Floods Predicted By U. S. Engineer At Forum Lunch

Members of the Eugene chamber of commerce attending the weekly public affairs luncheon. Friday heard Col. John C. H. Lee, U. S. army engineer, in this district. The Willamette valley will soon be in for a real wet spell and that the great Willamette valley project may not be finished in time to save the entire valley from disastrous floods.

The current dry cycle through which the Northwest has been passing the past few years is nearly over," Col. Lee stated. "We are in for a real wetting and it is our hope that we will be able to do something to help save the valley from disastrous floods."

Dr. O. A. Waller, chairman of the Oregon Warm Springs Foundation, reported on progress being made on that project. He stated that the original plan to build a $1,200,000 hospital and sanitarium for the treatment of infantile paralysis sufferers up the Willamette river had been reported as too high by the Works Progress Administration.

In addition to learning the three R's in their own language, young Shanghai children have a new language to learn. These three young Chinese students are getting an early start in Japanese at a new established primary school inaugurated by the Japanese in Shanghai, where Japanese instructors are in charge.
