

Latest News from the Realm of the Theatre in Eugene and Hollywood

THIS scene is from "Young Dr. Kildare," which commences at the McDonald theatre Wednesday. In the picture are two of the cast principals, Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore.

'Kildare' Brings Trials Of Young Physician

Drama and romance in the life of a struggling junior physician are entertainingly blended in "Young Dr. Kildare," which comes to the McDonald theatre Wednesday. The characters in all such stories are ready-made for the theatre because there is always the pulse-beat of human emotions in the atmosphere.

The atmosphere of life in the walls of a great general hospital is brought to the screen with effective power. This is the inside that is known only to the staff surgeons, the nurses, internes and the police reporters. It is a side with which even the patients never become familiar.

Lew Ayres as the eager young Doctor Kildare is human and natural in a role which he plays with artistic restraint. Lynne Carver handles the romantic lead with technique that indicates beyond question her early rise to stardom. Lionel Barrymore as the grizzled surgeon who knows that his days are numbered gives a performance that is entirely in accord with the Barrymore tradition.

'Spawn' Tells Story Of Last Frontier

A panoramic view of the rugged life in America's last frontier is brought to the screen for the first time in Paramount's Alaskan drama, "Spawn of the North," which opens Sunday at the Rex theatre. This story of the men who "go down to the sea in ships" in the icy waters of the Arctic is set against a background about which most Americans know very little but one which captures the imagination every time it is mentioned.

"Spawn of the North" is set in the early years of the twentieth century, but the conditions pictured in it exist today in very much the same form. As in all frontier communities, life is lived with a mad abandon, and sudden death evokes little emotion. The law counts only in so far as there are men around with the will and strength to enforce it.

The titanic struggle between fishermen and sea raiders pictured in the story has been Alaska's most serious problem for decades, and is no nearer solution now than when it first began. The two opposing forces, led by George Raft and Henry Fonda in the screen story, wage an unending war, with now one side winning, now another.

Newsreel Cameramen Chased By Danger In "Sharpshooters"

With the unerring showmanship vision that has been responsible for several of the most entertaining and successful picture series, 20th Century-Fox has again directed its production talent and resources to the creation of a new series of action pictures, dramatizing the exploits of "The Camera Daredevils," the first of which, "Sharpshooters," comes to the McDonald Theatre, beginning Saturday.

The heroes of this new series are two devil-may-care newsreel photographers chasing danger round the world! And they're ready on a moment's notice to take their lives in their hands—or maybe a girl in their arms.

"The Sisters" is double billed with it.

'Kentucky Home' Producer Noted As Star Discoverer

E. B. Derr, Monogram producer of "My Old Kentucky Home," at the Hellig theatre Thursday, is partly responsible for the success of Jean Harlow, Clark Gable, and Paul Muni, for he gave them their start in the pictures "Hell's Angels," "The Painted Desert," and "Scarface," which he produced. In the cast of "My Old Kentucky Home" are Evelyn Venable, Grant Richards, Clara Blandick, Cornelius Keefe, and Bernadine Hayes.

Miss Venable, who retired from the screen four years ago to marry cameraman Hal Mohr, makes her comeback in the production.

REMEMBER when Joe first started to sell his duck? Well, he's come a long way since that day. Now he's at the Hellig in his newest hit, "Mr. Doodle Kicks Off." He hates football but ends up by becoming a star.

'Mr. Doodle' Finds Penner As Hater Of Football

How an innocuous band-leader who hates athletics develops into a sensational football hero against his wishes, provides the basis upon which is erected the uproarious plot of "Mr. Doodle Kicks Off." Joe Penner's current starring comedy. It opens at the Hellig Sunday.

With its amusing action unfolding against a college background, the film reveals Penner as an aspiring musician whose rich father makes a rash bet with a business rival on the relative athletic merits of their respective sons.

