SKILLS FOR SOCIAL LIVING

In the commendable effort to adjust school methods to modern problems and conditions educators have developed what is known as progressive education and the Eugene schools, among others, will henceforth build their curriculum around a "core" which is known as "social living."

The new education, as we understand it, from reports of the recent meetings on the University campus and from talks with educators, involves the technique of learning while living or vice versa.

It is an inspiring theory, but we question whether the smattering of politics and social adjustment which the student acquires in the effort to make the school a social unit is after all the vital approach to living.

We talk often with employers. It is strange in this era of widespread unemployment to hear employers complain that it is hard to find people who know how to work, people who know how to take instruction, people who have respect for accuracy, people who can carry responsibility.

Latest confidential government estimates indicate that gross federal expenditures in the fiscal year 1938-39 will total about $9,000,000,000. This compares with about $7,500,000,000 in 1937-38.

DRUGS ON THE MARKET

There shouldn't be many howls from any quarter, Republican, Democratic, liberal, or conservative, over one piece of "social legislation" recently made law by the presidential signature.

Referred to is the new food, drug, and cosmetics act. If a government is an instrument for the protection of a people against its own folly, this act is a little government of its own—a protection of a people against its own folly, gullibility, excessive trust, and incontinence, and against the unscrupulous men who turn those failings to their own profit.

The country has had federal food and drug regulation, of course, for years, but it has long been obvious that the law had to do its biting with its gums.

Important provisions of the new law are its prohibition of the distribution of drugs or cosmetics which may be injurious to the health; its bans on false advertising and misbranding; and its requirements that all new drugs be tested for their effects prior to distribution and that all habit-forming drugs be labeled as such.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS THINK

RELIEF AND POLITICS (Medford Mail Tribune) A month or so ago Mr. Harry Hopkins, head of government relief issued a statement to his organization of the following nature: "No one will lose his WPA job because of his vote in any election or his failure to contribute to any campaign fund. This always has been an absolute rule of the W. P. A. and it is my responsibility and yours to see that there are no exceptions. What's more, I want you to let me know if anyone tries to tell you anything different."

certain democratic candidates, or else— It will be averted again, as it has been in the past, that if instructions aren't carried out, the offenders will be taken off relief or lose their relief jobs.

Here is a suggestion to those who may be on the black list: Keep that above statement in mind, and if anyone tries to tell you if you don't vote thus and so, you will be out on your ear, as far as government relief is concerned, get in touch with Mr. Harry Hopkins at once.

There is no doubt Mr. Hopkins meant exactly what he said in that statement. With proper assistance from the press and the public, we can see no reason why, his orders should not be meticulously carried out!

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER (Register-Guard Washington Correspondent) WASHINGTON, July 21.—President Roosevelt's attempt to encompass defeat of certain senators and election of others in the 1938 Democratic primaries is only a curtain-raiser. It will be followed by two exciting, turbulent political years as F. D. R. plunges ahead with his crusade to liberalize the Democratic party and to control its 1940 nominations.

This will be true regardless of the degree of failure or success of 1938 purge efforts, say Roosevelt's intimates. The President left on his western trip happier than ever. He feels he has created a situation where political realignment is inevitable and that it's more fun fighting down a straight-line track than playing the part of a shifty politician.

Presidential strategy after November will be worked out as time goes on. The strong New Dealish flavor of recent presidential appointments, plus slaps at Senators Byrd and Glass of Virginia, Tydings of Maryland, and McCarran of Nevada through removal of friends from federal office or appointment of political enemies in the senators' home states, may presage one phase of attack. If so, there will be battles royal over various senatorial confirmations.

Throughout the tenure of the next Congress there will be no question of Roosevelt's hope of driving his program's opponents from office. In the center of the fighting will be those Democratic senatorial opponents up for renomination and election in 1940, including Burke of Nebraska, Byrd of Virginia, Gerry of Rhode Island, Holt of West Virginia, King of Utah, Walsh of Massachusetts, and Wheeler of Montana.

Williams' Bosses Liked His Speech Neither Roosevelt nor Administrator Harry Hopkins has uttered the slightest reproach of WPA Deputy Administrator Aubrey Williams since he publicly told WPA workers to "keep your friends in power!"

Both liked the speech, even though the Senate campaign investigating committee censured Williams. Hopkins privately says he will refuse to be muzzled during the campaign months, regardless of the committee.

"I'm for Roosevelt," says the WPA administrator. "I'm not for Landon."

Why Steel Cut Prices

Various reasons behind the cut in steel prices and virtual elimination of the basing point system by U. S. Steel Corporation have been revealed, but not all. A direct threat by Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold of criminal prosecution under anti-trust laws is supposed to have been one factor. Anyway, it was an open secret that the Justice Department was planning such proceedings.

But the final push was given at a secret meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute on Wednesday, June 22. President Eugene Grace of Bethlehem Steel arose, said something had to be done and declared Bethlehem was going to cut prices on its own.

With that information, U. S. Steel executives worked feverishly and brought out a new price schedule on June 24, effective the 25th. Whether its price cuts were bigger than anything Grace contemplated isn't known, but ending the basing point system was a direct blow to U. S. Steel's competitors. The feud between "Big Steel" and "Little Steel" is bitterer than ever and the whole industry is still trying to figure out where it stands.

The net federal contribution to consumer purchases power (excess of expenditure over tax collections) has risen from 40 millions in February to 170 millions in July. It is believed that this figure will reach 350 millions a month some time next spring, as a result of expected expenditures and lower tax receipts.

State and local expenditures are running at about 10 billions a year, three billions more than in 1932.

AN EDITORIAL ON HEALTH

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Human beings are not the only animals that live on fruits and vegetables. There are also great numbers of insects and fungi which obtain their nutrition from crops. Life on this earth is a constant battle between the insects and lower animals and man for the food that is available. If modern chemical science did not come to the rescue of mankind, the insects would eventually win; today the advantage is with the human being.

Every great new discovery brings with it not only great advancement for mankind but also new hazards. Frequently these dangers are not recognized until after considerable use of the method, the technique, or the discovery, with consequent illness or death.

Were it not for the poisonous insecticides and plant sprays, the prices of fruits and vegetables would be excessive. Their use would be diminished. Then human beings would suffer increasingly with lack of the vitamins, mineral salts, and other necessities of good nutrition which fresh fruits and vegetables provide.

In the case of most vegetables it is possible to control the danger from insecticides by peeling or stripping the vegetables before it is used. When it was realized that insecticides conveyed a potential hazard to human beings, various commissions throughout the world considered the problem. It was determined that the minimum amount of lead and arsenic remaining on fruits that had been sprayed should be 0.014 grains per pound. This might be represented by two parts of lead per million or 1.4 parts per million of arsenic. A British royal commission agreed to these figures, which were developed by the Food and Drug Administration of the United States.
