

Educators Conclude Curriculum Survey

...and other methods of correlating and integrating work in schools, was stressed by V. D. Bain, of the state department of education, and by F. L. Stetson, professor of education.

The conference, which has drawn more than 400 Oregon educators, moved this afternoon to Oregon State college, where guidance and adult education were taken up.

"Ideal" Teacher
The "ideal school principal" should possess leadership, understanding, and the desire and ability to protect his teachers from any and all unjust accusations, it was declared here Tuesday evening by C. C. Trillingham, assistant superintendent of Los Angeles county schools, speaking before the annual banquet of the state meeting on curriculum.

Dr. Trillingham's definition actually comes from teachers themselves, since he carefully studied a questionnaire answered by some teachers. Qualifications desired included general knowledge of the teaching field and subjects, sympathy with problems, ability to recognize the worthwhile in new ideas, ability to get along with teachers, students and the public, a sense of humor, and the courage to stand up for his faculty, in the face of unjustified criticism.

New Utility District Will Be Considered

Public sentiment as to the establishment of a public utility district along the McKenzie in the Blue River district will be heard at a meeting of the state hydro-electric commission at the Blue River high school on Friday, it was learned here Thursday.

With the WPA offering to furnish all manual labor on the project, sponsors believe the present time favorable to consider such a move. The proposed district would include all territory extending three miles on each side of the McKenzie river and from Thompson's resort to two miles above the McKenzie Bridge.

All residents of that area and others interested are invited to attend the meeting and participate in discussions. The meeting will convene at 7:30 p. m.

Contest Closing Date Is Extended

The closing date of the Kennell-Ellis Studio-Williams' Store, Inc., most attractive child contest has been extended to Saturday, July 18, because of the many requests for sittings in the past few days. More than 900 entrants have had pictures taken for the contest so far. Children between the ages of five months and 10 years may enter the contest, each one entering to receive a free sitting. Seventeen merchandise prizes will be given to winners in the five divisions.

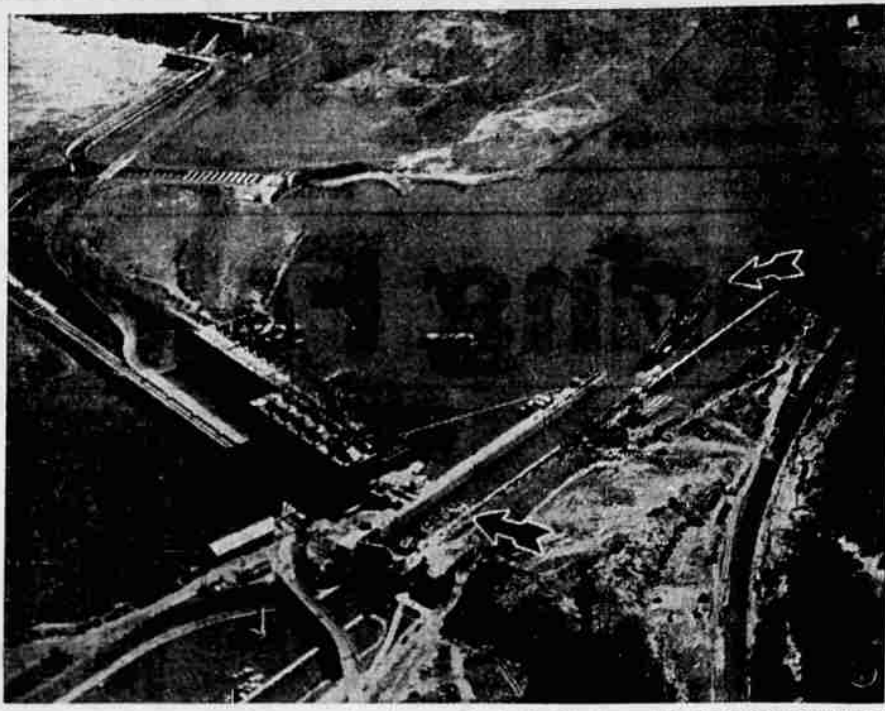

Union High School Discussed By Board

A hearing on the formation of a union high school at Cottage Grove will be held August 9 at the county courthouse, it was decided at the meeting of the boundary board Wednesday morning. Petitions asking for a union high school have been circulated by the 14 districts concerned, and if there is no remonstrance before Aug. 9, the union district will be formed.

Plat Development Work On Alpha Place Started

The 26 lots of the old Mercy hospital grounds at Twentieth and Willamette streets is now under development, it was announced Wednesday, and will be known as the Alpha place, an addition to Eugene.

F. M. Cashman, Lane county representative for the Alpha corporation, owners of the tract, announced Wednesday morning that bids to open up two streets which will be graded and graded, on professor of law, at the luncheon meeting. During the afternoon reports on various phases of activity were heard and the group observed the sesqui-centennial services. The session will close tomorrow evening.

Rev. R. Murray Jones, Pendleton, was chosen moderator for the Presbyterian Synod Tuesday night. Dr. George H. Wilbur, Portland, was named temporary clerk, Rev. R. E. Clarke, Eugene, was chosen reporting clerk, and Dr. George Lee, Newberg, was selected chorister.

Speaking on "The Christian Metaphysic," Rev. Jesse H. Baird, president of the San Francisco Theological Seminary, declared that men could accept Christianity as a religion on the basis of intuition, reason and experience.

