Nut Growers To Meet In Eugene December 8, 9

The annual winter meeting of the Western Nut Growers' association will be held in Eugene Thursday and Friday, December 8 and 9, according to announcement received here from C. E. Schuster, federal nut specialist at the state college and secretary of the association.

The opening day of the convention will be a joint session with the Oregon State Horticultural society, which will be completing its annual meeting here that day. The annual banquet is also set for Thursday night. Irrigation, fertilizers and other topics of interest alike to fruit and nut growers will occupy most of the Thursday program, with a "talkie" on irrigation to be shown by Arthur S. King, extension soil conservationist at O.S.C. Another feature will be a talk by F. L. Ballard, vice-director of the extension service, on "Oregon's Changing Agriculture."

On the Friday morning program are listed a progress report on filbert insect control by B. G. Thompson, O.S.C. entomologist; a preliminary outline of the study of filbert insects by S. M. Dohanian, associate federal entomologist, and a report on a promising new copper spray for the control of walnut blight by P. W. Miller, associate pathologist of the United States department of agriculture.

The annual business meeting is set for 1:30 o'clock, followed by a talk on marketing the Pacific coast walnut crop under a unified program, by W. E. Goodspeed, Los Angeles, manager of the Walnut Control board. Other speakers will be either Harry Eustace of San Francisco, or Ray Miller of Linden, California, and W. G. Brown of Portland.

Miss Agnes Branda and Miss K. Hutchings are conducting undominion preaching services at the local club room. Services will be held on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday evenings, Nov. 23, 25 and 26 of next week beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

YOUR WILL-POWER...THE MODERN HAZARD TO YOUR NERVES

BEAGLE HOUND
English fox-hound in miniature. Solid and big for his inches, true beagle has the long-wearing look of the hound that can last in the chase. One of the oldest breeds in history—close to the original breed of hounds, U. S. standards specify 15 inches maximum height—any true hound color acceptable.

HE'S GIVING HIS NERVES A REST... AND SO IS HE
AN ANALYTICAL CHEMIST'S job is intensely nerve straining. No wonder so many of these men break nerve tension often by letting up—lighting up a Camel.

THE frazzling pace of these fast-moving times doesn't mean a thing in the life of the dog. Although his complex, high-keyed nervous system closely resembles our own, when the dog feels his nerves tire he settles down—relaxes—as the beagle hound above is doing. That is instinctive with the dog. We are not so likely to break nerve tension before it gets our nerves upset. Ambition and determination push us on and on...past the warning stage of nerve strain. Will-power silences the instinct to pause and rest. And yet jittery, ragged nerves are a distinct handicap. Don't let your nerves get that way. Learn to ease the strain occasionally. Let up—light up a Camel! It's such a pleasant way to rest your nerves—a brief recess, mellow with the pleasure of Camel's mildness and ripe, rich taste. Yes, no wonder smokers say Camel's costlier tobaccos are so soothing to the nerves.

They've learned—millions have—to give nerves relief...They "Let up—light up a Camel"

DID YOU KNOW?
—that cigarette tobacco is dried for the market, or "cured" by several general methods, which include air-cured and blue-cured? Not all cigarettes can be made from the choicest tobacco, the fine top grades—there isn't enough of it available! Therefore it is important to know that Camel cigarettes are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic.
