

Acetylene Class Opens Thursday

The acetylene welding class offered by the Eugene vocational school is open to new members Thursday evening at the Geary school. The meeting begins at 7:30 o'clock for a two-hour session. The course includes instruction in operating the equipment, cutting metals, welding iron, steel and cast iron, aluminum and other metals. The equipment is available through the courtesy of the Linde Air Products company and consists of two each of three different sizes of cutting torches and a full complement of welding torches, tips, gauges and wrenches. Instruction in these classes is individual in nature and those in the special phases of the work that is of interest to each. Both relatively inexperienced welders and those with considerable experience are enrolled in the class, under the competent instruction of C. F. Murphy.

Lincoln Students To Give Play Thursday, Friday

The pupils of the Lincoln school will present an operetta, "Down on the Old Plantation," Thursday and Friday nights, April 21 and 22 at the school building at 7:30. The cast is composed chiefly of darkies, who, accompanied by guitars, sing their old cotton picking songs honoring the return of their white master, "Massa Laird," who has just returned from a trip to congress. Lively dances by the Gold Dust Twins, and other pickineries; a comic stunt by Inky and Creamo, two small negro boys, and the Pine Ridge boys chorus are among interesting numbers. The proceeds are to be used in completing the payment on a mimeograph purchased by the school.
