CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 21—(AP)—Maximum new bulges of 1½ cents a bushel in Chicago wheat values today resulted largely from trade predictions government aids virtually assured coming higher prices.

It was further emphasized federal help given to United States farmers on this year's wheat crop would be supplemented by a radical reduction of acreage next year. Consequently with the government willing to finance farmers in holding wheat this season, a small crop next year would tend to make a strong situation.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were ¾-1⅛ higher compared with yesterday's finish, Dec. 66⅛-⅜, May 66⅜-½, corn ⅝-1⅛ up, Dec. 46¾-⅞, May 50⅛-¼, and oats ⅛-¼ advanced.

BOSTON WOOL

BOSTON, Oct. 21—(AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

"While the market may be somewhat less active than last week, there has been a fair movement in wool and prices have been well maintained both east and west. In New Mexico the sale of some 400,000 pounds of wool at Roswell was effected at prices equivalent to from 62 to 70 cents, clean basis, which for fine wools shows a rise of 5 cents, clean basis, from the low point and brings these wools fully to parity with Boston.

"Australian markets are a bit stronger, although English markets are barely maintained on merinos.

"There is a healthy tone in the piecegoods markets and no large surpluses in goods apparent, although stocks of wool reported as of Sept. 24 were 147 million pounds, compared with 139 millions the preceding quarter and 135 million pounds a year ago.

"Mohair is in moderate demand with small sales in Texas at 38 and 38 cents respectively for adult and kid."

New York Stocks

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—(AP)—Profit markets were noted, Friday, market today but, despite this handicap, selected rails, motors, aircrafts and specialties managed to advance fractions to more than a point.

The list churned rather violently at the start without getting anywhere and, for a brief interval, the ticker tape was behind. Volume dwindled later although dealings continued at a fairly good clip. Transfers were around 1,600,000 shares.

The market had plenty of constructive business items to add to the recovery side of the ledger. Especially inspiring was a jump in last week's freight loadings to a new top since last November.

Utilities lagged, along with the majority of coppers. Aviations were still bolstered by the rearmament outlook as well as exceptionally bright earnings statements for the third quarter.

Motors, slow movers in the forenoon, were given a belated ride when it was disclosed output this week had risen 17,820 cars, confirming in part earlier optimistic comments by leading automobile makers.

After Munich, What Next For the League?

ALMOST a score of years back, the creation of the League of Nations, incorporated in the Treaty of Versailles, was hailed as perhaps the most remarkable of all the direct results of the World War. Today, nearly all that was done at Versailles has been undone or faces further critical test. So the question comes, what next for the League of Geneva?

For in a series of shattering strokes, Adolf Hitler has undermined the Covenant of the League of Nations, rendered it wholly ineffective. One more blow in the League's long struggle was delivered that day at Munich when Hitler and Chamberlain and Daladier and Mussolini sat around a table and decided the fate of Europe—a task which the great powers agreed just 20 years ago must be reserved specifically for the new League.

Meanwhile, in the beautiful palace of the League at Geneva, statesmen have not quite given up hope. They see in the Anglo-German accord and other moves a possible rebirth of some form of collective security such as the League might again make possible. They believe such agreements might be extended again between most nations of the world.

The League of Nations buildings at Geneva are among the most impressive in the world. The main building of the Palace of the League is shown here on a 1937 Swiss stamp, one of four issued in commemoration of the opening of the great Assembly Hall.
