

Junction City Grade School Building To Be Enlarged At $35,600 Cost

Project Will Be Completed Next Year

JUNCTION CITY, Aug. 20.—(Special)—G. E. Anderson was low bidder on the grade school project, to enlarge and otherwise improve the present building that was erected in 1930. A steadily increased attendance and the probable necessity of having more room for the expansion program will include five additional classrooms and a complete and up-to-date physical educational rooms and equipment. The present assembly hall which has been used as two class rooms will be enlarged to a 50x80 feet gymnasium, which will be used for general assembly and physical education. There will be an 18x42 feet stage with dressing rooms for both girls and boys. Showers will, also, be a feature.

For Special Work
Some of the class rooms that will not be in use, as yet for classes, will be used for specialized work such as art and music. Contractors hope to have the building ready for occupancy by the first of next year. The first and second grades will remain in their present places during building, but the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth will take up their work in the old high school building on Sept. 12 when the year's work begins. The teaching force of the grade schools includes: Hugh Hartman, principal, and eighth grade; Vernon Bronkey, seventh; Miss Richardson, sixth; Verneta McMullen, fifth; Mrs. Ballard, fourth; Mary Elkins, third grade; Lois Fleishman, second and Bonita Skilling, first.

Visiting Here and There

By MARIAN LOWRY
(Register-Guard country editor)

A VISIT up both the Mohawk and the Willamette this week proved most interesting, residents of these sections being engaged in a variety of activities at the turn of the fall.

Oakridge folk are particularly interested in seeing completion of the Willamette highway project, many visitors being routed that way from the east side this season. It has been a fair tourist and vacationist year through that section, but good road all the way through will mean much more, since some of the visitors, particularly those from California, have expressed an "opinion or two" about the detour.

A topic of interest among Oakridge people the past two weeks, too, has been the community owned and operated theatre. It is an unique institution for any city to have. Following considerable discussion over a period of months, some civic minded Oakridge citizens decided to have their own motion picture theatre. The building was completed early in the spring, and leased to a company. Within the past two weeks, however, the stockholders in Oakridge have taken over the theatre to operate themselves. On the board of directors are E. T. Templeman, D. L. Herdman, and Lawrence Hills. Harold Edes of Drain is employed by the association as the manager. The show runs three times weekly. The building, a nice looking asset for the city, seats 288. The screen and curtain are the finest to be found anywhere, metropolitan centers included. There is space,

Westfir, Aug. 20.—(Special)

—Mrs. J. A. Wiser entertained for her sewing club at her home Thursday afternoon. Special guests were Mrs. Walter Middlestadt, Mrs. E. D. Lund and Mrs. Westfir.

enough in the boiler room to move back equipment and enlarge the stage, as well as enough room to allow for dressing rooms when the association grows more ambitious. The total investment represents about $7500.
Just this side of Oakridge is noted considerable development for the "Willamette City" area which is becoming a real community to itself.
At Westfir, there was the usual "hum" of a mill city when the mill and woods crews are all at work on full schedule.
Farming activities are the chief interests now through the Dexter, Trent, and Pleasant Hill sections with the harvest season drawing to a close. The continued dry weather and many pests have shortened varied crops, however. Some of the sawmills in this district are operating, and some are not. But on the whole there seems to be activity enough to find every one generally "cheerful".
Of chief interest up the Mohawk section is the word the new Fischer sawmill, now under construction at Marvola, is expected to open around September 15. With no mill in operation there since the fire destroyed the old one last fall, it has been pretty quiet in that section for some time.
At Wendling every one was pretty busy, too, the Booth-Kelly sawmill operating four days a week, the planer five days.
Throughout this area, from the Mohawk section, on up through the Donna, Marvola, Wendling, and other districts, many have had extra work through the canneries, the harvesting of berries, beans,

Gail Spurlock. Members present were Mrs. Harry Coleman, Mrs. Gilbert Nelson, Mrs. T. A. King, Mrs. W. V. Hemenway and Mrs. Wiser. Refreshments were served in the late afternoon.

Old Bunk House At Wendling To Be Torn Down

WENDLING, Aug. 20.—(Special)—The huge gray bunkhouse built by the Booth-Kelly Lumber Co. during the "boom days" of Wendling in the year 1911, is being razed by Johnson and Pexton of Eugene. The work will take about twenty days and about 148 thousand feet of second lumber will be obtained by the contractors. According to the razers, the lumber in the building is in fine shape, despite its age, and especially the dimension lumber.
Since the building has been unused for about nine years, its removal is a definite improvement.