Obituaries

Mrs. W. W. Kincaid
Funeral services for Mrs. W. W. Kincaid of Oakland, mother of Mrs. T. A. McKenzie of Eugene, who died Sunday at the Eugene hospital, were held Tuesday in Oakland. Mrs. Kincaid is survived by her husband; two daughters, Mrs. McKenzie, and Mrs. Gene Krewson of Oakland; four brothers and four sisters.

Edgar George Earl
Edgar George Earl, 55, of Walton, died at the Eugene hospital Tuesday evening from burns received when he fell into a bonfire at the Keith Lumber company Tuesday morning. He was born February 8, 1883, in Howmanville, Ontario, Canada, and married Maude Keating at Medicine Hat, Alberta, Canada, in 1908. After living several years as a farmer at Medicine Hat, he moved to Cottage Grove. He is survived by his wife, and this tract are now being called for. Bids will also be called for laying sewer lines.

The plat comprising the 26 lots has been filed with the county clerk. Mr. Cashman stated that work on the development of this tract will begin within ten days.

Lewis Mumford Will Speak at University

Lewis Mumford, hailed as one of the most outstanding writers and critics in America today, and an authority on many phases of life and culture of this country, will address University of Oregon summer session students, faculty and townspeople Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Music auditorium, it was announced by Dr. Dan E. Clark, director of the summer school.

The noted writer is now on a tour of the northwest, and while in this area has visited Bonneville, Grand Coulee and other projects. He will speak here on "The Future of American Culture," and is expected to express observations he has made during the present trip.

Mr. Mumford achieved national fame in 1922, when at the age of 27 he published his first book, "The Story of Utopias." In 1934 his volume "Technics and Civilization" attracted wide attention and definitely ranked him as one of the greatest writers and observers of this time.

When Mr. Mumford's latest book, "Culture of Cities," was published in April of this year, the magazine "Time" devoted four full pages to it, and published the author's picture on the cover page. This book has also been enthusiastically praised by faculty members and others here.

The talk tonight will be open to the public and no admission will be charged, Dr. Clark announces.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts
The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or else forget your stomach, you get indigestion, heartburn, gas, pain or other stomach troubles. You feel sour, sick and uncomfortable.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach troubles. It is dangerous and makes it take three little black tablets called Malin for indigestion to make the same stomach trouble harmless, relieve distress in 3 minutes, and put you back on your feet. Malin is so quick it is amazing and one the quick relief given to ask for Malin for indigestion.

Hoover Guest Here Wednesday Noon

his expression was one of those "you know I don't comment on that" but his only answer was: "I have no comment."

"How are the republicans facing the coming campaign?" he was asked.

GOP Gaining, Says
"They are coming up, definitely," he quickly answered with emphasis.

"Are they going to make many gains in this campaign?"

"Certainly we can hope so," was the distinguished visitor's answer.

It is not likely the former president will meet with republican leaders of this section. He was in Portland for a meeting Tuesday evening, and is conferring with leaders of the southern part of the state Wednesday evening. Several from Eugene went to Portland to hear him Tuesday.

From Medford, Mr. Hoover is to take a plane for California, leaving there Thursday noon. He has flown several times previously. While his present series of meetings is not public, they are very informal, being conducted on the forum type of meeting to allow all interested republican leaders of this section to chat with him regarding the outlook.

While his Eugene greetings practically wilted under the hot noon-time sun, Mr. Hoover looked very refreshed and calm, and much more rested than on some of his previous visits. Among those on hand to greet him were C. A. Huntington, county republican central committee chairman; James A. Rodman, active in republican politics here and former Nebraska legislator; W. G. East, and photographers and news reporters.

Just as he left, Mr. Hoover again reminded his listeners how pleased he was to be in the valley. "I always look back on the valley with fond memories because of my boyhood days in this section," he said.

Realty Board To Plan Property Sale Drive

An intensive movement to get all city-owned properties back on the tax roll will be started by the Eugene Realty board as soon as listings are made available by the council, it was announced Wednesday by E. H. Peterson, Realty board president.

Mayor Large and members of the council and county court have been invited to attend a round-table discussion Thursday of the drive to sell city-foreclosed lots. The meeting will follow a noon luncheon at McCrady's cafe.

Urging all interested parties to attend the conference, Mr. Peterson said, "It is not a problem for the Realty board, the city, or county alone, but a community problem."

Airmen 'Bomb' Forest Crew With Supplies

Schlador and Hansen would "hit the firefighters right on the head with the food bombs."

One hundred-foot long yellow streamers are attached to the bombs, Mr. Smith said, to facilitate locating them if they do not fall within sight of the target.

Manly fragile articles, including radios and crates of eggs, are successfully flown into firefighting headquarters by packing an outside layer of each package with bread. The bread thus serves a double purpose, it was related—to pad the packages and to feed the firefighters.

The Smith River blaze was expected to be in such check by Tuesday night, a report from that sector said, that some of the might possibly be withdrawn from the front for a much needed Mr. Smith reported additional men were on their way to the territory Tuesday afternoon.

Sufficient quantities of supplies, meanwhile, could be delivered into the rugged isolated region by pack animals and planes were continuing "bomb" the blazebattlers bread.

It is expected that Canada will have spent more money there during 1937 than did in 1929, when the record set at $309,000,000.
