that report are true," Logan said, "if they are established, the president ought to be impeached and removed. And yet we are told there was no charge against the president in the report."

Seek To Destroy FDR

Asserting there was a move to bring a new opposition party into the field, backed by the "worshippers of the golden calf," Logan said "they are starting out now to destroy" the president.

One of the opponents of the bill could deny Logan said that the report "has been seized upon by enemies of the president and used as a campaign document for the origin of a new party to take over the Republican party."

"Has it come to pass that when a man disagrees with the president of the United States on a fundamental issue he is to be accused of trying to destroy the president of the United States?" Senator Wheeler asked angrily.

He cited Senator Hatch (D-NM), Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), Senator McCarran (D-Nev) and other opponents of the court plan as "close personal friends of the president."
