Today's Recipes

(By NEA Service)
BEANS and Boston brown bread is a sturdy Saturday tradition. With fluffy codfish cakes, we rejoiced in this fare late one Saturday at the Colonial Inn at Concord, Mass., after a long green drive through New England. Paul Revere must have eaten them there, also Emerson and his neighbor, Louisa M. Alcott of "Little Women" fame.

The chef parted with his secrets when I appealed to his patriotism. "Baked beans make a good Sunday breakfast," he pointed out.

Colonial Inn Baked Beans (Serves 6 to 8)
Three cups California pea beans, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup molasses, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 pound salt pork, scored, small onion if desired.
Soak beans over night or bring to a boil. Drain, then add other ingredients and cover with water. Bake in a slow oven for 8 hours, or until done. Keep beans covered with water while cooking.

Boston Brown Bread (Serves 6)
One cup cornmeal, 1 cup Graham flour, 1 cup white flour, 2 cups sour milk, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 3-4 cup molasses, 1 cup raisins.

Mix dry ingredients, add molasses and milk. Stir well and add the raisins. Pour into well buttered mold and steam for three hours.

Louisiana Baked Beans (Serves 10)
Life and history flow leisurely under the ancient elms of Concord. Perhaps you must have quicker recipes. Try this compromise with tradition. It hails from a modernized Louisiana kitchen.

One large onion, 3 cans baked beans, 1-3 cup New Orleans molasses, 1/2 cup dark brown sugar, 3-4 cup ketchup, 3-4 cup boiling water, 1/4 pound salt pork.

Place onion in bean pot or casserole. Add beans. Combine molasses, ketchup, sugar and water. Pour over beans. Score rind of pork. Bury pork in beans, leaving rind exposed. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 1 hour.