To protect his wager, the old man promises Penner's alma mater a generous endowment should it succeed in making his son a gridiron celebrity. It is from this situation that much of the picture's hilarious comedy flows.

Through the combined scheming of the school president, his pretty daughter, with whom Penner is smitten, the football coach and his assistants, not to mention the school in general, the would-be band leader reluctantly acquires a reputation as a gridiron flash, although in reality his pigskin talents are absolutely nil.

"Paradise For Three," "Rawhide" Coming To State Thursday

Edna May Oliver and Frank Morgan are teamed again in "Paradise For Three," attraction at the State theatre on Thursday. They first appeared in "No More Ladies" and more recently were cast together in the musical extravaganza "Rosalie."

The second feature which will be included on the same program is "Rawhide," starring Evelyn Knapp, Arthur Loft and Si Jenks.

"Merrily We Live" Stars Miss Bennett

"Merrily We Live," the Hal Roach-M-G-M uproarious successor to "Topper," one of last season's daffiest comedies, opens Sunday at the State theatre with Constance Bennett of the former hit once again cast in a comedy portrayal, this time co-starred with Brian Aherne who recently scored in the title role of "The Great Garrick."

HOLLYWOOD went into the Northland again to photograph "Call of the Yukon," opening at the State theatre Sunday. Here are Richard Arlen, Swift Lightning and Beverly Roberts in one of the scenes.

State Features 'Call Of the Yukon'

Lovers of the "wide-open spaces" type of entertainment will find the new State theatre feature, "Call of the Yukon," one of the most interesting and exciting bits of entertainment to be offered to the local movie-going public in many months. The fact that the picture was based on one of James Oliver Curwood's most popular stories, "Swift Lightning," should in itself be recommendation enough. Richard Arlen is the star of the Republic Picture and Beverly Roberts and Lyle Talbot are seen in prominent supporting roles.

The plot of "Call of the Yukon" has to do with the adventures that befall Jean Williams (Beverly Roberts), a writer who is living in an Eskimo village to gather material, when, through her own stubbornness, she finds herself stranded in the Arctic wilds with a dog, two cub bears, a pet raven, and no food.

"MILLION" AT REX

Some of Hollywood's greatest character stars are in the cast of "I'll Give a Million," current 20th Century-Fox hit at the Rex theatre Wednesday. Warner Baxter stars in a co-romancing role with lovely Marjorie Weaver. The character honor roll includes Peter Lorre, Jean Hersholt, John Carradine, J. Edward Bromberg and Fritz Feld.

'Listen Darling' Set For McDonald

"Listen, Darling," which comes to the McDonald theatre Wednesday, featuring Freddie Bartholomew and Judy Garland, is a rollicking comedy of adolescent youth. Adapted from Katharine Brush's magazine story of the same name, it deals with the exploits of two members of the younger generation who take it upon themselves to find a suitable husband for the number one and run into an amusing set of complications in so doing.

Mary Astor plays the mother and the prospective suitors are portrayed by Walter Pidgeon, Alan Hale and Gene Lockhart. The story of "Listen Darling," will delight the hearts of hundreds of trailer enthusiasts since it is in the family trailer that Judy and Freddie "kidnap" Miss Astor and set out in pursuit of the elusive eligible male.

"Drums," Thrilling At McDonald, Filmed In India

Hollywood boasts of its good fortune in being situated a stone's throw from a variety of locations that lend themselves admirably to doubling for the Sahara Desert, the snow-capped Alps, the South Sea Islands or a simple stretch of English countryside.

But the breath-taking natural color shots of the Khyber Pass, the historic gateway to the plains of India, which is thrilling picturegoers at the McDonald theatre now in Alexander Korda's "Drums," could have been obtained in only one place in all the world. And that place was the treacherous Khyber Pass itself.

NEW STAR

Blonde Virginia Dabney, in her biggest screen role to date, plays the feminine villain and gangster's sweetheart in "King of Alcatraz," the new thriller now at the McDonald theatre.
