Granges Meet Jointly

WILLAKENZIE, March 21.—(Special)—Willakenzie grange hall saw one of the biggest and best grange meetings of this year when Dorena grange visited in a band of 45 under the direction of grange master Raymond Wicks. The lecturer's hour, handled by Dorena lecturer, Miss Mildred Smith, consisted of songs, questions which few could answer, a skit of back seat driving and, with Mrs. Claude Arne directing, and Dorena junior grangers performing.

For Willakenzie grange it was an open house night when, besides the 45 from Dorena, grangers were welcomed from Four Oaks, Creswell, Santa Clara and Maple Creek. Every seat in the big dining room was taken when refreshments were served and the food committee had to set some tables a second time.

Water Recedes

WALTERVILLE, March 21.—(Special)—Water was receding Saturday morning after being bank full Friday evening and part of the night. The lowered temperature and the rain stopping caused the water to go down before a great deal of damage was done. Private bridges were floated out of place and other small damage was done by the water in the swollen creeks.

"You're known as a great Camel smoker, Mr. Shaw. Are they really so different from other cigarettes?"

"Yes, Ben, I think that Camels are a lot different. That's why they're the racing drivers' favorite cigarette. You see, a cigarette has to have something out of the ordinary to score such a hit with fellows like us. As I always say, there are so many things that mean a great deal in smoking. One big angle that carries weight with me is that Camels agree with me! I've smoked a good many thousands of Camels in the past 10 years, so I know that from experience."

"NOODLING" out a problem in auto design. And getting in a bit of smoking, doing it. "Camel's the mild cigarette," Shaw says.

SHAW is saying how important healthy nerves are to a racing car driver. "The fact that Camels don't get on my nerves scores a big hit with me," he points out.

"IT'S YOUR MOVE, Cathleen," says Wilbur to Mrs. Shaw, his checkers partner. His own move is to light up a Camel—"for digestion's sake."

THOMAS MIDDLETON and his twin brother James have been growing tobacco for 14 years. "The Camel people bought up my best tobacco last year," Tom Middleton says. "They have for 12 years. What anyone talks about finer, more expensive tobaccos, that means Camels to me. I smoke 'em—my brother smokes 'em—and so do most of us around here who grow and know tobacco."

"DOWN AT THE tobacco warehouse they told me they'd never seen finer tobacco than my last crop," says J. E. Jenkins, veteran tobacco grower. "Camel bought all the top grades. It just shows that the Camel people make sure to get the choice lots of tobacco. I prefer Camels every time. I know what those finer, more expensive tobaccos in Camel cigarettes mean to smokers."
