Garden Club Winter Show To Be Monday

EUGENE Garden club members and any others interested may attend the regular monthly meeting of the club which will be held in connection with the chrysanthemum and winter bouquet show Monday in the 4-H building at the Fairgrounds.

The show will be open from three to ten o'clock, and the program begins at eight o'clock in the evening. Roy Woodruff will be the special speaker on "The Use of Shrubs and Decorative Trees in Landscaping the Home." The speaker will also tell about some new varieties being introduced in landscaping.

Slides showing highway beautification will be shown through the courtesy of the forestry service.

Entries in the flower show should be brought to the committee room in the 4-H building at the Fairgrounds Monday forenoon if possible. No entries will be received after three o'clock.

Feature Chrysanthemums

The chrysanthemums were never more beautiful in Eugene gardens, according to members of the flower show committee who have been visiting local gardens while planning the exhibits. Unless a frost occurs before Monday, there should be an unusual display, they say.

Materials for winter bouquets, aside from the usual fall flowers, is also abundant, according to club officials, and that section of the show will exhibit some original and beautiful arrangements.

Mrs. B. W. DeBusk, as chairman of the hostess committee, will be assisted by a number of women throughout the afternoon and evening.

More Light on Better Sight

Regardless of occupation, age, sex or other factors, we depend on our eyes every waking moment.

The goal of attainment in education, perhaps more than in industry or business, is reached by those who appreciate, care for and attain to better vision.

The eye muscles are subject to the same laws of fatigue and failure that the biceps are. Loss of sleep, long continued close work without periods of relaxation, contribute to eye strain and visual defects.

A thorough scientific eye analysis without additional cost. In Eugene since 1915.
