

HOMECOMING WILL SET NEW RECORDS

will leave their cars at home the day of the game," Chief Bergman said Thursday. "Walk to the game and give visitors a better chance to park. It will save everyone from traffic tie-ups and mishaps," he added.

Parking will be allowed on the following streets during the game: University, Onyx, Emerald, Beech and Agate streets, in the immediate vicinity of Hayward field, will be open to parking as usual. On Agate street, however, where the wide center parking strip is located between Fifteenth and Eighteenth streets, cars will be directed by traffic officers so that when the game is over they will proceed to Nineteenth avenue and away from the stadium.

Fifteenth avenue, which passes the closed end of the field, will be closed to all traffic between Emerald and Agate streets. Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets are open to parking as usual.

No Parking In Field

NO parking will be allowed on the playing field just west of Hayward field.

Traffic officers will be stationed at the intersections of University street and Thirteenth, Fifteenth, Eighteenth and Nineteenth avenues; on Agate street at Thirteenth, Fifteenth and Nineteenth; and one officer at Fifteenth and Emerald. Two officers will patrol Fifteenth between Emerald and Agate, where no parking will be allowed. State police will assist city forces in directing flow of traffic.

A housing committee, under the direction of Mrs. Elaine Clark, is in charge of allotting rooms to visitors who have no reservations at down town hotels. Reservations can be made personally at the University of Oregon alumni office in Friendly hall. No rooms will be allotted through mail applications, but visitors—alumni or just friends—will all be taken care of by the committee.

Starts Friday Night

The big Homecoming week-end, with Oregon alumni expected "back" in greater numbers than any time before in history, will start off with a huge noise parade and rally Friday evening. The Homecoming dance, with Paul "King of Jazz" Whiteman's music, will follow, starting at 10 o'clock. Biggest event of the entire week-end will be the traditional battle between the eleven of Oregon and Oregon State. In previous games this fall both teams have shown themselves to be fighting aggregations and the scoring spree expected Saturday has fired the interest of alumni of both institutions. The Beavers, victors last year at Corvallis by a score of 18-0, are slight favorites to regain prestige lost in the Duck dominated years of 1932, 1933, 1934 and 1935.

Various other social activities have been planned by campus organizations following the game, with alumni dinners scheduled by most Greek letter fraternities. Sunday the concert to be given by Mme. Amelita Galli-Curci in McArthur court will bring the Homecoming week-end to a close.

cia Schaefer, Rev. Martin Bohrofen, Rev. John Berger, and others.

At the banquet, Father Curley presided as toastmaster and talks were given by Father O'Farrell, who recalled humorous reminiscences from the days he was head of the parish here; Msgr. Lane, who started a good-natured debate by hinting that Eugene at one time was a mission from the Albany parish; Archbishop Howard; Father Moran; Rev. Francis P. Leipzig, pastor of the Eugene church; Msgr. Hildebrand, venerable Oregon pioneer missionary in the church; and others.

While the St. Mary's church was celebrating its 50th year here, the Holy Names Sisters, who conduct the school at the local parish, were celebrating their 78th anniversary of teaching in Oregon.

The local Catholic school was established here in 1889.

MISS DAY'S WILL BENEFITS YOUTH

school board may find it possible to put the money to better use in developing some new project or projects or improving the grounds of present grade school playgrounds.

The proposed recreational unit would be a memorial to Miss Day and her interest in the welfare of Eugene children.

"We certainly welcome this generous gift because there is little money in the school district's budget for playground work," Cramer said Thursday.

"We don't very often get bequests of this sort. It will be of great assistance to our playground program. I wonder if the money could be used for an athletic field," McLaren said.

"It is a very generous and kind expression. Miss Day has always been helpful and interested in making children and others happy. It will naturally be an asset to the summer recreational program of the city," said Arthur Hendershot, chairman of the city playground commission.

"I'm happy to learn of this gift which will further the playground and recreation facilities of the city. I'm positive the money can be used to wonderful advantage," said Clarence Simon, vice-chairman of the city park commission.

George Wilhelm, of Junction City, Miss Lutz said her office was ready to cooperate to the fullest extent with the Smith-Hughes program inaugurated at Junction city this year.

Boost on Request Held Up

A request for an appropriation of $600 to finance half the cost of publishing a pamphlet on Eugene and Lane county was made by Marion Veitch and John F. Durr, representing the chamber of commerce. The committee placed the request on file for future consideration.

The committee tentatively approved the budget for the fair grounds in 1938, the amount being $4,750. Since estimated receipts were placed at $3,789.12, the county must raise by tax levy only $960.88.

Tentative approval also was accorded the Four-H budget for 1938, totaling $2,025, an increase of $225 over last year's figures.
