Tour Taken About Five Gardens

Forty-five garden enthusiasts conducted by Mrs. Ruth Addison, made the tour of the five gardens selected for visits Friday by the Eugene Garden club as a part of the summer program of the organization.

At each place visited the owner of the garden told the visitors about the special points of interest. At the first stop, 957 Hilyard, Mrs. Fred E. Smith told about the gradual transformation from an old, neglected, vine-covered yard to the present attractive, informal garden.

Mrs. Frank L. Chambers, 1059 Hilyard, where the tour was routed next, pointed out her hydrangea and Rose-of-Sharon shrubs and talked briefly about their care.

Interest in the James H. Baker garden at 1810 University, centered about the terrace and the garden vista with the small surprise garden at the rear planned for the pleasure of the children, according to Mrs. Baker.

A brick garden-shelter and adjoining pool at the end of a long, sloping lawn flanked by shrubbery, at the home of the C. W. Inghams, at 2065 University, were noted before the final garden visit which was at 1931 Moss, where Rev. and Mrs. H. R. White explained their garden plan and told about the rapid development of the plants and shrubs planted early in the month of May. Two terraces lead down to the garden which will eventually be so arranged that a portion of it may be set aside for a play-ground for neighboring children.

The tour for next Friday will be confined to the University campus with a study of shrubbery as the objective, according to the announcement of J. F. Reade, Garden club president, and Mrs. O. R. Gullion, tour chairman.
